Giampoli To Run Against Chief Chiesa

San Rafael Police Inspector Nick Giampoli, 39, announced today that he will run against Chief Charles J. Chiesa, 50, in the city election next April 8 if no action is taken before then to make it an appointive office.

"I believe in good law enforcement," Giampoli said. "I feel that things aren't shipshape in the San Rafael department."

Chief Chiesa, who said that he had heard rumors that Giampoli might run, countered that "things are in tip-top shape." He said the inspector has offered no suggestions "that I can remember."

Chief Chiesa said the operation and morale of his department has improved greatly since an examination and report on it by Monterey Police Chief Charles Simpson last June. Among Simpson's recommendations was one that the post of chief should be made appointive rather than elective.

Giampoli, a member of the department for 16 years, said he firmly believes the post should be appointive. Chiesa, a 23-year veteran of the department, said the decision on that matter should be made by the people. He will make no recommendation on it.

Changing the $800 a month job to an appointive post would require an amendment of the city charter. The city council could put such a measure on the ballot next April.

Chief Chiesa was elected in April, 1959, defeating veteran Chief Frank Kelly. Chiesa, a lieutenant at the time, said he resigned from the department two months prior to the election. He said Giampoli should do the same thing if he runs.

"A man can't be loyal to the man he's running against," Chiesa said. However, if Giampoli should stay at his $687-a-month job during the campaign, the chief promised that he would not hamper the inspector's political efforts.

WORRY OVER BERLIN, CUBA

JFK Asks Reserve Callup Power

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President John F. Kennedy today asked Congress for authority to order up to 150,000 members of the ready reserve of the armed forces to active duty because of the tense international situation, including Berlin and Cuba.

Specifically, Kennedy asked for the authority to call the reservists to active duty during the period between Congressional adjournment expected within the next few weeks and next February 28, about two months after the new session of Congress convenes.

The chief executive's request was contained in the draft of a bill sent to the House and Senate in the early afternoon shortly before Kennedy departed for Newport, R.I., to spend the weekend with his family.

In August last year, faced with an earlier Berlin crisis, Kennedy asked and received authority to call 250,000 reservists. The White House pointed ou today that since last August, however, the Army has established two new regular divisions and added to the strength of other services.

Press secretary Pierre Salinger declined to relate the president's request specifically to either Berlin or Cuba. But he said it stemmed from the critical nature of the international situation."

He also disclosed that the president discussed the reserve proposal last Tuesday with the Congressional leaders of both parties who were called to the White House primarily to discuss the build-up of Russian arms and men in Cuba.

The proposed bill contained these provisions:

The reservists would be called to active duty for a period of no more than 12 months;

No member of the ready reserves involuntarily ordered to active duty last August would be called up under the new law.

Kennedy could authorize the defense secretary, at least until next Feb. 28, to extend any enlistments, appointments, periods of active duty, obligated service or other military status expiring before Feb. 28.

Hill, Waterfront Battle Line Set In Sanitary Race

By BRUCE COLEMAN

Clear-cut lines were drawn today in the hill vs. waterfront skirmish of six candidates for three vacancies on the board of the Sausalito-Marin City Sanitary District. The election is next Tuesday.

First "shot" was fired in the contest by the Sausalito Citizens Council, which distributed a report to its members and friends from the board of directors.

Signed by President Carl W. Gabrielson, the board urges members to vote for candidates Stanley Cowen, Cyril G. Hansen and Frederic Palmer III, all hill dwellers.

It suggests no votes for Alexis Tellis and Dean Jennings, who live on vessels on the waterfront, and for James F. Doyle, who lives on land but on the flat.

"The board of directors considers that Cowen, Hansen and Palmer are the best qualified to give the district good leadership and to serve the interest of those whose taxes and fees support it," the letter reads.

Doyle, it states, who served as head operator and maintenance man for the district at the treatment plant, has a broad grasp of technical problems. Regardless, the letter continues, "it does not seem sensible or good business that he should now become a member of the board to advise and instruct the manager who replaced him or to handle the financial problems of the district.

"Jennings and Tellis live in the houseboat - ferryboat - ark complex at Waldo Point near the new location of Juanita's Gallery. They represent a small

Colonel, Son, 8, Tied, Gagged By Two Masked Men

A Hamilton Air Force Base colonel and his 8-year-old son were bound and gagged by two masked intruders —one armed with a sawed-off shotgun—in their Novato home last night.

The affair appeared to be a case of mistaken identity.

Although the house was ransacked, apparently nothing was stolen, Novato police reported.

Lt. Col. William James Olsen, 46, of the communications and electronics division of the 28th Air Division, and his son Billy, returned to their home at 1811 Novato Boulevard about 9 p. m. They had eaten out because Mrs. Olsen is away on vacation.

They entered through a back door, Colonel Olsen told police. As they stepped into the kitchen, Olsen noticed at once that it was in disorder.

"Somebody's been here," he said to his son.

LEVELS GUN

A man wearing a light cloth mask stepped from behind a door, with a sawed-off shotgun leveled at the colonel.

"Someone is here," he said.

He was joined at once by a second man, similarly masked, carrying a crowbar.

The gun wielder asked Olsen if he were Gordon Andersen. Olsen assured him he was not. The gunman then demanded if it were not Andersen's house. Olsen replied Andersen had moved from the home last December.

RENTING HOUSE

Man Shot By Police Is Indicted

Jerald A. Bredahl, 30, victim of police bullets in Fairfax last July, was indicted last night by Marin County grand jurors for assault with a deadly weapon.

The indictment remained secret until Bredahl was booked in the county jail shortly before noon today.

Bredahl, owner of a service station in Fairfax, was wounded by Fairfax police officers after he had gone berserk, attempted to run over his wife with his station wagon and then tried to run down Police Sgt. Charles Grasso and Officer Lee Perry.

The grand jury absolved the two police officers of any wrongdoing after hearing evidence at its Aug. 16 meeting.

But after further study last night, the jury decided to charge Bredahl with assault with a deadly weapon—his car being the deadly weapon. Evidence in the case was presented to jurors by Asst. Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales.

Bredahl was arrested this morning by Fairfax police at the home of his parents in San Francisco. He was held in jail in lieu of $2,500 bail and ordered to appear in Marin Superior Court Tuesday at 10 a.m.

The grand jury heard several committee reports last night but took no action. The next regular meeting of the jury will be Sept. 20.

SOBLEN REPORTED TO BE NEAR DEATH

LONDON (AP) — Dr. Robert A. Soblen's heart was reported flagging today and doctors said the bail-jumping spy was near death.

As Soblen's heart grew weaker, his wife, Dr. Dina Soble, who put up her life savings to meet almost half the $100,000 bail he forfeited when he fled to Israel, arrived by plane. She visited at his bedside.

Before she left New York Dr. Soble issued a statement in which she said her husband was not guilty of spying for Russia and defended his flight to Israel as an attempt to prove his innocence.

Soblen remained unconscious more than 30 hours after he knocked himself out with an overdose of barbiturates in a move to avoid life imprisonment in the United States.

A bulletin issued by Hillingdon Hospital at 4:15 p.m. said: "Dr. Soblen's condition is unchanged. He is still unconscious."

The psychiatrist, 61, was rushed to the hospital yesterday after taking a heavy concentration of barbiturates. This caused his collapse into a coma in the ambulance which had been transporting him to London Airport for deportation to the United States.

Two security guards kept close watch over the fugitive as he lay in his drug-induced sleep.

"We can't make any new arrangements for his transport until we know when he is going to be released," a Home Office spokesman said.

W. Berlin Mayor To See Marinites

West Berlin Mayor Willy Brandt will personally welcome a Marin flying delegation, headed for Russia, on its arrival in his city Sept. 19, Mayor John F. McInnis of San Rafael announced today.

The San Rafael mayor will lead the three-week tour of 22 Marin business and professional men.

McInnis said he wrote Mayor Brandt of plans of the Marin delegation to visit West Berlin, and received in response a telegram informing him Brandt is arranging an official reception at the West Berlin airport, to be followed by a tour of the west half of the divided city. The Marinites also will be guests of West Berlin officials at the opera.

The touring group will visit East Berlin the following day, flying from there to Moscow for two weeks in Russia.

The three-week tour was organized at the invitations of the USSR and Hungarian chambers of commerce.

First overseas stop will be Brussels, where U. S. Ambassador Arthur MacArthur will discuss the European Common Market with the Marin visitors.

In Russia, stops will include Moscow, Leningrad and Kiev. The men will explore Budapest before returning to Paris, where five of the group will depart for extensive tours of Europe. The remainder will return to Marin Oct. 7.

Gordon Iseman, owner of Budds Travel and Tours in San Rafael, said the final tour list includes, besides himself and Mayor McInnis:

Joseph Saccone of San Rafael, secretary-treasurer of United Markets; Samuel W. Gardiner and William O. Weisich, San Rafael attorneys; Dr. Edward Healey of San Anselmo and Dr. Duval B. Jaros of Greenbrae; Dr. Russell Bernhard of San Rafael, director of Marin General Hospital; Dr.

Slow Driver Apologizes To Judge

Bernhard Kurt Dobkowitz, convicted of slow driving on Highway 101, decided not to appeal his case yesterday and instead apologized to Marin Municipal Court Judge Leonard A. Thomas.

The 62-year-old San Francisco draftsman pleaded innocent to the charge of driving 25 miles an hour in the middle lane on Waldo Grade last June 23, but a jury found him guilty. When he appeared before Judge Thomas Aug. 28 for sentencing, he demanded a new trial.

The judge refused a new trial and sentenced Dobkowitz to five days in jail, probation for one year and attendance at traffic school. Dobkowitz noisily protested that he was being penalized for asking for a jury trial and said he would take his case to a higher court.

Yesterday Dobkowitz appeared again in Judge Thomas' court and said he was sorry for his previous behavior.

Judge Thomas revoked the jail sentence and fined Dobkowitz $50 instead. "The jail sentence was mainly for your contempt of court," he said.

Arrest Made In $2,766 Store Theft

Fairfax police yesterday arrested Michael Dennis Maloney, 20, of 78 Wreden Avenue, Fairfax, for allegedly taking $2,766.12 in cash and checks early Sunday from the Lucky Store at 720 Center Boulevard, where he was stock crew supervisor.

All but $26, which he reportedly spent, was recovered by police.

The checks, totaling $1,655.12, were found Monday evening in a mail box in El Cerrito, Contra Costa County. The cash, $1,085 of it, was found under a wash stand of Malone's home, where he lives with his wife and three-month-old baby.

Officer William Dooley said Maloney admitted taking the money from the office desk. It had been left there inadvertently instead of being deposited in the vault Saturday evening.

Dooley reported Maloney said he thought of returning all the money by dropping it in the mail box, but he decided against this and kept the cash.

Maloney was jailed in lieu of $1,050 bail. He was to be arraigned in Marin Municipal Court this afternoon.

Disputed Private Tax Bill Passes

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate passed today 75-4 the long-disputed bill to permit self-employed persons to set up tax-deductible private pension funds, but only after loading it down with amendments.

This was the first time the legislation, which had been opposed by both the Eisenhower and Kennedy administrations, ever cleared the Senate. It has passed the House three times previously.

The Senate put in a number of amendments unacceptable to backers of the bill. Supporters were hopeful these could be dropped or toned down in the conference with the House which passed the bill last year.

There is expectation among some members of Congress that President John F. Kennedy will veto the bill.

Sausalito Auctions Off Pumps, War II Helmets

The city of Sausalito became $110 richer today with a public auction of used swivel chairs, World War II air raid helmets, a typewriter and a number of bilge pumps.

The money will go into the city's general fund, according to city manager Charles A. Brown, who was auctioneer.

Among the two dozen people who attended was Charles Lazzaro of Colma, who said, "I got a good buy on a bilge pump at $1." He keeps his boat at Sausalito.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard De Lew of Corte Madera who call themselves "auction hounds," bought a bent wood chair, a helmet which cost a quarter and which can be used as a planter and a sterling silver spoon for $1.

Other buyers included George Robertson of Mil Valley who bought a swivel chair and two ironing board pads, and Kim Schwarcz, 12, of Sausalito who was auctioned "for free" a live tabby cat. Brown explained the cat had strayed to his house about a week ago.

Biggest buyer was Neil Davis

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

JFK-Backed N.Y. Candidate Wins

NEW YORK (UPI)—Veteran Congressman Charles A. Buckley, carrying a presidential endorsement, squeaked through to victory in yesterday's primary election over a reform candidate backed by Mayor Robert Wagner of New York City.

Charles Buckley

The 72-year-old Bronx Democrat—perennial holder of the worst attendance record in Congress and labeled a "boss" by Wagner and the reformers—defeated David Levy 20,158 to 17,218 to win renomination in the 23rd Congressional District.

At his Bronx office, Buckley said, "This is definitely my last time to run for office. Forty-six years of public service is enough. This was my closest fight" He said he bore no grude against Wagner.

Disarm Talks Begin Recess

GENEVA (AP)—The 17-nation disarmament conference begins a two-month recess today after six months of discussion that produced a wordy preamble to a general disarmament treaty and no apparent progress toward agreement on anything else.

Western diplomats said the 80 conference sessions appeared to prove that the Soviet Union is firmly determined to strengthen its army and its nuclear arsenal to back up its constant cold war pressure on the West.

Even a nuclear test ban agreement—the only disarmament measure some hoped could be achieved in Geneva—appeared as remote as ever.

Rusk-Gromyko Berlin Debate?

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Officials said today that Secretary of State Dean Rusk expects to discuss the Berlin issue with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko in sideline talks during the United Nations General Assembly meeting in New York.

The discussions may shed some light on the question of whether Russia is preparing new moves to try to throttle the Allies in West Berlin or is merely seeking to keep the propaganda pot boiling for domestic and international political reasons.

Mariner Progress

PASADENA (UPI)—America's Mariner 2 neared the two-million-mile mark today on its spectacular 180-million-mile trip to Venus.

The historic space vehicle reached a point 1,839,971 miles from earth at midnight traveling at a speed of 6,623 miles an hour. It was expected to be two million miles away late today or early tomorrow.

Linda Darnell Sues

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Actress Linda Darnell says her airline pilot husband is unfaithful, cruel and an habitual drunkard.

She filed a suit for separate maintenance yesterday saying Merle R. Robertson, 44, had admitted to her that he is the father of a child expected by Vera Violetta Gregovic, a Yugoslavian actress.

Her action was a cross-complaint to Robertson's suit for divorce three weeks ago, in which he charged Miss Darnell, 39, of cruelty and excessive use of alcohol. They were married in 1957.

French Arrest Five

PARIS (AP) — French police have arrested five persons and are seeking six more in connection with the attempt to assassinate President Charles de Gaulle Aug. 22, informed sources said today.

Dutch Troop Pullout

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI) —Acting Secretary General Thant announced yesterday that all Dutch troops would be withdrawn from Dutch West New Guinea by Nov. 15 and would be replaced by Pakistani troops of the United Nations security force.

He said the Pakistani force would arrive on the island sometime this month.

Sputnik IV Probe

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (UPI)—Scientists ran a series of tests today on a 20-pound chunk of jagged metal to determine whether it was part of the Russian satellite Sputnik IV.

The hunk of metal was found on a Manitowoc, Wis. street Wednesday and flown here.

Honored At Fair

SACRAMENTO (AP) — This nation's armed forces were honored today as the California State Fair neared the end of a 12-day run.

Winners of the Congressional Medal of Honor and officials of military bases in the Sacramento area were to be honored at a luncheon at the fair grounds.

Attendance remained above last year's with 67,018 passing through the turnstiles yesterday, compared to 62,906 on the same day last year.

A. F. Aids Iran

GAZVIN, Iran (UPI) — U.S. Air Force helicopters today airlifted teams of specially trained Army medics into isolated areas near this earthquake-ravaged city.

The Air Force crews joined about 200 Army men who have set up a 100-bed field hospital here. The medics hope to ferry out seriously injured victims of the quakes, worst in Iran's recorded history.

The helicopter teams, trained in reaching rugged disaster areas, will carry supplies to areas unreachable by foot or truck. They will try to bring out as many of the injured as possible for treatment at the field hospital and others in the area.

Soviet Firing On U.S. Sedan Soft-Pedaled

BERLIN (AP) — American authorities today soft-pedaled the Soviet firing on a U.S. Army sedan in East Germany.

Soviet soldiers fired about 40 shots at a U.S. car that got too close to a Red military train Tuesday. Only one shot hit the car, and no one was hurt.

U.S. officers concealed the affair but it leaked out last night. The Army in Germany still had issued no official information today, although the State Department released a sketchy account in Washington.

Army spokesmen said they could not confirm reports that Col. Ernest von Pawel, head of the U.S. liaison mission with the Soviet forces in East Germany, would make a protest to Gen. Ivan Yakubovsky, the Soviet commander in East Germany.

The car was an olive-drab sedan of the liaison mission stationed at Potsdam, a suburb in East Germany southwest of Berlin. Two U.S. officers in it were touring nearby areas of East Germany.

A well-informed source said the two officers encountered a Soviet train at a grade crossing. Soviet soldiers apparently recognized the car's big yellow license plates and opened fire.

Although the source admitted the officers had been observing the train, he insisted they were not in a restricted area and were fully within their rights. The source called the Soviet shooting irresponsible.

Estes 'Favored Treatment'

WASHINGTON (AP) — N. Battle Hales, a stormy figure in the Agriculture Department, testified today his superiors gave Billy Sol Estes "extremely favored treatment."

Hales, who has been employed by the department for 21 years, told the Senate Investigations subcommittee in prepared testimony that department officials still are unwilling to take needed precautions against abuses.

Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman, Undersecretary Charles S. Murphy and Horace D. Godfrey, farm aid administrator, all have sworn that Estes never received favors from their agency.

The Senate group is trying to determine whether influence in government circles helped Estes build his boom-to-bust empire on government cotton and grain programs.

Yesterday Estes' lawyer, John Dennison, testified he had a long distance telephone chat with Rep. J. T. Rutherford (D-Tex.) the day after Estes was arrested.

He said he discussed the case with Rutherford — "it was the biggest news item in town"—but had not realized their conversation lasted 51 minutes.

"We had quite a lot to talk about," said Dennison.

Dennison told about the telephone conversation after Sen. Karl E. Mundt (R-S.D.) advised him that telephone records showed 16 long distance telephone calls between Dennison and Rutherford in a year.

The Pecos, Tex., promoter was arrested March 29 on federal fraud charges, accused of selling mortgages on non-existent fertilizer tanks. He is awaiting trial on this charge and a state charge of theft.

Hales repeated under oath today substantially the same allegations he voiced against superiors at a news conference May 4.

He said he was forced to appear at the news conference without being allowed time for adequate preparation in a "most blatant effort to discredit my testimony."

No Cotton Duty Hike

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Tariff Commission has ruled against an increase in the duties on cotton textiles imported into the United States.

The decision, announced yesterday, was reached on a 3-2 vote. The ruling displeased President John F. Kennedy and U.S. textile manufacturers and was hailed by Japanese exporters.

Kennedy said in a statement he will propose legislation early next session to solve "the inequity of the two-price system of cotton." And, the president said, he is asking the Agriculture Department to come up with a domestic program to eliminate the two-price system.

MACHINE SOLOMON IS FAST 'THINKER'

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP)—Westinghouse Electric Corporation announced today it is developing a computer system that will operate 15 to 250 times faster than any conventional computer now on the market.

The system is called simultaneous operation linked ordinal modular network (Solomon).

Dr. D. L. Slotnick, project manager and originator of the Solomon, said the computer concept "was developed to overcome the difficulty of obtaining increased speed which plagues conventional computers."

Westinghouse said Solomon has 1,024 processing elements which operate simultaneously to calculate, store, transmit and receive data from their four nearest neighbors. The computer has automatic component failure location, which will enable the operator to find and correct failures rapidly.

The computer could be used, the firm said, in solving problems involving differential equations in controlling traffic at airports and forecasting weather.

The work at the firm's air arm division here is being done under a contract awarded by the Air Force System Command's Air Development Laboratory at Ft. Monmouth, N.J.

U.C. Extension Signups Told

Enrollment information is available in the Berkeley or San Francisco offices of the University of California Extension on courses in social psychology and modern philosophy to be offered in Marin County.

The philosophy course will begin Sept. 17 at 7:30 p.m. in Room 2 of the College of Marin library, Kentfield. C. Franklin Kelley is the lecturer for this course.

Classes for the psychology course will meet at 7 p.m. Tuesdays, in Room Q-6 of the College of Marin, starting Sept. 18. The course will be taught by Morton J. Keston, assistant professor of psychology at San Francisco State College.

Confirmation Classes

Confirmation classes for seventh and eighth graders at Peace Lutheran Church in Mill Valley will begin at 9:30 a.m. tomorrow, Rev. Harold G. Johnson, pastor, announced today. The sessions run from 9:30 to 11 a.m.

EMPLOYMENT REACHES PEAK IN CALIFORNIA

SACRAMENTO (AP)—Boosted by more jobs in every major industry, civilian employment in California rose to its highest total in history last month.

At the same time, unemployment continued to decline.

That was the report yesterday of John F. Henning, director of the Department of Industrial Relations and Employment Director Irving Perluss.

There were 6,442,000 persons employed in civilian jobs in August, 82,000 more than the month before and 222,000 more than August, 1961.

It was the third month that civilian employment has broken all previous records.

Perluss said unemployment was 356,000, down 28,000 from July and 63,000 from August, 1961.

The jobless rate was 5.2 per cent of the labor force compared with 5.7 per cent in July and 6.3 per cent in August, 1961.

Pilarcitos Lake, a part of the San Francisco water department properties in San Mateo County, has a capacity of 1.01 billion gallons.

Connecticut Towns Highest In Income

NEW YORK (UPI) — Families in Stamford, Conn. have the highest average income in the United States, the Institute of Life Insurance reported yesterday.

The average annual income of Stamford households is $8,745, a study by the institute showed. Close behind in the ranking of America's most affluent cities was another Connecticut municipality, Norwalk.

Stamford and Norwalk, which are within the New York City commuting area, pushed the former high-income center —Washington, D.C.—down to third place from its top listing after the 1950 census. The Institute study was based on 1960 census figures.

The average Washington family income is $7,577, the institute said.

South Bend, Ind., which placed behind Washington in 1950, was missing in the latest count of the upper 20. Other cities overtaken and knocked out of the top group were Columbus, Toledo and Dayton, Ohio; Detroit, Flint, and Lansing, Mich.; Minneapolis-St. Paul; Racine, Wis.; and Rockford, Ill.

New arrivals in the top 20 were the Newark and Paterson-Clifton-Passiac metropolitan areas of New Jersey; Rochester- N. Y.; Reno and Las Vegas, Nev.; Los Angeles and San Jose, Calif.; Kenosha, Wis.; Waterbury, Conn., and Midland, Tex. Midland is the center of an oil-rich area.

While Los Angeles, San Francisco and Chicago were among the top 20, no other major cities were in the group.

New Assessment District Approved

A resolution introduced by Supervisor Peter Behr and unanimously approved yesterday overruled protests against formation of the long-debated Rock Hill Assessment District above Hawthorne Terrace on the Tiburon Peninsula.

The board then adopted a group of six other resolutions submitted by Edwin N. Ness, special bond counsel, which authorized agreement with the Marin Municipal Water District and dealt with various phases of adopting engineer's reports and cost estimates.

Total amount to be assessed will be $200,135.71 including earthwork, drainage, sewers, streets and other items.

OPEN MONDAY AND FRIDAY 9:30 TO 9; OTHER DAYS 9:30 TO 5:30

Now our dichondra lawn is beautiful and weedfree—thanks to BONUS®

Similar success can be yours—and with so little effort

WE WISH you could read Scotts mail! So many letters are from people who had battled unsuccessfully with weeds and despaired of ever having a good lawn in California. W.T.J. of San Lorenzo says "It was a hard fight until I discovered Bonus." And Mrs. G.E.H. delights us by starting her letter "Dear Friend! Since using wonderful Bonus for dichondra, how could we address you coldly as Dear Sir, or Gentlemen?"

Success—after many failures

Writing from Downey, California, Mr. J.J.Q. says "Grasses and weeds had almost taken over. Then we used our first Bonus for Dichondra. Now it is the other way around." In Long Beach, Mr. D.D. says "Just applied second application of your new Bonus and have really received compliments on our dichondra lawn."

Many professionals depend on Bonus now. And California's own magazine says "We have seen the product's effectiveness in a number of home garden test plots in Arcadia, Pasadena, and Sacramento. For those tests, the manufacturer sought out dichondra lawns that appeared hopelessly gone to dichondra weeds and applied the treatment. One and two years later, treated portions were almost 100 per cent dichondra, whereas the untreated check areas looked as bad as ever."

Double duty—weed and feed

Right now is the time to apply Bonus. It controls chickweed, oxalis, clover and annual bluegrass as it fertilizes the dichondra to thicker, greener growth. You see, new BONUS FOR DICHONDRA feeds as it weeds. And it takes you less than half an hour with a Scotts Spreader to walk it on the average lawn.

Actually you won't be risking a nickel. For as any Scotts dealer will tell you, you must be absolutely satisfied with results or you get your money back . . . . . promptly and without question.

NEW HOWITZER IN ACTION

This new self-propelled eight-inch howitzer shown climbing a steep slope in a test is being built for the Army at Renton, Wash., plant of the Pacific Car and Foundry Co. The builders say it can ford streams, climb 60 per cent grades, and cruise more than 400 miles at 34 MPH. The first model was turned over to the Army today. (AP Wirephoto)

Marin Medic Society Tells Nominations

Dr. Calvin Plumhof, Kentfield pathologist, was nominated last night for president-elect of the Marin Medical Society. The president-elect automatically becomes president the following year.

Dr. Plumhoff, who has served as society secretary, headed a slate of nominees presented to the society at its first meeting of the fall. Dr. C. Ray Leininger, San Rafael pediatrician and present president-elect, who becomes president in January, headed the nominating committee.

Other nominees are:

For secretary: Dr. John McGee, Ross surgeon.

For directors (three to be elected): Dr. William G. Magladry, San Rafael surgeon, Mr. Paul L. Kingsley, Ross general practitioner; Dr. John H. Manwaring, Ross pathologist; Dr. John F. Erlwein, Larkspur general practitioner; Dr. T. Scott Strathairn, Larkspur surgeon; Dr. Robert L. Mills, Ross plastic surgeon.

For delegate to the California Medical Assn. (two to be elected): C. West, Corte Madera ear, nose and throat specialist; Dr. J. W. Culmer, Sausalito general practitioner.

For alternate delegates to the CMA (two to be elected): Dr. Elmer A. Weden Jr., San Anselmo surgeon; Dr. Gerald Hill, San Rafael pediatrician; Dr. James M. Stubblebine, Mill Valley psychiatrist; Dr. M. Alden Van Pelt, San Rafael surgeon.

The election will be held at the society's next meeting, Oct. 4, with additional nominations permitted from the floor or in written form prior to the election.

Society members heard a report from Dr. Eugene P. Shatkin, chairmaning the K.O. Polio campaign which has scheduled the first county-wide dosage of Sabin oral vaccine Sept. 23.

Dr. Joseph J. Arons, president of the society, presided at last night's meeting, which was preceded by the society's annual cocktail party.

OBITUARIES

Vet Quentin Guard Dennis Coughlin Dies

Dennis James Coughlin, a 35-year veteran guard service at San Quentin Prison where he earned the informal title of most respected officer in the institution, died quietly while asleep at his Novato home yesterday afternoon. He was 69.

"Dan Coughlin was probably the most highly respected man that ever walked the yard at San Quentin," wrote Capt. C. G. Hocker in an article commemorating Coughlin's retirement last year.

Six years after joining the guard on March 3, 1926, Coughlin became a lieutenant. He served in that capacity until his retirement April 28, 1961. Since that time he had lived quietly at his home at 1135 Elm Drive, Novato.

The Rosary will be recited at 8 p.m. Sunday at the Harry M. Williams mortuary in San Rafael. A Requiem High Mass will be celebrated at 9:30 a.m. Monday in St. Anselm's Church in San Anselmo. Burial will be in Holy Cross Cemetery, Colma.

Born in Boston, Mass., Coughlin received his education there and during his early years engaged in various businesses before coming to California 40 years ago. He became a life member of the Knights of Columbus while in Boston.

His San Quentin service was marked by interest in recreation and particularly athletics from the beginning. Gradually be became known as the father of the prison's whole recreation program, so when the athletic field was dedicated, it was named after the beloved "loot" whose profile was cast in bronze by inmates and mounted it on a pedestal adjacent to the field.

In a day of prison crisis in 1939 when a handful of officers confronted 5,600 sullen inmates backed against the East Block where they had been gathered all day on strike, in ugly mood.

As lock-up time approached, Captain Hocker recalls, "Dan Coughlin strode into the yard. He carried an ornamental cane about as big as my forefinger. It had been richly decorated by an inmate and the ferrule was made of brass.

"Dan turned and sauntered toward the northeast corner of the yard shed. He made a pass at the pavement with his cane, gestured with his arm, a wave with its meaning obvious—'lock up.'

"He repeated the move once—twice. The solid wall of human beings began to move, slowly at first. Then, gaining momentum, every inmate in the yard returned to his respective cell, locked up and counted.

"The revolt was broken. No other man alive on that day in that setting could have done what Dan Coughlin did."

Coughlin is survived by his wife, Kathleen May Coughlin, and by two daughters and a son, Mrs. Marjorie A. McAleer of Fresno, Mrs. Rowena M. Boland of Corte Madera, and John F. Coughlin of San Francisco, as well as one sister, Mary Ann Coughlin of Boston, and eight grandchildren.

He was a member of California State Employees Assn., Chapter 21, of the San Quentin Employees Mutual Benefit Assn., and of the Northern California Baseball Managers Assn., and was Pacific Coast field director of track and field of the American Amateur Athletic Union.

Safety Aide At Hamilton Dies At 39

James Merrill Gray Jr., 39, of 1126 Ferris Drive, Novato, a safety director at Hamilton Air Force Base since 1956, died yesterday afternoon of a cerebral hemorrhage.

Gray was addressing a safety meeting at the officer's club on the base when he collapsed. He was taken to Hamilton Air Force Base Hospital where his condition was diagnosed as a possible cerebral hemorrhage. He was taken by Air Force ambulance to Marin General Hospital, where he died an hour later.

An autopsy revealed the cause of death as a cerebral hemorrhage, reported Charles Johnson, deputy coroner.

Gray was born in Casper, Wyo., where he attended school. He moved to Reno, Nev., and Napa where he was employed at Mare Island Shipyard from 1941 to 1943. He was in the Army in 1943 and 1944, then returned to Mare Island where he was employed as a safety director until moving to Hamilton Air Force Base.

He is survived by his wife, Katherine Gray, and a son, James L. Gray, 17, at the home in Novato; a daughter, Kitty Gray of Washington, D.C.; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. James M. Gray of Napa, three brothers, Alton W. Black of Murray, Utah; Roy E. Gray of Napa, and Robert L. Gray of Stockton.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. tomorrow at Treadway and Wigger Funeral Chapel, Napa. Interment will be in Tulocay Cemetery, Napa.

F. R. FOWLER

Frederick R. Fowler, 129 Monte Vista Road, Larkspur, former chief electrician at the Presidio of San Francisco, died at a local hospital last night. He was 70.

A native of San Francisco, Fowler was a veteran of World War I. He was a member of the National Assn. of Federal Employees and served as a national officer, a member of the National Assn. of Retired Civil Service Employees, Chapter 400, a member of the Civil Service Employees Co., and a member of the San Francisco Post of Military Engineers.

He had been in poor health for about two years.

He is survived by his wife, Constance Fowler of Larkspur.

Funeral arrangements are pending at Halsted and Co. in San Francisco.

Death Wish Might Be Thwarted

Condemned killer Melvin T. Darling's wish for an early death in the San Quentin Prison gas chamber may be thwarted by a petition filed by his own attorney.

Darling, 29, convicted of the Oakland slaying last Oct. 22 of Alex A. Malcomson III, 36, a grandson of one of Henry Ford's original backers, asked that his execution date be move up from Oct. 1 to Sept. 24.

But yesterday, in the hearing on a petition on this request, Darling's attorney, Marcel B. Poche, told San Francisco Superior Court Judge Gerald S. Levin, that he is going to ask Gov. Edmund G. Brown for a clemency hearing.

Poche said he will bring up the question of the killer's sanity at that hearing. The hearing, usually granted automatically when requested by a condemned man's attorney, could result in commutation of sentence to life imprisonment.

proprietor of the No Name Bar, who bought seven old chairs, a rug, a big table and what he called his "pride and joy," a scythe. The last cost him $1.50.

Lagunitas Residents Level Yard At School

Ten Lagunitas residents gave up their Labor Day weekend to level the five-acre Lagunitas School play yard a job that had waited for years because the district was never able to find the $5,000 it was expected to cost.

John Keilty, trustee on the Lagunitas School District, finally got tired of waiting. He found nine men and one woman willing to volunteer their labor and machinery.

Board members heard a report this week that the job was finished. Equipment was loaned by June Knight. Men helping on the project included Keilty, Dean De La Montanya, James Craddock, Robert Borrello, Fred Horner, Ernest Tanzi, Dale Terman, S. H. Cervantes Jr. and Tony Nunes Jr.

The board was informed by Supt. Clifford L. Frye that a "new mathematics" program for Lagunitas School has been approved for matching funds under the National Defense Education Act.

Enrollment in the district at school opening was reported as 421—more than double the 203 of last year.

Jury Selection Goes Into Third Day At Slaying Trial

Attempts to seat a jury for the murder trial of two San Quentin Prison convicts continued for the third day today in Marin Superior Court.

Judge Thomas F. Keating called for 120 more prospective jurors yesterday after challenges by lawyers for defense and prosecution used up two-thirds of the original list of 150 potential jurors called Wednesday.

Alfred J. Jimenez, 25, and Robert B. Dorado, 26, both of Los Angeles, are accused of the assault and murder of a fellow convict, Abel A. Navarez, 26, last Dec. 12.

Public Defender Peter Allen Smith said he doubted whether a jury would be selected until late today.

Dist. Atty. Roger P. Garety said it is not unusual to call for extra jurors in a case where the death penalty may be involved. If convicted, the San Quentin prisoners could be subject to execution.

The question of capital punishment has been the major issue in selection of 12 jurors from the nearly 270 men and women called so far.

him and Billy to lie on the floor. The father's hands and feet were tied with three-inch adhesive tape. His mouth was covered with a piece of tape. The son was bound and gagged with strips torn from one of his own T-shirts.

Olsen said the gunman kept prodding him with the shotgun. The man with the crowbar, whom Olsen described as mild-mannered, warned his companion that the gun was loaded. Finally, he took the shotgun from the other man.

The two methodically searched the entire house, Olsen said. When they finished, they told Olsen they were going to their car and "would phone authorities in about half an hour." They warned him not to free himself.

Neither father nor son heard a car drive away. But as soon as the men left, the two began to work on their bonds. The son was first to free himself. He telephoned police about 9:30 p.m.

Olsen said the men were dressed alike—in tan pants, tan or gray jackets, flat hats. Both wore the light cloth masks. One was about five feet eight inches tall and of slight build, he said; the other about five feet 10 inches and of medium build.

Admission Day —Schools Out

Students at Marin's public schools, who started classes Tuesday and Wednesday, will have a holiday already on Monday.

All public schools will close Monday in observance of Admission Day, anniversary of California's admission to the Union, although the actual anniversary date is Sunday.

Monday will also be observed as a holiday by state, county and city offices. Parking meters also will observe the holiday.

Change Is Stolen From News Racks

Change from newspaper racks at Highway 101 bus stops in Terra Linda and Marinwood was stolen sometime yesterday by someone uho used a pair of bolt cutters to cut locks on the racks, Marin sheriff's deputies reported.

Thomas H. Gamble of 2105 Fifth Avenue, San Rafael, newspaper vendor, told deputies each rack contained about $7 to $10 in change.

Soviets Calling Up All 19-Year-Olds

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Soviet Union today ordered all youths born in 1943 to report for military service. At the same time, it transferred into the reserve all servicemen who have served their mandatory periods of training.

The official Soviet Tass news agency said Defense Minister Marshal Rodion Malinovsky "ordered the transfer to the reserve from the Soviet Army, Navy, frontier guard forces and troops of the interior, soldiers, sailors, sergeants and non-coms who have completed the fixed term of conscription."

It added that "citizens born in 1943 are being called up simultaneously with this."

Films Tomorrow At Marin City

Two movies will be shown tomorrow at 1 p.m. at the Marin City Gymnasium in a series of Saturday movies being sponsored by the Marin City Community Services District's recreation program.

They are "Panhandle," a western starring Rod Cameron and Cathy Downs, and "The Trail Blazers."

Other activities under the program include boxing instruction on Thursday evenings and organized games for girls only at 7 p.m. on Tuesdays, according to Harry Bailey, general manager.

segment of our population where sanitation has been badly needed for a long time and where such facilities should be put in without further delay. It would seem strange indeed if candidates from such an area should be elected to manage the whole sanitary district."

The letter also states that the board has sought to extend sanitary facilities to its entire area. "Particularly slow progress has been made along our waterfront where residents and property owners persistently resist complying with sanitary requirements," it continues.

Tellis had this comeback:

"Within the Sausalito-Marin City Sanitary District there are 1,000 yachts and 100 houseboats on the waterfront. There are many additional underwater blocks suitable for yacht and houseboat harbors. Creatively conceived, sanitary facilities must be developed to serve these boats. Otherwise the blocks will be filled in and housing will replace the boats.

"No facilities have been provided by the district to date. It will take aggressive leadership from qualified executives who understand the problems involved to get the job done.

"Dean Jennings and I have already made a strong start and as directors of the district we can see the job through. We understand and are interested in all problems of the district but we do have a special interest. It is to keep the Sausalito waterfront right where it is and not let it be moved four blocks out into the bay."

Doyle said his only comment was that "the man that is operating the plant (William Dabner) was the man I put on the job in the first place. At present we're the best of friends."

Going off the board are Loren L. Jay, chairman; Bernard J. Gratama, and J. Herbert Madden. Serving two more years are Frank I. Lawson and John J. Gallas.

"This is an off-season and an unusual election," the Citizens Council letter concluded. "Get out and vote."

MOUNT TAMALPAIS CEMETERY
Quiet Beauty
for families of every faith

Ninety years ago, Marin pioneers set aside this lovely site as a final resting place for all faiths.
Since then, Mount Tamalpais has developed facilities to meet each family's preference. Here are lovely gardens, the Angeles Garden or Memory Chapel mausoleums for above-ground burial, Marin's modern new crematorium, and the Chapel of Light Columbarium.
If you haven't visited Mount Tamalpais, you are invited to see the beauty of its typically Marin setting. Our staff will be glad to answer your questions.

Rafferty Narrowly Escapes Death As Auto Hits Cows

ALTURAS (AP)—Dr. Max Rafferty, candidate for state superintendent of public instruction at the November elections, narrowly escaped death last night when a speeding car hit a herd of cows.

Three cows in a herd of about 15 were killed.

Rafferty and four other persons escaped serious injury when the car swerved into a ditch and was demolished.

Rafferty, 45, of Lo Canada, said today that all five persons regarded themselves as lucky to have escaped death.

"We ran head on into the herd and three of about 15 cows were killed instantly," he said.

"They tell me that this is the first time in the history of this county that such an accident did not result in the death of a person.

"I was traveling with Dr. William Quinn, one of my campaign directors in Modoc County. He was driving and we were accompanied by his wife, Dorothy and another couple, Mr. and Mrs. Brunel Christiansen, residents of Likely, near Alturas.

"We were going to Cedarville, where I was to make a campaign address, and the car was moving in excess of 65 miles an hour.

"It was just at that time of night—about 8 o'clock—when twilight was turning into blackness.

"The herd of cows suddenly went across the road and it was impossible for us to avoid hitting them.

"We barrelled into them. Dr. Quinn handled the car magnificently.

"Had he not, all of us would have been killed. I am sure.

"The car swerved into a ditch, then turned violently broadside across the road.

"It did not turn over. We had to get out. One of us went about 100 yards up the road, the Cedarville Pass Highway—to warn approaching cars not to plow into our wreck.

"Another person went 100 yards up the road in the other direction.

"It was a lonely road and we waited perhaps 20 minutes before a highway maintenance truck arrived on the scene. It was equipped to pull our wrecked car to the side of the road and avoid another accident.

"We hitchhiked into Cedarville, where I gave my talk—an hour and a half late."

Fort Bragg Junior High Burns Down

FORT BRAGG (AP) — Fort Bragg's only junior high school—a rambling one story frame building accommodating 600 students—burned to the ground early today. Arson was suspected.

There was no immediate estimate of the loss to the 45-year-old building but officials said the replacement cost would amount to several hundred thousand dollars. Replacement insurance was carried on the destroyed building.

Fort Bragg is voting Tuesday on a 1.5-million-dollar school bond issue to finance badly needed expansion and improvements in its facilities. If the bond issue were approved, the school board had planned to abandon the junior high school and replace it.

All the community's schools were closed, because of today's fire, until next Tuesday.

Although there was no positive evidence of arson, fire officials called for an immediate investigation. They said the fire apparently broke out at more than one place in the "E" shaped building.

Johnson Calls On Pope, Praises World Council

VATICAN CITY (AP) —U.S. Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson called on Pope John XXIII today and afterward predicted great economic and social advances will result from the forthcoming Roman Catholic Worldwide council.

Johnson, on the final day of his six-nation, 15-day goodwill tour around the Mediterranean, spent 41 minutes alone with the 80-year-old ruler of the Roman Catholic Church.

Then the vice president's wife, Lady Bird, and 18-year-old daughter, Lynda Bird, joined in the unusually long audience, which lasted another eight minutes.

Only 20 minutes had been set aside on Johnson's program for the audience. It was clear Johnson and the Pope enjoyed their meeting.

"I had the great honor and privilege to be in the presence of His Holiness, and his wisdom and his knowledge, which is so extensive. I was listening and learning," Johnson said later.

"I was stimulated by the spiritual leadership I have just observed."

Referring to the worldwide Roman Catholic meeting opening in St. Peter's on Oct. 11, Johnson said: "From that meeting will flow great advances in the economic and social field."

Vatican sources said Johnson gave the Pope a message of greeting from President John F. Kennedy and the Pope, in return, gave Johnson a message for the president.

Woman Voters Meet Tuesday

Financing the printing of a pamphlet about Marin County government will be discussed by members of the League of Women Voters of Central Marin at a meeting 10 a.m. Tuesday at 16 Los Cerros Drive in Greenbrae.

Mrs. T. L. Rogers, finance chairman, said members will also organize the league's yearly fund-raising campaign, scheduled to kick off this year Sept. 17 and end Sept. 28.

"We recently finished printing a voting calendar for Marin County. Now we have the facts for our pamphlet, but we don't have the money to print it. We would like to have it ready for the opening of the new Civic Center in October. We're hoping to find some industrial group which will support it," Mrs. Rogers said.

Novatan Is Fined For Drunk Driving

Boise J. Barnett, 36, P.O. Box 247, Novato, was fined $166 and put on probation for six months yesterday in Marin Municipal Court for his first drunken driving offense.

He admitted driving while drunk last Sunday on Highway 101 near Novato. Judge Joseph G. Wilson also ordered Barnett to drive only for work during the next 90 days.

Love Wins Out: Ex-GI, Korean Girl Will Wed

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A quiet little Korean girl arrived last night from her homeland to marry the former serviceman who battled government red tape for months to get her here.

Song In Cha, 20, stepped off the airplane at International Airport, and a beaming William H. Mahoney, 24, remembered his Korean manners enough to give her an oriental bow.

Then he took a suitcase from the hand of the sloe-eyed brunette and told her he would carry it himself.

"That's the American custom," he said.

Mahoney said they would be married next week in his hometown of Riverside.

They met while he was in the Army in Korea. He tried to marry her before his discharge last year but was unsuccessful. He returned home and eventually was able to get nationwide attention when news media picked up the story.

The girl's passage was paid by a television show CBS' "Who in the World."

Nikita May Have Told Udall Views On New U-2 Incident

MOSCOW (UPI) — U.S. Secretary of the Interior Stewart Udall headed back to Moscow from the Black Sea today, possibly with a report on Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev's views on the U-2 incident.

Udall, who is in the Soviet Union for a 10-day tour of hydro-electric stations, was invited unexpectedly to Khrushchev's vacation retreat near the Black Sea resort of Sochi yesterday.

The news agency Tass said the two officials held a long conversation in a "friendly atmosphere" but gave no further details.

Western diplomats considered it virtually certain, however, that the Soviet leader made known his views on the alleged flight of an American U-2 reconnaissance plane over Sakhalin Island, on Russia's far eastern frontier, Aug. 30.

Terra Linda High Job Unit To Open

Job placement services will open at Terra Linda High School on Sept. 14 and at San Rafael High School on Sept. 21. The placement office will be open on alternate Fridays from 8 to 10 a.m.

The service, operated by Miss Leslie Draper of the State Department of Employment, will take job openings offered by employers and seek student employees with the guidance of counselors in the two schools.

Nobody's perfect.

Even a Volkswagen runs into trouble now and then.

Usually in the form of a nail. Or a carburetor adjustment. Or maybe a new set of spark plugs.

But apart from minor headaches like these, you'll find your Volkswagen a remarkably trouble-free piece of machinery.

It's perfectly common for a Volkswagen owner to drive 75,000 miles without a major overhaul.

And many people get upwards of 40,000 miles on their original tires.

Seldom without a flat or two, though.

Let's face it. You can't always steer clear of mishaps.

Even in a Volkswagen.

THREE DAYS AT WRECKAGE

Parents Die, Girls Survive Crash

SAN BERNARDINO (AP) — On a pineclad mountain slope two little girls, one with an agonizing leg fracture, kept a days-long vigil near the bodies of their parents killed in an air crash.

Leaning against a tree trunk was the wreckage of their light plane, its tail in the air, its nose crumpled against the ground.

Inside the plane's cabin, strapped in the seat, was the crushed body of the girls' mother.

Outside, a few feet away, lay another body — their father.

Through three bone-chilling nights and three sun-scorched days, without food, without water, the girls stayed by the wreckage waiting for one of the many search planes they saw overhead to spot them.

At mid-morning yesterday help came.

Last night, in a bed at St. Bernadine Hospital, 6-year-old Julie Clark told her story.

"The plane went down real fast," she began. "Mommy and daddy didn't have a chance to say anything."

At Julie's side was her grandmother, Mrs. Scott King. Softly, with tears welling in her eyes, Mrs. King stroked Julie's blonde head, carefully avoiding the big black bruise near one eye.

Her tears were not so much for Julie as for her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. William Clark, who died on the mountainside, and for Julie's 8-year-old sister Laurie. Julie was suffering only from bumps, bruises and exposure.

William Clark was vice-president of Travelodge Motels Inc. Both he and his wife Jacqueline, daughter of the corporation's president, were 32 years of age.

Laurie, in another section of the hospital, was undergoing three hours of surgery to set a protruding bone in her left thigh.

"When the plane hit," Julie continued in the simple, direct way children have, "daddy and Laurie and me was thrown out. Mommy stayed in the plane."

Julie previously had said she knew her parents were dead because "they didn't move."

She said she helped Laurie sit up against a log.

"She was crying because her leg hurt. But after a while she quit crying.

"Laurie said I should go over to the plane and try and find some water. I looked all over because we always carried water but I couldn't find any. I couldn't find any food either.

"Then Laurie told me to look for something for us to keep warm with. I went back to the plane and found a suitcase. Mommy and daddy's clothes were in it. We put them on and huddled together to keep warm. We didn't get cold.

"Later Laurie said I should go up over the hill to get help. I got halfway up and got scared so I ran back. I didn't get scared again though."

Julie didn't know it but the youngsters were only 300 yards from a backwoods road above the wreckage. They could not see the road through the dense pines. Motorists on the road could not see them.

Julie told of watching search planes fly over the gully in which they crashed.

"But no one seemed to know we were there. When the helicopters came, Laurie said they would find us because they could land anywhere."

It was a helicopter, carrying pilot Don Landels and the girls' grandfather, Scott King, president of Travelodge Motels, Inc., that first spotted the wreckage among towering pines at the 7,900-foot level. Landels radioed ground parties, then, fearing for the emotional state of his passenger, flew King to nearby Big Bear Airport. He arrived back at the crash scene as the ground party reached there.

Landels said Julie got up from her sister's side and asked for water.

Recalling this Thursday night, Julie said "they didn't have any water but they gave me some coffee. They asked me if I was all right and I said I was. Then they gave Laurie some coffee. They gave me some fruit, too. I think they were grapes. They tasted good. They put some salve on my lips and made them feel better."

Praised for looking after her injured sister, Julie smiled and said: "We took care of each other. She took care of me, too, and told me what to do."

Were they afraid?

"Not so much. But we got awful hungry and thirsty."

'CADILLAC' SMITH WINS N.Y. PRIMARY

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—William T. (Cadillac) Smith, an avowed conservative, has won the Republican nomination for State Senate in the 49th District, defeating the incumbent, Harold A. Jerry, in yesterday's primary.

Smith, a Big Flats farmer, won headlines last year by boasting that he bought a Cadillac with government subsidies he received for not growing crops.

Republican nomination for office almost guarantees election. Jerry carried the district in 1960, 55,027 to 29,551 over his Democratic opponent.

Novato's First City Park May Be Cemetery

Novato's first city park might be a cemetery.

City Administrator J. Julien Baget told the parks and recreation commission he had many requests after Memorial Day to see if the Pioneer Cemetery on Simmons Lane could be improved. Baget said it might be possible to convert it into a "Pioneer Memorial Park" for the city.

Baget said that Gerald Gooch of Russell and Gooch Mortuary in Mill Valley was part owner of the cemetery, but that Gooch was not sure what his interest was in the property.

The property includes approximately four acres. Of this, only about one acre is used for cemetery, Baget said.

The commission voted to table the matter until Edmund Maheny, new parks and recreation director, takes office within the next few days.

Six Masked White Men In Negro Woman Attack

DALLAS, Ga. (UPI)—Six white men were charged last night with assault with intent to murder and violation of Georgia's anti-mask law in connection with a gun battle at a Negro home that resulted in the death of a white man.

Mrs. Rebecca Wilson, a 21-year-old Negro woman, told newsmen she emptied a pistol at a gang of masked men who tried to break into her home Wednesday night.

Paulding County Sheriff Jerome Clay said Mrs. Wilson was being held temporarily in jail for her own protection. He said she would not be charged.

Authorities said the white men rapped on the door of the modest home of Mrs. Wilson's mother, saying they wanted "to sell a little politics and leave you a card."

Mrs. Wilson said she shouted she was not interested but one of the men wearing a nylon stocking mask jammed a gun into the door.

"It was just the idea of the masks I guess," Mrs. Wilson told newsmen. "I didn't know what I was shooting at . . . I think I fired five or six times."

Leroy Parks, 25, was killed instantly, a pistol bullet in his heart. Gene Ables, about 30, was wounded in the arm.

Pleads Guilty To Waving Gun

William P. Caulfield, 33, of South San Francisco pleaded guilty yesterday in Marin Municipal Court to charges of threatening another motorist with a gun while driving on Highway 101.

Caulfield was arrested July 29 by the California Highway Patrol after an Oakland motorist complained Caulfield waved a .38-caliber revolver at him while passing near Novato.

Judge Joseph G. Wilson asked for a probation report on Caulfield Oct. 4 at 3 p.m.

Novatan Missing Since Tuesday

An all points bulletin has been issued by Novato police for Alan L. Bradbury, 41, of 1090 Greenwood Drive, Novato, who has been missing since 8 a.m. Tuesday.

Bradbury was reported missing Wednesday afternoon by his wife, Mrs. Constance Bradbury. She told police that he left home about 8 a.m. before the family had gotten up. She said he weighs about 200 pounds, has gray eyes, brown hair, a tan complexion and was wearing brown slacks, a yellow aloha shirt, a tan straw hat and horned rimmed classes.

When he left, he took a brown leather briefcase and their 1955 Austin-Healey. Mrs. Bradbury said he might have gone to Taft or Forestville to look after property, but that he usually phoned her of his whereabouts.

Governor Promises No New Tax Of Any Kind Next Year

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Gov. Edmund G. Brown promised today he will seek no new taxes of any kind next year.

"None are needed," he said.

Brown made his pledge in a speech prepared for the top leaders of California business, industry, agriculture and government attending the annual Sacramento Host Breakfast.

"California is in good shape," he said. "Industry is moving in. Employment is climbing. And we have not had one penny of deficit spending in the past four years."

The Democratic governor, just back from his first trip of his fall re-election campaign, said there will be partisan claims that the state "is spending itself into a deficit that will require new taxes in 1963."

"Those foolish statements can have only two results. They can discourage new investment and they can create unemployment," he said.

Brown reiterated his promise, made last month to the Democratic State Convention, to eliminate state income taxes for families who pay less than $10 or individuals who pay less than $5 in taxes.

And he repeated his announcement of a 15 million dollars a year savings to California businessmen through a state change in the depreciation allowance schedule for corporate and personal income taxes.

Brown said "the inevitable partisan hand-wringers" have charged these tax cuts were merely political and would have to be made up next year from other sources.

He implied his announcement of no new taxes was his answer to these charges. It was the third year in a row that he has made such an announcement, Brown said.

Librarian Job Open In Sausalito

Applications are being accepted by the City of Sausalito to fill the position of city librarian, City Manager Charles A. Brown said today. The post was left vacant by the resignation of Mrs. Josephine Ripley.

Applicants may submit resumes to the city hall through Sept. 30. Requirements include a college degree in librarianship and two years of supervisory experience in a public library.

A person may apply also if he has completed a graduate course in an accredited library school. Salary for the position has not been set.

No Protest Filed For Marina Plan

No protest has been filed against proposed dredging of the McCarthy Loch Lomond Marina on San Rafael Bay, and permits will be granted shortly, the Army Corps of Engineers said today.

Tuesday was the deadline for objections to San Rafael Marina's plan to dredge a private channel and dispose of about 9,000 cubic yards of fill material on the tidelands of the bay.

The disposal area is west of the private channel and 500 feet north of the federal channel.

Design Faculty Named For Art Institute

William Shields and Clifford Wilton of Mill Valley have been appointed to the design department faculty for 1962-63 at the San Francisco Art Institute. The appointments were announced recently by department head James Robertson, also of Mill Valley.

Wilton is art director for a San Francisco advertising agency. He will teach design theory and observation. Shields, who will teach drawing, is an illustrator and designer with offices in San Francisco.

Francis Asserts Foe Of Prop. 24 Wrong

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The author of Proposition 24 declared last night that the chairman of the Northern California committee opposing the anti-Communist amendment has seriously misinterpreted it.

Lame duck Assemblyman Louis Francis (R-San Mateo) took issue with Gardiner Johnson, former president of the San Francisco Bar Assn.

Johnson said Wednesday, "I am opposed to the proposition primarily because of paragraph 3 which authorizes all county grand juries to make findings, so-called, that groups are Communist action or subversive without providing any notice or hearing and without due process of law."

The 57-year-old attorney also contended the proposition violates the United States Constitution.

Francis said that Johnson is wrong about paragraph 3, that "grand juries will not be empowered to make such findings even if the proposition is passed. . . .

"Mr. Johnson again has ignored the key words in paragraph 3 which are 'pursuant to all' — clearly stipulating that procedures must be activated only in accordance with and in complete obedience to the law."

Francis said that Johnson's opinion the measure is unconstitutional "disagreed with the state legislative counsel, the legal authority of the state legislature and other foremost authorities on constitutional law."

He disputed Johnson's assertion that backers of Proposition 24 were backing off from it.

Francis claimed "over 100 organizations and a million voters have already endorsed Proposition 24 and new endorsements are being received every day."

A progress report on plans for construction of new rooms at Neil Cummins and San Clement schools will be heard at the meeting of the Larkspur School District board Tuesday night.

The trustees will meet at 7:30 p.m. in the district superintendent's office, Larkspur-Corte Madera School, 20 Magnolia Avenue, Larkspur.

The board will consider an offer by Clifford Longfellow to continue his taxi service free of charge to the district in emergencies. Principals of the four schools will report on reopening of classes.

Child Neglect Hearing Tuesday

Mrs. Ruby Felten of Novato has been ordered to appear in Marin Municipal Court Tuesday for arraignment on charges of neglecting her seven children.

Dep. Dist. Atty. Thomas J. Storer said today investigation Storer said yesterday investigation of the case shows Mrs. Felton apparently abandoned her children last Friday at her home at 581 Fernando Drive, Novato. Mrs. Felten told Novato police she checked on her children several times during the weekend.

The children, aged two months to 13 years, were placed in foster homes by the county probation department, pending disposition of the matter.

Ex-Marin Aide Charged With Attack

A 39-year-old Novato man, formerly a Marin County deputy clerk, has been arrested and charged with burglary and assault to commit rape in Martinez.

Doyle Trent Cleveland of 1110 Cambridge Street, married and the father of two children, was arrested at his home by Novato police at 4:13 a.m., Monday, less than an hour after the alleged crime. Cleveland, who served as a deputy clerk of Marin County from Sept. 1, 1955 to Feb. 1, 1961, is now a deputy clerk for the U.S. District Court in San Francisco.

Cleveland, free on $2,000 bail, has denied the charge.

He was arraigned in Martinez Justice Court Tuesday. Date of the preliminary hearing has not been set.

Martinez police said they received a telephone call about 3:30 a.m. from a woman who reported that Cleveland, entered her home, bound her hands with rope, and assaulted her.

The woman said she had known Cleveland for about 10 years.

Her screams awoke her daughter, 6, and her son, 9, who were sleeping in another room of the house, police said. They were too frightened to come out of their room until after the attacker left, police said.

When he did leave, the children untied their mother and she called police. Martinez police said the man apparently used a key to enter the home.

The victim, wife of a construction worker who is now on a job overseas, told police her assaulter wore rubber gloves.

Officer Floyd Hallowell of the Novato police said ashes, lying in the shape of a glove, were found in the incinerator of Cleveland's home soon after the arrest.

Cleveland's wife and children were away on vacation at the time of the arrest, Hallowell said.

DINING OUT AND INNS

By HARRY CRAFT

New Fleur de Lys Manager Complete With Savoir Faire

Fleur de Lys in San Anselmo has a new manager: Etienne Provost, complete with savoir faire, French charm and accent. He's an experienced restaurateur and an old friend of Robert Charles who has to divide his time between the San Anselmo and San Francisco restaurants. Provost recently returned with his wife from several months in Tahiti.

Here's another food spot that can carry you to the heights of enthusiasm with its gourmet selections and grand cru wines—but don't blame Fleur de Lys if you go overboard on the a la carte side. The prices are on the menu to read and it's assumed you have some knowledge of arithmetic.

But you can dine sumptiously in the $5 give-and-take range and that's become a common meal figure these days.

ASIDE FROM the food, Dominic's has other attractions for service groups that often use the San Rafael Harbor restaurant for special events. There's a fine selection of photo props.

The giant anchor at the entrance is the favorite. Others, according to manager Jim Pius and his assistant Mario Brenta, rate in this order:

The ancient cannon on the Galleria, ship models, rope ladder in the cocktail lounge, wine room, wine press at the entrance, ornate knockers on the door and the carvings of Carl Sheverman.

But how to pose by the "boat in the sky" beats them.

WE HEAR THERE'S an unidentified customer who makes frequent visits to the Charcoal House in Larkspur, carrying an oversized guitar. Nothing strange in that. But his habit of disappearing with it in the rest room after eating had others guessing.

Until one emboldened guest eavesdropped. And heard him strumming and singing the songs from turn-of-the-century music that is plastered on the Charcoal House walls.

RICKEY'S RANCHO RAFAEL is filled with rare oil painting and objects of art picked up in Europe by John Rickey, but for the rest of this month there's a one-man show of 24 oils and water colors being presented by commercial artist Ted Lewy of San Francisco at the Ignacio dinery.

Most are scenes from Lewy's trip last year to Europe, but several are Marin subjects, including his own "Hummingbird Acres" property in Novato. He has been rated as having a "wholesome style and joy in the beauty of nature."

Lewy is working now on a series of American scenes to be exhibited in Europe.

SHAUN WILTSHIRE has a "lunch booster" that's very effective.

He's running a Volkswagen bus from San Rafael to Wiltshire Towers on the highway at noontime to bring in customers—pickup and delivery.

Pickup stops are made on Fifth Avenue at Court, A and B streets. Two trips—11:30 and 12:10. Return schedules as required. Mondays through Fridays.

He's also arranging to have small groups chauffered to the Towers for dinner by special arrangement.

LAST FALL, Angelo Sabella fulfilled a promise to Chicago restaurateur Gene Sage to provide fresh crabs at a dinner for University of California grads living in the windy city. A strike was on among crab fishermen at the time so he had to go out in his own boat to catch them. They were jet flown in the live stage to the dinner.

The publicity paid off. During the past three weeks eight of the 15 Chicagoans while on vacation dropped by Sabella's in Marin for an encore repast.

THE MAN WITH the looks of an Irish tenor who ought to be doing a Broadway musical instead of eating as bar manager at Peacock Gap Golf and Country Club for the past 18 months is now the club's newly appointed assistant house manager and maitre.

DENNIS SCHUMACHER
At Peacock Gap

Dennis Schumacher says he isn't Irish and can't even sing but he's got an engaging smile and the personality to go with it. He ought to do well in his new job.

Prior to joining Peacock Gap, he was regional manager for Auto Imports, Inc., with offices in Portland and San Francisco. At one time he owned a restaurant, bar and liquor store in Las Vegas. Hometown: Sacramento. Present home: Novato. Tangible and intangible assets: Wife Ruth and three youngsters.

REBUILT TO MAKE it old—Alioto's Arbordale Hof Brau—now scheduled to open around the middle of the month. Board by board, solid one-inch oak panels are being brought from an old Pacific Heights mansion in San Francisco for the walls. The floor is the original terrazzo laid in the Sausalito building around the turn of the century.

Talk On Auditing

Myron M. Christy of 36 Via Chepparo, Greenbrae, will give a talk on "Auditing for Management" at the Sept. 13 meeting of the San Francisco chapter of the Institute of Internal Auditors at 5 p.m. in the Leopard Cafe, 140 Front Street, San Francisco. Christy is executive vice president of the Western Pacific Railroad Co.

Marin Dining And Wining

WINE CORNER

Always Drink What You Like To Drink

The rule for choosing the proper wine for each food is not an ordinance that can't be violated. And it's no misdemeanor if you do.

You drink the wine you like. Even a winegrower will call for his favorite regardless of the food he's having. Some vintners prefer reds, period. Others are white-wine prone.

Madame Elie de Rothschild, owner of the famous Chateau Lafite in France's Bordeaux country advises: "Use your own judgment—humor your own taste. You are the person to decide what, for you, is best."

Most of us prefer red wines with red meats and white wines with white meat and fish. Perhaps because we were told it is proper.

But it is more than just that. There is an affinity between red wines and red meat, and the same with whites. With wine varieties it's more subtle. A matter of tartness, flavor and other fine distinctions that are learned only with their continued use.

You can stick to one wine you like all the time, but you'll never know what the others can do until you try them.

Rose is at home in any company but is classified with the reds. Actually it has more of the taste and aroma of the whites. Some experts look down their noses at Rose and call it a compromise. It's not the first compromise that has worked.

Others feel that California Rose wines are better than those from Europe. In America the pink wines have become dignified members of the family. In Europe they are treated as step-children and made accordingly.

In cooking, it's partly a matter of color. White wine fits in better than red in a light meat dish—fish or chicken. Beef is most often marinated in a red wine.

Incidentally, if you find a store that stocks tenth-size bottles of wines it's worth while picking up a few. A tenth serves two or three nicely and you don't have to worry about keeping a half-filled bottle. You can't reseal it and expect the wine to be the same another day.

ROLE IN PICNIC — New York actress Jeanne Abel will play Millie in "Picnic" tomorrow and Saturday at the Gate Theater in Sausalito, under direction of David Kerr. Miss Abel has appeared with such stars as Shepperd Strudwick, Charles Ruggles, Albert Dekker, Edward Everett Horton and Robert Middleton. Because of limited seating capacity both performances will be by reservation.

One-Act Play Readings Tomorrow

The Sausalito Little Theater will conduct its second original drama workshop on three weekends starting tomorrow, with rehearsed readings of seven one-act plays selected from more than 100 entries.

"The Reservation," an existential tragi-comedy by Martin Halpern, "Misprints" and "No Dancing Aloud" by Ruth Weiss will be read tomorrow as well as Sept. 22.

Scheduled for Saturday and Sept. 14 are a farce by R. L. Sasson, "The Crowded Bedroom," and Dennis Dunn's "A Pure and Remote View of Streams and Hills."

"Cantata by the Sea," a poetic drama by William Dorsey Blake, will be read Sept. 14 and 21, along with "The Wedding Breakfast" by Herbert Kennedy.

Directors for the series are Lynne Arden, Dion Chesse, Penny Vieregge, Elaine Mitchell and Abe Kalish. Curtain 8:30 p.m. at the theater at 745½ Bridgeway. Admission is free to members; a small charge is made for non members.

DANCING CLASSES TO START EARLY

Annual classes sponsored by the Marin County Dance Cooperatives will start earlier than usual this year because the staff has been invited to participate in the International Music Festival at Vienna in the spring, it was announced today by the president, Mrs. C. F. Pendleton of Corte Madera.

Classes for most groups will begin Saturday, Mrs. Pendleton said. The most extensive schedule has been arranged by the Larkspur-Corte Madera cooperative, which will hold classes at three locations. Students may register at the first session.

Four classes will be taught on Saturdays by Ann Halprin at the Henry C. Hall School in Larkspur. They are: 9:9:45 a.m., first and second grade groups, Mrs. Fred Luiz, Larkspur, chairman; 9:45-10:45 a.m., seventh through ninth grades, Mrs. Arthur Danforth, Corte Madera, chairman; 10:45-11:45 a.m., third and fourth graders, Naomi Kirschner, chairman; 11:45 a.m. to 12:45 p.m., fifth and sixth graders, Mrs. Jay Hutchinson, Fairfax, chairman.

A class for high school age students will be taught at 10 a.m. Saturdays at the American Legion Hall in Larkspur by John Graham, a specialist in teen-age dance instruction, who has been in Marin County for three years.

Graham also has taught in the drama department of San Francisco State College; taught a teen-age workshop dance group for the past four years and has been a member of the Marin Dancers' Workshop Company for the past six years.

A pre-school class will be taught by Collie Goldsmith of Mill Valley at the Larkspur-Corte Madera Nursery School, 56 Mohawk Street, Corte Madera. Time will be 9:45 to 10:15 a.m.

There will be a class from 10:30 to 11:15 a.m. for kindergarten children. On the first day, however, children should come at 9:45 a.m. Mrs. James Hewitt of San Anselmo is the class chairman.

Exceptions to the Saturday routine will be classes by the Ross Valley and San Rafael cooperatives. The Ross Valley Cooperative, of which Mrs. James V. Cavit of Kentfield is chairman, will hold classes on Wednesday from 3 to 4 p.m. and 4 to 5 p.m. at Kentfield for children of pre-school to fourth grade ages.

On Tuesdays the San Rafael Cooperative will hold adult dance classes at Carpenters' Hall from 10 to 11:30 a.m. The first class will be held Sept. 15. A. A. Leath will teach and Mrs. Stuart MacCondray of San Anselmo is class chairman.

All classes are open to anyone in Marin County.

Charity Agency Named Explained

Terra Linda solicitation for a charity with a name easily confused with that of a United Crusade agency has been reported to Marin headquarters of the crusade it was learned today.

The solicitor said he represented a "Foundation For the Mentally Retarded" which is something quite different from the "Marin Aid to Retarded Children," a crusade agency, according to Aubrey Burns who is Marin director of the United Bay Area Crusade.

Burns said that the foundation sought but failed to receive a permit for solicitation in San Francisco. Such a permit is not required in Marin County.

K.O. POLIO OFFICES WILL OPEN

A special Marin Medical Society office, to serve as a clearinghouse for information in the Marin County K. O. Polio Drive, will open Monday in San Rafael.

Members of the society's women's auxiliary will staff the office from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Mondays through Fridays and on Saturdays, Sept. 22 and Sunday, Sept. 23. This is K. O. Polio Sunday when the first of three Sabin polio vaccines will be given in mass clinics throughout Marin County and the Bay Area.

Phone number of the special office is 456-5855.

About 500 Marin volunteer workers will receive Sabin oral vaccine six days ahead of the first mass clinic Sept. 23.

The clinic for volunteers will be at 8 p.m., Sept. 17, in the auditorium at Marin Catholic High School. It is planned as a training session of clinic workers.

The Eisteddfed, a music and literary festival held in Wales, dates back to the Sixth Century.

Clausen's Final Plans To Be Made

Final plans for the congressional campaign of Don Clausen of Del Norte County will be made by Republican leaders and Marin County delegates at tomorrow's meeting in Santa Rosa.

Clausen, seeking the first congressional district post which includes Marin County, will address the meeting at a 7 p.m. banquet at the Los Robles Lodge.

William T. Bagley, Republican state assemblyman from the seventh district, will open the meeting at 2 p.m. with a keynote address on the need for city, county, state and federal cooperation in matters affecting the welfare of the First Congressional District.

Other legislative candidates, including State Sen. Jack McCarthy of San Rafael, will speak at the afternoon session of the conference.

Doctors Are Urged To Treat People

By DELOS SMITH

NEW YORK (UPI)—A medical educator is disturbed by the way medical science is downgrading the investigation of disease processes in people and glorifying the laboratory investigation of diseases with test tubes and experimental animals.

"It is so wrong," said Dr. David D. Rutstein, head of the department of preventive medicine, Harvard Medical School, "it may ultimately destroy the high standing of American medicine."

The tendency has now reached the point where medical science journals are filled with studies on hagfish and Sprague-Dawley rats instead of on well designed studies on human beings, he said.

"Somehow, the clinical investigator has succumbed to the ideas that real science is concerned only with impalpable, very small objects such as atoms and molecules, or remote, very large bodies such as planets and satellites, and that studies devoted directly to man and to his activities on the surface of the earth are somehow unscientific.

"This is surprising, because science is nothing more than a method of reasoning equally applicable to the laboratory or the clinic. Moreover, there is no conflict between the rigorous application of the scientific method in ethical clinical investigation and the spirit of dedication of the physician to his patient."

Rutstein was the orator at class day exercises of the Harvard Medical School in June. His oration didn't get off the campus at the time but it now is being given wide circulation in the medical profession and will be of as much interest to the medical laity.

He told the new crop of Harvard MD's that the practicing physician must pursue his career with a "spirit of dedication to his patients, in contrast to the attitude of that group of New Jersey physicians who placed method of payment above the welfare of the patient.

"All of you will deserve to be well paid for your service if you hold to the ideal that the welfare of the patient must always come first. But for any of you who honestly feel that method and amount of payment are over-riding importance, I urge you to renounce the profession of medicine."

The "real world" of the physician is "the real world of the patient," he said. "If we turn away from the patient and look only at the large mass of knowledge distending our libraries, we would say, 'see how wise we are.' 'See how much we have learned.' 'Are we not doing wonderful things?'

"But if we turn around and take another look at the patient, we become embarrassed by our lack of humility. We realize immediately that we have little or no understanding of many of his problems. For example, we may know something about the diseases of old age but practically nothing about the aging process.

"We are impressed that the great mass of knowledge we have just contemplated is applicable only to a very limited number of the patient's needs.

"Thus, we know how to create and prevent leukemia in mice but know practically nothing about the mechanism of the same disease in man."

Farm Bureau In Membership Drive

The Marin County Farm Bureau is starting a fall campaign for new members, said Donald McIsaac, president.

George Perry of Novato was named chairman of a membership committee at the Tuesday meeting of directors of the bureau.

Mrs. Alfred Johnson, secretary of the farm bureau, has been named co-ordinator for Proposition 4 in the November general election, McIsaac said. This proposition would bear on appraising and taxing as agricultural land.

Gets Scholarship

THE ULTIMATE WEAPON

The only defense against a vote, is another vote.
And that's what America's two-party system is all about.
Choice. The freedom to choose according to conviction.

Of course, there is a third choice: choosing to do nothing.
Never registering. Never voting. (But always complaining.)
Every election, tens of millions of American Voters
sit on their hands and do nothing.
Apparently they assume everything is going to turn out just fine without their vote. A dangerous assumption that can lead to *un*representative government.

Don't let your vote get rusty. Register, if neccesary.*
Then listen and read and think about the issues and about the candidates.
And then, on November 6, do something. Vote.

*YOU MUST REGISTER if you just turned 21,
or moved since the last election, or changed your name,
or didn't vote in the last Presidential election.
Telephone your local Registrar of Voters or County Clerk
to find out where to register. The deadline is Sept. 13.

Attack Case Hearing Set

A Sausalito man accused of the sexual assault of a 15-year-old boy will answer charges Sept. 19 in Marin Municipal Court.

Theodore J. Chisholm, 35, of 302 Third Street, Sausalito, was arrested by San Anselmo police last Sunday on a complaint by the boy, who said Chisholm attacked him in the Greyhound Bus Depot rest room in San Anselmo.

Judge Joseph G. Wilson granted Chisholm a continuance of his plea yesterday.

Student Injured In Auto Crash

Minor injuries and a complicated traffic citation followed a collision yesterday afternoon between cars driven by a Terra Linda High School student and a woman clerk-typist at Hamilton Air Force Base.

John Burger III, 16, of 24 Sao Augustine Way, Terra Linda, swung his small sports car around from westbound Merrydale Road into southbound Los Gallinas Drive in Rafael Meadows at 4:05 p.m., striking a northbound car driven by Sue Brady Davis of 55 Canal Street, San Rafael.

Burger was treated at San Rafael General Hospital for cuts and bruises. The California Highway Patrol charged he failed to halt at a stop sign, then made an improper left turn from the wrong side of the road.

Marinwood Center Plans Shaping Up

Marinwood's proposed recreation center and firehouse began to take shape last night —at least in the minds of community services district directors, fire commissioners, and parks and recreation commissioners.

At a special meeting of the CSD board, the two commissions reported to the board how they believe the $356,000 bonds approved by voters last February should be spent to best serve the people of Marinwood.

"We have only the barest preliminary suggestions from the architects," said Howard Council, CSD board president. "We want you to tell us what you think the community needs."

James McElhattan, fire commission chairman, said the firehouse should be built in anticipation of needs many years from now. He asked for a building with room for three pumpers, a ladder truck and a small fire truck.

"The doors on the firehouse ought to be 12 feet high in case we eventually get a ladder truck," McElhattan said. He said the firehouse should cover 2,700 square feet, and should include a four-bed dormitory, a day room, an office for the chief, and a small kitchen.

"We also need an open area in back for drill and racks for drying hoses," McElhattan said. He said extra features should include flashing lights at the firehouse entrance to warn traffic and a flagpole on the front lawn.

Mrs. Dewey Forry, parks and recreation commission chairman, proposed a recreation center which would include a large community hall, a small kitchen, lavatories and a drinking fountain.

"It will be a long time," Mrs. Forry said, "before we'll have a fulltime recreation director. I think we can do without an office for him. Maybe we will have some sort of community director on weekends."

Mrs. Forry said women of Marinwood would be satisfied with a modestly equipped kitchen, including a stove for warming food, a small refrigerator, and minimum cupboard space. "I would suggest," she added, "that the equipment might be donated, as was done in the Terra Linda Recreation District."

As a guide to the proposed center, CSD directors have a site development sketch by Osmundson and Staley, San Francisco landscape architects, and a suggested plan for the firehouse and community building by Roger F. Hooper Jr., Ross architect.

The tentative plans show the firehouse and community building joined by an arbor and patio. Tennis courts are included in the site plan for the 10-acre community center at Lucas Valley and Miller Creek roads.

Also included in the Osmundson and Staley sketch are a swimming pool and bathhouse joining the community buildings. Bonds for the $82,000 pool were defeated twice by Marinwood voters.

"The pool is shown on the plan only in relation to the rest of the center in case someday a pool should be built," Council explained. "If anybody asks if the bonds we have now will be used for a pool, the answer is 'no.'"

A condemnation suit to obtain the 10-acre site is scheduled to be heard in Marin Superior Court in November.

"It will take from now until our court suit to have everything ready for bids," Council said. "The CSD board will consider these suggestions and pass them on to the architects. Then we'll go from there. Until we know how much we will have to pay for the land, we won't know exactly how much we have to spend on the buildings."

NATIONAL FIRE PREVENTION WEEK OCT. 7-13

National Fire Prevention Week will be Oct. 7-13, it was announced yesterday in San Anselmo at a meeting of the fire prevention division of the Marin County Assn. of Fire Departments.

Most departments plan to have open houses and many will give special demonstrations on Oct. 13, according to Charles Pruett, the division's secretary-treasurer. He also said talks and demonstrations are planned for schools.

Besides being backed by Marin fire departments, the prevention week is supported in Marin by insurance firms.

Two Men Fined In West Marin

Two defendants were fined and placed on probation for West Marin offenses by Judge David R. Baty in Northwest Judicial District Court Wednesday.

Benjamin Alcantara of Inverness Park pleaded guilty to a charge of contributing to the delinquency of minors by buying beer for juveniles in the Inverness Park area. He was fined $105 and placed on probation for three years.

Umberto LaGalla of Pittsburg, Contra Costa County, who is in charge of Point Reyes Peninsula operations for the Alioto Fish Co. of San Francisco, pleaded guilty to a charge of possessing undersized king salmon. He had been arrested by game warden Alfred F. Giddings. Baty fined LaGalla $150 and placed him on probation for two years.

INVERNESS WATER RATE HEARING SET

Public hearing on requested increase in Inverness water rates will be held at 10 a.m. Sept. 18 in Frick Hall of the Columbus Guild Community Church in Inverness.

Presiding will be examiner Carol T. Coffey of the California Public Utilities Commission to which petition for rate increase has been made by the Inverness Water Co.

Cyril M. Saroyan, an attorney assigned from the commission's legal staff, will appear to represent the staff and present its showing on behalf of the public interest. Any others may speak at this or possible later hearings.

Permission was granted by the commission last Tuesday for the company to supply water to Drakes Beach Estates Subdivision No. 1 and to the first and second units in the Drakes Bay Pines subdivision despite opposition by Inverness residents on the ground that a raise in rates might result.

The company's application was subject of a hearing last May at which protest was made by the Inverness Public Utility District, representing Inverness water consumers, and the National Park Service whose representative pointed out the likelihood of early establishment of a Point Reyes National Seashore including the subdivisions.

At that time 11 houses had been built or were under construction in the petitioning subdivisions, and 125 lots had been sold.

Background of the situation was take-over last January by Inverness Water Co. of a water system for the subdivisions from a Limantour Mutual Water Co.

Three Street Fight Suspects Due Hearing

Three youths suspected of taking part in a Mill Valley street fight three weeks ago will appear Sept. 19 in Marin Municipal Court to answer charges of disturbing the peace.

James Talley, 19, John D. Morgan, 20, and Ron Foster, 18, all of Marin City, are charged with taking part in the fight which involved some 20 youths. Their case was continued yesterday by Judge Joseph G. Wilson.

To safeguard against dialing "extra-charge" calls by mistake merely dial "1" before dialing multi-message unit or Long Distance calls

You may have had the experience of making a dialing mistake on a local call and ending up in another city. When this new dialing safeguard goes to work September 16, it will route calls beyond your local calling area only if you dial "1" first, then the rest of the number. This will help you avoid dialing any "extra-charge" call when you intend to dial a local call. On local calls dialing will stay the same. You won't need the "1."

We're mailing you new Introductory pages for your directory, and a sticker for the cover to help you remember the numbers included in your local calling area. The sticker will show the numbers you dial without the "1." All others are multi-message unit or Long Distance calls, and you use this dialing safeguard, dial "1," when dialing outside your local calling area. Then dial the Area Code, if needed, and the phone number.

Dialing the numeral "1" will be the uniform method of placing "extra-charge" calls for telephone users in Marin County. It is part of an ultimate nationwide plan for dialing Long Distance calls.

Our business office will be glad to help with any questions about it.

If, after dialing the numeral "1," you dial a wrong number, ask the party for the name of the city reached. Then, call the Operator right away and give her this information so she can make sure you won't be charged for that call.

Jubilant Giants Home For Stretch Run At Pennant

ALONG MARIN'S SPORTS TRAIL

By JIM GILMARTIN

N.L. Generous With Its Pennants With 'New-Champ-Every-Year' Plan

The National League has a reputation of being generous with its championships.

Which is more than the American League can say. Over there, year in and year out they merely hand it to to the Yankees. It gets pretty boring after a while and league attendance, compared to the N.L., shows it.

The N.L., on the other hand, keeps things interesting. Five years ago the moguls produced a scheme devised to produce a different champion every year to distribute the gravy evenly. And the clubs have followed the plot beautifully. First in line were the Milwaukee Braves. The next season they graciously stepped aside and relinquished the pennant to the L.A. Dodgers, who in turn handed it over to the Pittsburgh Pirates who in turn gave it to the Cincinnati Reds. That was last year.

In order to keep the "different-champion-every-year" plan in operation this season, the N.L. has to find someone besides the four previous champs. And who else but those crazy Giants?

After last night's game I won't bet against them. Even John J. Connolly was beaming into the office bright and early this morning, dreaming of a World Series at Candlestick. And if the old Bullpenner says something nice about the Giants I'm convinced they're in like Flynn.

Like I say, the N.L. is very generous with its pennants, so it's our turn now.

FOOTBALL CLINICS sometimes have been called a waste of time. Some feel the coaches who make instructional talks don't impart all their knowledge or secrets. Just like a boxer doesn't reveal his Sunday punch in training; he saves it for the big fight.

However, tomorrow's grid coaching clinic at Novato High School, co-sponsored by the Marin County Superintendent of Schools, promises to be different.

Co-chairman Charles Nagel says the instructors have promised to tell all they know. Ex-pro coaches Frankie Albert and Eddie Erdelatz are on the program, so the other mentors, explains Nagel, won't hold back any secrets. Albert and Erdelatz know every secret in the book, reasons Nagel, so the others have nothing to hide.

Albert's topic will be, naturally, passing; Erdelatz will stress defense.

Other speakers will be Marlin Olsen of Novato, Bob Troppmann of Redwood, Dick Read of College of Marin and Sam DeVito of Diablo Valley College, all outstanding successes in their profession.

About 150 to 200 visiting coaches are expected to attend the day-long clinic.

MEADOW CLUBBERS have set Saturday, Sept. 29 for the first of what shall become an an annual tournament in honor of John F. Forbes, a man the committee feels ". . . has done more for the club than any other member through his years of service as a director and a president and a faithful member."

Mr. Forbes, of San Rafael, is a charter member of the private Fairfax club and holds membership card No. 1.

JACK SPARROW, the former Novato flash, should play a key role in the University of Pacific's gridiron plans this year, his senior season as quarterback for the Tigers.

Although Pacific supposedly has "de-emphasized" football, it still maintains a pretty stiff schedule including Oregon State, Washington State, New Mexico State, Brigham Young, San Jose State, Fresno State, San Diego State, Santa Clara and the San Diego Marines.

And, Pacific Coach John Rohde hasn't de-emphasized conditioning either as his Tigers are drilled thrice daily. Which must be quite wearing on the newly-married Sparrow.

THE DEATH earlier this year of Tiburoner Bert Hooper also marked the end of one of that community's most colorful and popular events — the annual Old Timers ball game.

Hoop originated the game, I'm told, and kept it going through the years, annually rounding up dozens of former sandlot stars for a return to the scene of their past heroics.

It was a lot of fun over the years, but Tiburoners decided not to play it this year. After all, without Hoop it just wouldn't seem the same.

RADIO KTIM will broadcast six Marin Athletic League football games this fall with Ted Mitchell doing the play-by-play.

HALLMARK TOURS of San Rafael has a package deal for the Sept. 22-23 Reno Grand Prix sports car races, including accommodations, tickets to the races, a tour of Harrah's famed automobile museum, cocktail parties and breakfast.

KEYSTONE COMEDY—Willie McCovey (left) and Willie Mays (right) gave Giant fans a case of the willies last night when both were caught in rundown at second base in first inning. Whip Dodgers In Finale; Battle Chicago Tonight

The jubilant San Francisco Giants, just a game and one-halff out of first place after a crucial winning series in Los Angeles, return to Candlestick Park tonight to battle the ninth place Chicago Cubs.

The San Francisco team made it three out of four over Los Angeles last night by downing the National League leaders, 9-6. The Dodgers face another tough team tonight, when the Pittsburgh Pirates move into Chavez Ravine, just eight games out of first place.

The Cubs are 39 games off the pace—but the Giants can't expect a breather against Ernie Banks and company. The Chicago team has battled San Francisco tooth and nail all season.

Manager Alvin Dark of the Giants will go with his 20-game winner, Jack Sanford, (20-6). The Cubs will counter with Bob Buhl (10-10).

Last night's game ended the fierce competition between the Giants and the Dodgers for 1962—but the memory lingered on for 54,263 fans who saw the ancient rivals engage in a memorable struggle.

The contest was not decided until the final out as the Dodgers loaded the bases in the bottom of the ninth, pushed over one run and then were choked off by veteran reliefer Stu Miller with the potential tying run at the plate.

Both managers were proud of their clubs—Alvin Dark in victory and Walter Alston in defeat. It was that kind of a contest.

The victory, however, moved the Giants to 1½ games behind the Dodgers. San Francisco opened the series here Monday 3½ games back. But by taking three out of four they assured that the battle for the pennant would go down to the end of the season.

Kuenn's Bases-Loaded Hit Wins It

There were heroes on both sides but the most important blow struck for the Giants was Harvey Kuenn's double with the bases loaded in the top of the ninth. It came after Orlando Cepeda had forced in a run with a walk to put San Francisco ahead, 6-5, but it scored three runs. And without his hit the Dodgers would have tied up the game in their half of the ninth.

The game was so hard-fought that the umpires warned both managers to caution their pitchers against throwing at opposing batters after starters Don Drysdale and Bill O'Dell engaged in a "brush-back" contest.

The game was noteworthy also for the Dodgers because they set a new National League attendance mark with 11 games remaining on their home schedule. Last night's crowd brought the Dodgers' home attendance to 2,287,772, breaking their own record of 2,253,887 set in 1960.

"I was proud of our boys—they didn't quit," Alston said after the loss. "You hate to get beat but you have to feel good about the way this team battled back all night.

"We're still ahead. The Giants still have to catch us. And we almost tied it up in the bottom of the ninth. Now that we've gotten over a pitching crisis, we may be in better shape."

Dark said he took more pride in his Giants taking three out of four games in Chavez Ravine stadium than he did when they beat the Dodgers three straight games at Candlestick Park last month.

'The Outlook's Brighter Now'—Dark

"We faced one of the best competitors in the game today in Drysdale and we had to beat great pitching to win," Dark added. "We're still behind and have to catch up but the outlook is a little brighter now."

The classic battle which ended with a 9-9 record in the Dodger-Giants competition for the season had the home club at a disadvantage from the first inning.

The Giants struck early, pushing over two runs in the first frame when Felipe Alou drove in one tally and Willie McCovey another. And San Francisco increased its lead to 4-0 in the third when Orlando Cepeda singled in two runs with the bases loaded.

But the Dodgers finally solved O'Dell's delivery in the fourth inning when they scored four runs, two of them coming home on Frank Howard's 24th homer of the season.

The 4-4 tie lasted until the eighth when the Giants again loaded the bases and Drysdale was relieved by Ron Perranoski. Kuenn came in as a pinch hitter and grounded to third. But on the attempted double play a run scored as he beat out the relay to first base.

The lead, however, lasted only until Tommy Davis led off the Dodgers' half of the eighth and hit his 23rd homer of the season.

Pitcher's Error Is Key Play Of Game

Infielder Chuck Hiller led off the Giants' half of the ninth with a single. The key play of the game came on Jim Davenport's sacrifice with Perranoski throwing the ball into the outfield on a fielder's choice to second.

With two men on base, Felipe Alou was walked intentionally. Perranoski then retired two men, but tried to pitch too carefully to Cepeda and walked him to force in a run. Kuenn put the game away with his double that sent three runs home.

Bob Bolin, who pitched one inning in relief, got credit for the win but Stu Miller recorded a big save. Don Larsen took over in the ninth but gave up a single to pinch hitter Tim Harkness and a walk to Maury Wills. Miller then replaced him and, despite Tommy Davis' sacrifice fly, preserved the victory.

Schedule Favors Giants

The BULLPEN

With JOHN J. CONNOLLY

It is squirm, squeeze and squeal the rest of the season for the S. F. Giants who last night outdid themselves by outfighting, out-thinking and otherwise satisfying their boosters with a scorching 9 to 6 triumph over the Dodger Bums and creeping to within one and a half games of first place.

You can't say too much for the gallant fight made by the Giants who used all their bench and were about to signal for owner Horace Stoneham in the stands to get ready and help them bail out of a tight-fisted contest.

The game was a tension-packed struggle that see-sawed until the Giants exploded in the ninth to break a 5 to 5 tie and move out front 9 to 5. The Dodgers came back, and seriously threatened in the last half of the ninth but, with Stu Miller parading in his 1961 relief style, the Giants were able to cool off the Bums and cop the series three games out of four.

HARVEY KUENN was the big gun in the clutch last night. He delivered the blow that scored three runs and enabled the Dark-men to bring home the bacon. But to single out any player would be unfair. Mays, Cepeda, McCovey and Miller pooled their efforts to seal the doom off a hard Dodger aggregation.

The victory of the Giants threw a truck-size crimp in the fast-fading Dodgers who now are on the defensive. In the remaining games of the season I believe the Giants are favored by the schedule. Add to its the reaction of the big Giant victory and it is not at all impossible that the Bums might begin squeaking at the seams.

THERE MAY be a better way, a nicer and perhaps a softer way of saying it. But to these old eyes the umps are pretty definitely agreed that it is alright to throw at the likes of McCovey and Mays but it is not okay, nor does the same rule apply to the home boys. That was definitely the case last night where a very unfair interpretation of beanball throwing spiced up the torrid struggle.

Don Drysdale, starting pitcher, took a couple pot shots at McCovey and Mays, barely missing them. When Billy O'Dell sat down Drysdale, the umps started screaming to Manager Al Dark who kept pointing two fingers to one, indicating that two Giants had been twice flattened whereas O'Dell only flattened one.

BE THAT as it may, you can expect a lot of repercussions from last night's TV affair. Too many fair-minded people could make their own deductions and didn't need the umps' help to fathom the situation.

A closer peek at the remaining games finds the Giants meeting the Cubs tonight in the first of a three-game series; two more with the Cincy Reds; six with Pittsburgh, two at Candlestick Park and four at Forbes Field; five with St. Louis, three here and two east and six with Houston, three home and three in Houston, a total of 22 games.

THE DODGERS have 21 games remaining, including six with the Cards, five with the Cubs, three with the Braves, and three with the Pirates, all tough clubs.

The "patsy" clubs of the National League, from now until the finish, will determine the championship.

It's Only A Practice Game, But 49ers 'Gunning' For L.A.

Grim and determined, the San Francisco 49ers leave tonight for Los Angeles to play the Rams in the final exhibition game of the season for both clubs.

It's a surprising attitude for an exhibition game, but both Coach Red Hickey of the 49ers and Coach Bob Waterfield of the Rams are looking upon this tilt as "crucial."

It's the final tune-up for the long National League season and the starting lineups will be the same as those to be used during the regular campaign.

This game could give a line on what to expect from the two Western Division clubs this year. The Rams finished sixth for each of the past two campaigns and in 1959 finished seventh, which also happens to be last.

FAST START

San Francisco, after a fast start, faded in the stretch last year and finished fifth. The 49ers were third in both 1959 and 1960.

Both clubs are sticking to the T-formation this year—whereas at this time in 1961, the 49ers had a new toy called the "Shotgun," later to be confined to the scrap-heap.

But they both are going in for the long-range striking force, too.

In the exhibition season, quarterback John Brodie and halfback Bill Kilmer pulled some dandies. Brodie completed 61 of 105 passes for 788 yards and five touchdowns in four games. Brodie got away with a 77-yard pass play to Jim Johnson to break open the game with Dallas; and Kilmer completed a 92-yard bomb to Johnson in a game with Minnesota.

However, Zeke Bratowski has been just as effective with the Rams. Completing 51 of 100 aerials, he has picked up 1071 yards and eight touchdowns.

The Rams have a 2-2 record, the 49ers 3-1.

45,000 EXPECTED

For just an exhibition, there is quite a bit of excitement about the whole thing in Los Angeles. About 45,000 fans are expected at the Coliseum—the same night that the Dodgers will be playing Pittsburgh to an equal number of fans.

One thing about the football game, however: most of the players will be California boys. Seven of the eight starting men in the backfields will be from this state.

For San Francisco it will be Brodie of Stanford at quarter; Kilmer and Johnson of UCLA at halves, and C. R. Roberts of USC at fullback.

Jon Arnett, USC, and Ollie Matson, USF, will be the halves for the Rams, along with Dick Bass of University of Pacific. The "outsider" is Bratowski, who hails from Georgia.

Annual Swim To Tiburon Tomorrow

Sixty members of the Dolphin Swimming and Boating Club of San Francisco are scheduled to dive from the Sea Scout boat, Sea Horse, tomorrow at 10 a.m. at Angel Island and swim the five-eighths mile Racoon Strait to Tiburon.

Jim Small, ex-University of California swimming champ, is the favorite in the 10th annual swim. Small won both the Alcatraz and Ft. Point swims. It is estimated the swim will take him 15 minutes.

The swim is considered a good test for the club's annual Golden Gate Swim scheduled for Sept. 23.

Following the swim a luncheon will be held at the Corinthian Yacht Club for members and their guests. Roland Demarais of Tiburon is luncheon chairman.

The Dolphins previously visited Tiburon this spring when they rowed over in their 75-year-old six-oared barge, The John Wieland.

Sleepy Hollow Pool Schedule Announced

The Selepy Hollow Clubhouse swimming pool will remain open daily through Sunday and then open only on weekends for as long as the weather permits, Sleepy Hollow Home Owners Assn. directors decided last night.

Arrangements were made for Boy Scout troops 50 and 70 to meet in the clubhouse on the first and third Fridays of the month, starting Sept. 21.

GOLF 'SERIES' ON TV

Player Needs $50,000 Victory To Break Even

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Gary Player, the dapper PGA champion from South Africa, figures he has to win the $50,000 top prize in this weekend's world series of golf just to break even.

Player meets British Open and Masters champion Arnold Palmer and National Open king Jack Nicklaus in the NBC-TV color telecast show Saturday and Sunday. It's a 36-hole test over Firestone Country Club's 7,165-yard, par 70 course, one of the most respected par plants in the land.

The amiable and articulate South African, who stands 5-7 and weighs 150, says he needs more than the $15,000 second prize or the $10,000 which goes to the third placer in this battle of champions.

"Two weeks ago at St. Paul I won $1,850 with a 273 score and my expenses were $1,900," Player said. "I travel with a party of seven—myself, my wife, three children, a nurse and my mother-in-law.

"When I check into a hotel, I just tell them I'll take the entire lower floor. It gets expensive moving around the way we do."

Player shouldn't be hurting too much, however, for as a golf tourist he won $64,000 to lead the professionals in 1961 and has gotten $44,000 this year.

The three champions played a practice round yesterday and have another on tap today before going for the big money before a nationwide video audience. Palmer matched par, Player had a 74 and Nicklaus a 76.

Nicklaus, 22, from Columbus, Ohio, headed for the practice tee for an hour's workout after yesterday's round and then played an extra nine holes.

"I haven't played a really good round in weeks," he said. He hit only five fairways from the tee and had six bogeys and no birdies in his first free ride around the long course.

Scrimmage Tomorrow For Stanford Injuns

STANFORD (AP)—Coach Jack Curtice promised to step up football drills for his Indians today in preparation for Saturday's first scrimmage. He cut yesterday's afternoon drill an hour short, saying he felt the players were tired.

THE BULLDOGS — Head coach Bob Muster explains an offensive play to his gridders of San Rafael High during a workout at the high school. The Bulldogs will be lacking experience this year, due to the return of only six lettermen from last year's team. (Independent-Journal photo)

Bulldogs Lack Experience

(Fifth in a series)
By RALPH CHATOIAN

Conceding the lack of experience on his team, head coach Bob Muster of San Rafael High School is preparing his footballers for the 1962 season which will see only six returning lettermen on the Bulldog squad.

Muster is expecting a big season from Mike Shafer, ace backfield man for the Bulldogs. Shafer is a hard runner with plenty of speed and is one of the six returning lettermen. He is a 5-11, 173-pound senior—who played from the halfback spot last year.

The other two backs who earned their letters last year are quarterback Tom Zunino (5-11, 175) and John Yeats 5-10, 165), a slot back. Both Zunino and Yeats will be playing their senior years this season at San Rafael.

SAN RAFAEL GRID SCHEDULE

The San Rafael High School 1962 Football Schedule:

Friday, Sept. 14	At Piedmont	8 p.m.
Friday, Sept. 21	St. Mary's	8 p.m.
Friday, Sept. 28	Montgomery	8 p.m.
Saturday, Oct. 6	Drake at College of Marin*	2 p.m.
Friday, Oct. 12	Novato*	8 p.m.
Friday, Oct. 26	Tamalpais*	8 p.m.
Friday, Nov. 2,	Redw'd at College of Marin*,	8 p.m.
Friday, Nov. 9	Marin Catholic*	8 p.m.
Saturday, Nov. 17	Terra Linda*	2 p.m.

(Home games to be played at San Rafael High School stadium; * denotes Marin County Athletic League games.)

VETERAN GUARDS

Paul Regalia (5-10, 170) and Ron Naeve (5-10, 155) are a pair of senior lettermen guards who will add punch and experience in the Bulldog front wall. Regalia has had two years varsity experience, as well as Bruce Howard (5-10, 172), a returning letterman end.

Newcomers Louis Pharms (6-0, 205), a guard, and tackle Mike Elliott (6-1, 198) have been impressing Muster quite a bit during the first few days of practice. Pharms, a senior, and Elliott, a junior, are both recent transfers to San Rafael.

Senior tackle Doug Childress (6-1, 201), up from last year's Bulldog junior varsity, has also received praise from Muster.

Muster admits his chargers lack experience but the athletes have plenty of desire. The Bulldogs need lots of work in the defensive backfield and offensive line, Muster said.

Muster feels the Marin County Athletic League will produce "real good ball this season."

"A team can play good ball and lose four or five games," Muster declared in commenting about the MCAL. He, as some other coaches in the league, picks Tamalpais High as the top team in the league, with Redwood High second.

Muster and his coaching staff are going to miss the kicking ability of Jack Sovereign, last year's quarterback for the Bulldogs. The coaches are still trying to come up with someone who can boot the ball but have not yet had any luck.

The Bulldogs are going to stick with last year's slot T offensive formation, Muster said. The varsity, by the way, has been cut to 33 players.

MAJOR HANDICAP

One of the major handicaps the San Rafael High footballers will have to overcome is the lack of spring practice. San Rafael was the only high school in the MCAL which was not allowed to hold the 11-day spring practice sessions this year.

Assisting Muster a scoaches this year will be Bud Chadwick, Jack Sims, Gay Quandt and Bill O'Bayley.

Cards Sign Manager For Another Season

ST. LOUIS (AP) — St. Louis Cardinals baseball manager Johnny Keane signed his 1963 contract yesterday for an estimated $35,000.

Keane told a news conference the Red Birds can't contend for the pennant next year unless they make a few changes and acquire esprit de corps. But he said no large scale moves are anticipated.

This was Keane's first full season as manager. He took over the Cardinals after the half-way mark last year.

Four Bears Hurt; Scrimmage Tomorrow

BERKELEY (AP)—Four players missed yesterday's University of California football drill, but only guard Bruce MacDonald is expected to miss Saturday's full-scale scrimmage set for 1:30 p.m.

MacDonald is out with an injured foot. Tackle Ron Calegari has a bruised back, end Bob Hudson an injured leg and halfback Greg Palamountain a hamstring muscle pull in his leg.

Big Grid Festival Tomorrow

Marin Boys Club's annual "Football Festival" will usher in the 1962 gridiron season tomorrow with a Pop Warner Conference triple header on the schedule at College of Marin Stadium in Kentfield.

The evening's colorful festivities will start at 5 o'clock with San Rafael opposing San Anselmo, followed at 7 o'clock by a Novato-Mill Valley contest and at 9 o'clock when Terra Linda challenges mighty Redwood Junior Giants, undefeated champions in their last 28 contests.

Pop Warner age maximum is 14 years and weight limit is 123 pounds.

Lending color to the program will be a performance by the Hamilton Air Force Base drill team at 6:30 o'clock; baton twirling exhibitions by majorettes from Novato; and music by high school pep bands from Terra Linda, San Rafael, Novato and Mill Valley.

Admission is a 50 cent donation to help the Marin Boys Club provide equipment for the six Pop Warner teams it sponsors.

The Detroit Tigers' murderers' row in 1961—Norm Cash, Rocky Colavito and Al Kaline—accounted for 994 bases.

Belinsky 'Cinch' To Be Traded By L.A.

NEW YORK (AP)—"It's a lead pipe cinch I'll be traded now."

This was Bo Belinsky's reaction today to the ruling by Commissioner Ford Frick killing off any possibility of the controversial Los Angeles pitcher being shipped to Kansas City at the end of the season.

The commissioner acted quickly following reports and Belinsky's own statement that he had been promised to the Athletics to seal a deal made last July 21 when the Angels purchased pitcher Dan Osinski from Kansas City's Portland farm club of the Pacific Coast League.

The commissioner, overriding denials by officials of the clubs involved, emphasized the original deal made no mention of any other player involved and cited baseball law which stipulates that "no gentlemen's agreements or understandings are permissible."

"I don't like underhanded deals either," commented Belinsky when asked what he thought of Frick's ruling. "It makes me feel good to know that there is a little justice left in baseball.

"I know a few things I can't reveal that make me feel deep down in my heart that I was headed for Kansas City," said the 25-year-old rookie southpaw who hit the headlines last May 5 when he pitched a no-hit, no-run game against Baltimore

Los Angeles Manager Bill Rigney took the decision calmly. He learned of it only minutes after his third place Angels had dropped a heart-breaking 6-5 decision to New York, dropping them 4½ games behind the American League-leading Yankees.

"Obviously," he said, "there's one club in the American League that Belinsky will never play with."

Although he gave no indication that Belinsky was on the block, the possibility the pitcher, who has won eight while losing nine for the Angels, will be back next season is very remote.

Rams Might Even Win Championship, Boasts Richter

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The experts pick the Los Angeles Rams to finish in the National Football League's second division, but Ram middlebacker Les Richter thinks they're wrong.

Richter, who played on the Rams' Western Division championship team in 1955, thinks Los Angeles will be up pretty high "and we might even win the championship.

"We're stronger defensively, so we shouldn't be losing those close games," says the Ram defensive captain. "We have a veteran team, for a change, and the coaching staff has had a chance to move in and start formulating our offense quickly."

The Rams take on the San Francisco 49ers tomorrow night in the Coliseum.

Seals Swap Wings With L.A. Blades

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — In a straight player swap, the San Francisco Seals of the Western Hockey League have traded left winger Bob Solinger to the Los Angeles Blades for right wing Danny Belisle.

The Seals also have acquired young goalie Russ Gillow from the Detroit Red Wing organization. Gillow played in a Canadian junior league last season.

Dove Hunters Strike It Rich; Status Quo In Striper Fishing

STEVENS

The dove hunters hereabouts apparently have been enjoying rather exceptionally good fortune. Dozens of reports have come in of limit bags taken over a wide range of territory.

Bill Culver and Herman Surham took easy limits, as did Lou Nardiello, while Joe Nerviani, of Joe's Launching at Santa Venetia, merely stepped out of his cabin and collected his legal limit. No report on brush or cottontail rabbits —imagine the nimrods have been too busy killing doves.

Fishing for bass maintains the status quo. Slow in upper San Pablo account of wind and rough water. Salmon continues fair, but some of the boats continue limiting out on bass on the way back to the harbor. Trolling off Yellow Bluff and Alcatraz is still fast and fancy and rock fishing off Rocky Point is something to write home about. The Privateer boated 150 assorted rockfish and landed 20 lings to 20 pounds. Bill Shaw aboard his private cruiser took a 33-pound salmon and a quick limit of bass.

CARL BENNETT, of the Rodeo Marina, reported three men in a skiff, fishing with bullheads on the flats downstream from Rodeo, came in with nine stripers—two 18-pounders, five 14s and two 8s. The Bluefish made the long trip from Rodeo to Alcatraz and netted 10 limits of bass to 14 pounds.

A POST CARD received yesterday asks: "Are the pheasants as plentiful in South Dakota this year as in several years ago? And if so, when does the season open, and how long will it run? What is the limit?" the card is signed R. A. Johnson, with an address on Laguna Ave., Oakland. A P.S. reads: "Please include in your column."

Sorry. I have no dope on So. Dakota. But I do have on a nearby state, Nebraska. It might interest some of you who would go far afield for ringnecks. The lowdown, briefly, is as follows: Best bet seems to be in Custer County where one-half million acres of ranch and farm land is said to be overstocked with pheasants. Season opens Oct. 27 and runs for 86 days through Jan. 20.

Farm and rach owners have agreed to direct hunters to participating lands. Some owners will provide guide service and also sleeping and eating accommodations. There will be a $1 charge per hunter for each farm or ranch. Limits are 4 roosters daily and 16 in possession. Hunting permits (licenses) will cost you $15 and, of course, $1 for an upland bird stamp.

Application for the permit and the stamp, along with the full details of all hunting are available by writing to Nebraskaland, State House, Lincoln 9, Nebraska.

REMEMBER—If you hunt or fish in another state, you are required to make declaration of entry when bring such game back into California. That is, UNLESS your game or fish is shipped to your home by common carrier. I suggest you pick up a declaration of entry form before you leave, to save time and trouble. Get 'em at Department of Fish and Game, 722 Capitol Avenue, Sacramento 14, Calif.

Pro Football—Hard Knocks, Heartbreaks

Quiet voices. Slow, deliberate motions. Miles and miles of tape carefully wound around hands, wrists, knees and ankles. The walls of the tiny dressing room seem to bulge as the 49ers suit up for the night's game. So many muscles in such a little room!

Confident faces, serious faces. And young rookie faces now showing the strain of weeks of sweating effort on practice fields and football stadia up and down the coast. Tonight comes the examination for a course tougher than any they had in college. Trial by fire. Four will flunk, four MUST flunk to meet cutdown requirements.

Sitting shoulder to shoulder on the dressing room benches, dressed only in underwear and tape, bereft of the awe-inspiring pads and armor of the playing field, you suddenly realize that most of these young gladiators look strangely like the kid next door. Only a heck of a lot bigger.

And you can't help but wonder why these young men choose the hard knocks of professional football as a stepping stone to integration with the spectators who pay to see them play, and whose ranks they will join in so few years.

Barring a few outstanding exceptions, six or seven years is a lifetime in the ranks of the pro. Most players are college graduates. Is it worth the effort? All you have to do is ask and you get the answers.

SIDELINES

By ED RANDOL

"The reasons aren't too complicated," a veteran lineman told me. "First of all, you have to like football. I mean REALLY like it. I think that applies to any professional sport where you are up against the best in the business week after week. Just going through the motions is not enough.

"Sometimes, by the middle of a season, you get so tired and sore that you can hardly get up on a Monday morning. But by the next Sunday you're eager to go again unless you're really hurting. And it's a lot easier if you are winning.

"Every man here has the physical equipment to make good or he wouldn't have been drafted. At first, when you are a rookie, there is a personal challenge to meet that is as old as history. If you make the team, somebody else has to go, and you've won your first the guy being challenged until the guy being chalelnged until you reach the end of the line."

Dressed but for the hard hat of his trade, the veteran stood up and looked down at me from 'way up there. "Sure, money is a factor. If you're lucky, you get a good salary, some endorsements, and a shot at some darn good off-season jobs or investments. Whether you go into coaching or business it helps to have made a name for yourself.

"Looking ahead, I think my big problem will be to know when to quit. It won't help my future in this area if you writers are running me down and the fans are booing me. Just two more years for me." The team started moving out of the dressing room toward the field. The big lineman looked back over his shoulder and grinned. "Or maybe three years!"

Tomorrow night in the Los Angeles Coliseum the 49ers will meet the Rams in the final exhibition game of the year. But there will be a battle within a battle, as Coach Red Hickey must make three more cuts from his squad to get down to his roster limit.

Challenger or challenged? The crowd roars, three men pack up their heartbreak and leave, and the show goes on.

Sanford Named N.L. Player Of The Month

CINCINNATI, (UPI)—Twenty-game winner Jack Sanford of the San Francisco Giants has been named the National League's "player of the month" for August in a poll of baseball writers and broadcasters.

Sanford, who won six and lost none during August, edged Frank Robinson of the Cincinnati Reds in the balloting.

Homeowners Vote 75-Cent Tax For Roads

Homeowners in a special assessment district in Bolinas have voted unanimously to tax themselves 75 cents per $100 assessed valuation in order to get paved roads in their area.

The Bolinas Highlands Permanent Road Division was created by resolution of the board of supervisors July 3 as requested by petition from the 19 homeowners on Cliff Road and Crescente, Mabel and Altura avenues in Bolinas.

The tax will allow paving of the four roads by the county public works department. All 19 residents voted for the tax in a special election held Tuesday in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Ford on Altura Avenue.

3 High School Diploma Courses Offered Adults

Three courses carrying credit for a high school diploma will be offered during the fall quarter of the Tamalpais Adult Evening School, Principal Harry G. Russell announced today.

A class in English grammar is scheduled for Mondays and Wednesdays, 7:30 to 9:30 p.m., at Drake High. Mrs. Yuriko Moriwaki is the instructor.

U.S. history is offered on Tuesdays and Thursdays, 7:30 to 10 p.m. at Tamalpais High. Gerald M. Lucey is the instructor.

General science will be given at Tam by Leon Bennett on Mondays and Wednesdays, 7:30 to 9:30 p.m.

The courses combine fundamentals of several subjects to complete requirements for graduation. Evaluation of school records and work experience is available by appointment at the adult evening office on the Drake campus in San Anselmo.

Registration for all classes opens Tuesday at Drake and Wednesday at Tam.

Allen, recently named to the five-man executive committee of the national committee, will present a report on regional hospital planning to the committee.

'FEATHERBEDDING' FIGHTING WORD

Rail Dispute Showdown Nearing

By WILLIAM P. GRUBER

CHICAGO (UPI)—To a railroad man, there is nothing soft about the word "featherbedding." It's a fighting word and the showdown may be at hand.

To railroad management, "featherbedding" means unnecessary paychecks for jobs which have been made obsolete through modernization and automation.

The railroads maintain they can no longer afford to pay for jobs and practices—"work rules"—which have become as outmoded as the steam engine.

But to the rail unions, the "featherbedding" charge is a device to eliminate tens of thousands of jobs which, the railroad brotherhoods claim, are still essential to the safe and efficient running of the trains.

The two sides have been arguing for decades. This year, a major strike and the threat of a far greater walkout have been substituted for words.

One of the nation's largest railways, the Chicago and North Western, was shut down last week by telegraphers demanding a "job freeze." The AFL-CIO Order of Railroad Telegraphers (ORT) insisted that the railroad get agreement from them before it lopped off any telegraphers' jobs. When the railroad refused, the ORT called out its men along the North Western's nine-state Midwest network.

On a still larger front, five operating unions representing 210,000 on-train employees said they would strike against all the nation's railroads if a series of "anti-featherbedding" work rules changes go into effect.

The railroads, equally determined, say the old work rules systems are costing them 590 million dollars a year. Among other things, they propose to eliminate the jobs of 40,000 firemen on freight diesel locomotives. Other changes would eventually wipe out a total of 65,000 jobs, according to railroad figuring. The unions say the probable figure is closer to 80,000.

The battle is currently mired in the Chicago federal courts and both sides expect President John F. Kenndey to step in with appointment of an emergency board if the issue comes down to the strike stage. That would sidetrack a nationwide rail tieup for at least 60 days and might, some railroad men think, result in federal legislation.

Since the turn of the century, the railroads say they have watched virtually every phase of their operations deteriorate on the profit and loss sheet.

Other modes of transport decreased the railroads' share of the nation's hauling even though railroads spent nearly 17 billion dollars for new equipment since 1945.

Class I railroads, which do 98 per cent of all rail hauling, last year reported a total net income of $382,446,334 against $693,175,998 in 1951. One road went bankrupt in 1961 and several others said they were near that point.

Due to technological changes and efforts to slash expenses, rail employment by 1961 was down to 717,543 from 1,663,896 during the peak years of the 1920s.

H. E. Gilbert, president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, says unions have not fought technological change. The unions agreed to the elimination of more than 55,000 jobs resulting from dieselization since the war, he said.

Gilbert adds that the claim of railroad poverty is a myth. Rail stocks today, he said, are worth as much as 53 times more than in 1942 in terms of market value and dividends. Railroads had a capital surplus and retained income of 11.4 billion dollars in 1960 compared with 4.4 billion dollars 10 years earlier, Gilbert said.

The jobs under dispute, he said, are essential to safety and efficiency. Unions have often accused railroads of allowing their facilities to deteriorate and cite train accidents as proof.

On the other side is James E. Wolfe, chief railroad negotiator. He concedes that most railroads have had to defer improvements. He denied, however, that any danger resulted and said the railroads could sharply update their facilities and hire needed workers with money they could save from "featherbedding."

The work rules issue dates back to the days when firemen stoked the boilers of steam locomotives, brakemen scampered over the tops of moving trains to set hand brakes, and trains were slower than they are today, Wolfe said.

"The rules evolved through the ages like the common law," he said. "Most of them were all right at the time. During World War I, we had to change locomotives at every division point. The average trip was 100 miles every eight hours. Freight trains had an average speed of 10 mph.

"Modern diesel locomotives, however, are much faster. There are no more fires to feed, yet firemen still ride in the cab without serving a useful purpose. Federal laws now require air brakes, so we have a brakeman in the freight cab, too."

Unions say firemen are needed for maintenance, safety and as an emergency engineer even though their title may be out of date. The fireman also watched the left, or blind side, of the engine. Railroads say the brakeman could do this.

Wolfe replies that some countries have eliminated firemen on the railroads. In Canada, he said, trains without firemen have "a little better safety record" than those with them. "There's less chance for distraction," he said.

The railroads also seek changes in rules covering "obsolete" mileage basic pay stanwards, separation of road and yard service jobs and duplicate time payments for road crews which might handle some other assignment as switching an engine.

They propose to raise a basic day's pay from 100 to 160 miles for crews operating passenger locomotives and through freight trains. Corresponding adjustments are proposed for other crew pay rates.

Rules banning crews from operating through present division points would also be revised. Eight engine crews now are needed to run a passenger train over the 961-mile, 16-hour course from New York to Chicago, according to the Assn. of American Railroads.

Unions, on the other hand, want increased overtime pay, a 10 per cent differential for night work, monthly earning guarantees, expenses for time away from home and holiday pay with shorter work hours.

A nationwide rail strike in 1946 partly reflected an effort to revise work rules, he said. Scattered walkouts hit several roads in 1951 and 1952 for the same reason, but the Army ordered the men back to work under emergency war powers. Minor changes were made at that time.

Since then, both sides have accused the other of negotiating in bad faith. In 1959, the carriers submitted a list of demands which unions countered with proposals of their own. The resulting deadlock led to the formation of a presidential railroad commission which came up with recommendations less drastic than the industry's last February.

The union opposed the proposed new rules on the grounds they were "illegal" since they were not served under collective bargaining procedures of the National Railway Act. Railroads then reverted to their original demands, and the matter plunged into the courts when unions sought to enjoin the carriers from puttitng the rules into effect. There the matter stands today.

Theft Of Truck Is Cleared Up In Corte Madera

The theft of a truck from a Corte Madera industrial firm, and burglaries and malicious mischief at the firm and three others were cleared up with the apprehension of two boys aged 9 and 12, Police Chief Frank Nelson reported yesterday.

Damage was estimated at several hundred dollars.

The yards of Brown-Ely Co. and Ceccotti and Son of Marin, Inc., were broken into several weeks ago and several trucks banged up. Later the North Bay Lumber Co. and Denny's House of Plumbing were entered by burglars.

A truck, stolen from the plumbing firm, was recovered several blocks away.

Bolinas Highlands Residents Vote Road District

Nineteen of the 22 Bolinas Highlands residents eligible to vote cast ballots Tuesday in favor of imposing a special tax of 75 cents per $100 assessed valuation on all within the newly formed Bolinas Highlands Permanent Road District in the next fiscal year.

Nobody voted against the levy.

Mrs. Norman Ford, who spearheaded the movement to set up the district earlier this year, revealed the good news Wednesday when she took results of the election to County Clerk George Gnoss.

The district was formed last July 3 by action of the Marin County Board of Supervisors after the filing of a legally required petition. It was necessary that a majority vote in favor of the proposed tax be cast and notified to Sacramento before next Feb. 1 in order that the tax be levied for the 1963-64 fiscal year.

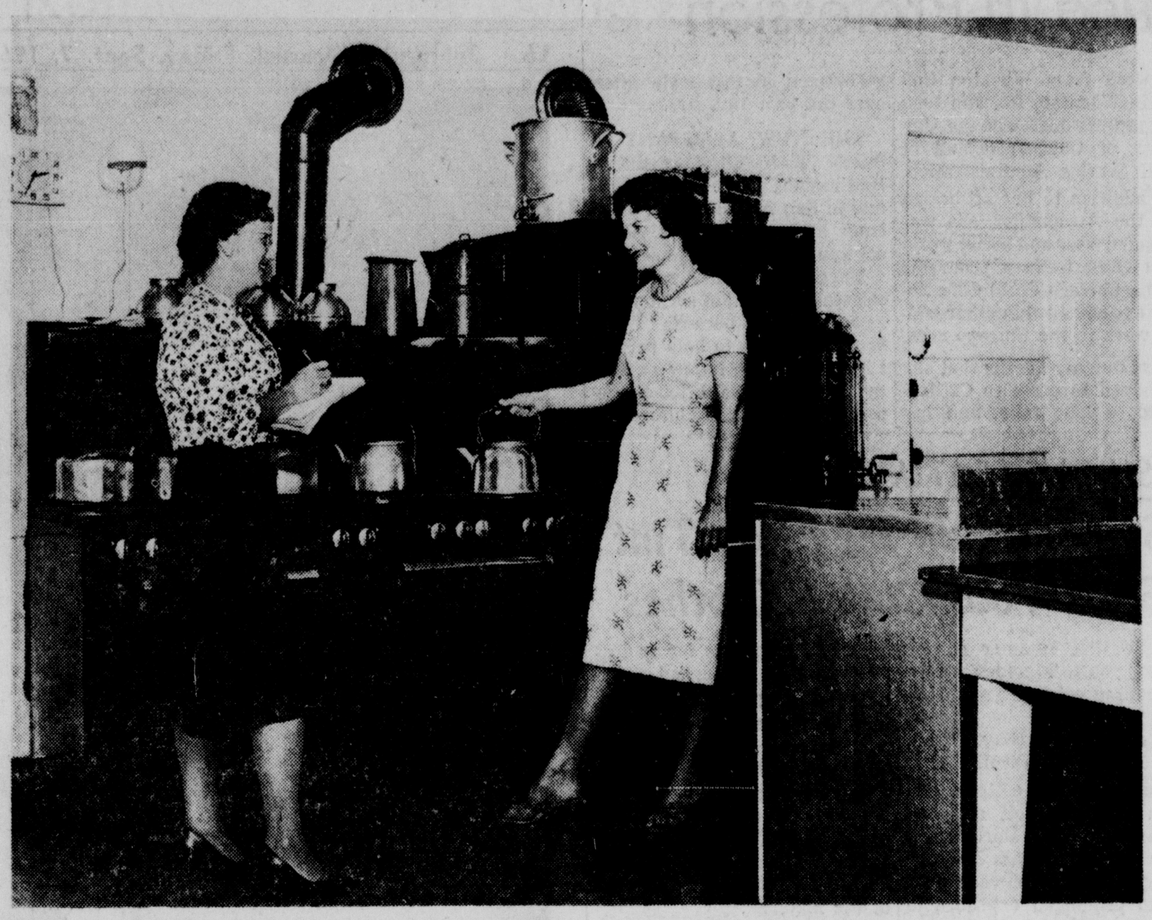
Outdoor Art Club's 60th Year



MANY LUNCHEONS AND dinners and refreshments for teas are prepared in this well equipped though old fashioned kitchen of Mill Valley's Outdoor Art Club, which celebrates its 60th anniversary this year. Checking equipment in preparation for the club year are two of the board members. From left are Mrs. Lowell F. Jett, first vice president, and Mrs. Gerhard Becker, community services chairman. (Independent-Journal photos)

THIS IS THE MAIN ROOM of Mill Valley's Outdoor Art Clubhouse in Mill Valley, designed 58 years ago by famed architect Bernard Maybeck. Through the years it has been a community center used for cultural and civic events, headquarters for disaster relief, and place where the Mill Valley Library and churches were founded. Checking over facilities prior to the opening of the 60th year of the club on Thursday are, from left, 50th president Mrs. Joseph Brewster seated at the piano, Mrs. John Lennon, cultural arts chairman and Mrs. Eugene McGeorge, advisory committee chairman.

'Ladies To The Rescue' Led To Mill Valley Organization

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

"Just what is the Outdoor Art Club?" newcomers to Mill Valley often ask, judging from its name that it is some kind of art organization. And even old timers frequently are unable to answer the question correctly.

Since the club will start its 60th year Thursday with its first meeting of the season devoted to honoring founders and past presidents, now is a good time to tell its story.

The club has had 50 presidents — with Mrs. Joseph Brewster the current one — and there is only one living founder, Mrs. Harvey A. Klyce, who still lives in the old family home she has occupied for more than 60 years.

The town of Mill Valley, called affectionately by its residents then "The Little Switzerland of America," was incorporated in 1900, and the club was founded in 1902 under the slogan "Ladies to the Rescue!"

PROUD OF THEIR giant redwoods, hills, cascades and fern bordered streams at the foot of Tamalpais, 34 women became alarmed when better transportation began to bring hundreds of picnickers, and with them litter and destruction of native plants.

Unnecessary cutting of redwoods they considered even more disastrous—so on Aug. 2, 1902, at the old Summit School these 34 women as charter members founded the Outdoor Art Club, pledging themselves "to preserve the natural scenery of Mill Valley and the surrounding country, to encourage the development of outdoor art and engage in civic, social and literary work."

Today the club has 350 members, is the oldest women's club in Marin and one of the oldest and largest in the state.

The charter members were soon joined by other eager women, and projects were started, such as cleanup drives, restoring the old mill from which Mill Valley gets its name, and landscaping the grounds of one school.

In this story no mention is made of individuals, for the true impact of the club on the community has been through all of its members working as a unit.

AS INTEREST GREW, a clubhouse became necessary. Today members are proud of the foresight and judgment of their founders, for their choice of location in the center of Mill Valley and style of architecture. Famed architect Bernard Maybeck designed the gracious building —now 58 years old—which is considered a fine example of his work.

Throughout the 60 years this building has been used for many purposes.

During the earthquake and fire in San Francisco in 1906 the club cancelled all activities to assist the Red Cross. The building was used to cook and serve meals and as a supply depot. Quantities of food, clothing and bedding were distributed to refugees.

In the fall of 1906 the first dramatic presentation, after the earthquake given in the Bay Area was written by Kathleen Thompson (novelist Kathleen Norris) and presented on the club's stage.

Again in 1913 and 1929 when disastrous fires threatened Mill Valley, all facilities were open for use by the city and staffed by members. Food was served in the club and on the fire lines.

Similar activities were carried on during the three wars in the life of the club.

The Mill Valley library was started by the club in the clubhouse and staffed by members. As the town grew and a library was built in 1909, it donated 750 books to the new library.

Members raised shrubs and not only planted the club grounds but gave them to any home owner interested in beautifying his property.

ONE OF THE club's most worth while services is the well baby clinic started in 1924. The second generation of babies is now coming in for checkups.

From the beginning the club has been a cultural center as the scene of plays, recitals, lectures and concerts. The Mill Valley forum and the Mill Valley Concert series ran for many years. Classes in foreign languages, book reviews and garden talks have been given—all open to the public.

In 1920 the club established a scholarship fund. Just one example is that for the past three years a brilliant young Tamalpais High School graduate, Marisa Saetti, has been the recipient of an art scholarship to help pay for her study in Italy under the world famous sculptor Manzu.

The building has also been used by many church groups while they were building their own facilities. Two large churches, the Community and the Lutheran, had their beginnings in the clubhouse.

Without becoming involved in partisan politics, the membership has sponsored candidate nights and informative

Urged Abatement Of Nuisances

MILL VALLEY'S OUTDOOR Art Clubhouse stands amid spacious tree shaded grounds on the bank of Corte Madera Creek in the center of town. The club was founded 60 years ago primarily "to preserve the natural scenery of Mill Valley and surrounding country." Chatting in foreground are, center, Mrs. William B. Newman, club past president, present chairman of the Marin County Parks and Recreation Commission and leader in conservation, and 50th club president Mrs. Joseph Brewster, left. In the background are Mesdames Lowell F. Jett, first vice president; Maynard Sears, chairman of the Well Baby Clinic and Kenyon Spalding, second vice president and program chairman.

PHOTOGRAPHED IN THEIR turn-of-the century gowns were these founders, past presidents and early members of the Outdoor Art Club in Mill Valley, which is celebrating its 60th anniversary this year. From left they are Mesdames Beulah Barber, W. W. Marvin, Isobel Bostwick, H. L. House, Lovell White, Elizabeth MacCann, Wheeler Martin, Folker, Flora Reynolds, A. Folger, Miles Staples, Harvey Klyce, Harry Bridge and John Finn. Mrs. White, fifth from left, was the originator of the idea to found the club, and Mrs. Klyce, third from right, is the only living founder.

NEW ASSISTANT DIRECTOR at the Sunny Hills Home in San Anselmo, Margaret E. Butcher, looks over a copy of the recently published book "Drop-outs" for which she served as supervisor and psychiatric social worker with the Scholarship and Guidance Assn. of Chicago who assembled data for the publication. Sunny Hills Assistant Director Highly Qualified In Profession

By PATRICIA ZINN

Margaret E. Butcher, who assumed her duties as new assistant director of Sunny Hills on Tuesday, brings to the home in San Anselmo and to Marin a professional background of 29 years of social work in the Chicago area.

In the Sunny Hills treatment program for disturbed adolescents which she terms a "challenging opportunity," Miss Butcher brings high qualifications, having been supervisor and psychiatric social worker with the Scholarship and Guidance Assn. in Chicago which assembled the data for the newest book in the field of work with adolescents entitled "Drop-Outs."

THIS BOOK, published in May, is a report of the work of the Scholarship and Guidance Assn. in assisting high school youth of good mental capacity who are in danger of dropping out of school because of failure. The three-year project was based on the assumption that such youngsters can best be helped by helping them to resolve the family and personal problems which are preventing them from using their intellectual capacities.

In discussing the book, the new assistant director pointed up that 40 per cent of all students in high school today will drop out. She went on to say that "Project Drop-Out" was more successful where you could involve the parents. One hundred and five students from 25 high schools were involved in the three year clinical study.

MARGARET BUTCHER was graduated with a degree in social work from Wheaton College in Wheaton, Ill., and took her master's degree at the University of Chicago School of Social Service Administration.

In addition to her affiliation with the Association, she was also supervisor and social worker in child welfare programs for the Chicago Child Care Society and involved in other welfare work in the Chicago area.

Miss Butcher admits that she has hoped to come to California for a long time, and has vacationed in this state often over the past 16 years.

THE NEW ASSISTANT to Sunny Hills Director Perry Hall resides on Oak Knoll Avenue in San Anselmo and, aside from her work, enjoys classical music, weaving and sewing.

Margaret Butcher says she selected the field of social work as a profession because "I like people and like to help people. I know I will be happy at Sunny Hills because I have concern especially for children."

MOLLY MERRILL

Molly Merrill To Be Bride Of William Wallace Sterling

An early November wedding is being planned by Molly Merrill and William Wallace Sterling, whose engagement has been announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Holbrook Merrill Jr. of Sausalito.

Molly is the sister of Jenefer and Alice Merrill and the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Merrill of Menlo Park and the late Mr. and Mrs. Carl Lane Clemans. She attended Dominican Convent and Stanford University and studied at the Sorbonne.

The future bridegroom is the son of Dr. and Mrs. J. E. Wallace Sterling of Stanford University and the brother of Susan and Judith Sterling. He is the grandson of Albert Morley Shaver of Ontario, Canada and the late Mrs. Shaver and the late Rev. and Mrs. William Sterling.

William was graduated from Phillips Academy at Andover, Mass. and Stanford University and studied at Oxford University as a Rhodes Scholar.

FASHIONS FEATURED

Summer Sun May Rob Tint From Your Cotton Clothes

While that summer sun is turning you to a golden brown and adding color to your skin, it may very well be robbing both color and strength from your summer wardrobe.

Your prettiest cottons and beach togs as well as your husband's sport shirts, and children's playclothes may be fading right before your eyes due to prolonged exposure to the sun. Also, the exposure may gradually weaken some fabrics.

While certain dyes are color fast to sunlight, others are highly susceptible to the sun's rays. Vat dyes, as a classification, were pointed out as the best obtainable and a garment of cotton, which is vat dyed is most likely to retain its original color.

Lengthy exposure will cause almost any fabric to show gradual loss of strength. Most easily effected by the sun, however, is silk as far as loss of strength is concerned.

When purchasing a garment, look for the certified washable seal. It is the best insurance against sun fading. Garments bearing the seal have been put through rigorous testing not only for sun fading, but for color fastness to washing, shrinkage and tensile strength of the material.

Rotating your wardrobe is another way of insuring your clothes against too much sun fading. Although every fabric will lighten due to the effects of sun exposure, you can reduce this problem by interchanging summer outfits, and by allowing yourself at least two or three different outfits for those days spent out in the sun.

In addition to protecting clothing and household accessories from unnecessary overexposure to the sun, clothes also require extra care during hot weather. To avoid fabric damage or staining caused by perspiration, clothing should be laundered frequently and soon after wearing.

Clothing is accessible to stains during the summer months. Stains resulting from catsup, mustard, berries, and grass are difficult to remove once they have been allowed to set in the material. Such stains should be rinsed in cold water.

Reed P-TC Plans Films Tomorrow

Two films, one a full length feature and the other a cartoon will be shown tomorrow in the Reed School auditorium. There will be two showings, one at 10 a.m., the other at noon.

Sponsored by the Reed Unit of the Parent-Teacher Club, proceeds will be used to purchase books for the school library according to Mrs. Everett Girtler, unit president.

Club Keys Its Projects To Wider Conservation Fields

speeches on topics of current interest as a public service.

SINCE THE INCEPTION of the Grape Festival, the club has participated in raising of funds for Sunny Hills and at the present time plays fairy godmother to one of the cottages, a group of boys calling themselves "The Jaguars." And Marin County Hospital and Farm at Lucas Valley has been visited many times to bring cheer with gifts, books and entertainment.

The original purpose of the club was conservation of natural resources. From defending trees and shrubs from vandalism members went on to the planting of trees along streets as new tracts were opened. In many cases the streets were planted before houses were built, which accounts for street names such as Sycamore, Walnut, Catalpa, Elm and Locust.

Alice Eastland, noted early day resident, gave the club women quantities of forget-me-not seeds, which they scattered far and wide, and to this day they bloom every spring on the hills and in gardens.

THE JUNIOR CIVIC League was formed by the club's forestry and botany section, now called civics and conservation. By working with this group boys and girls became interested and active in civic and forest work. This young group waged the battle against a plague of caterpillars one year, helping to preserve the trees.

In these early days members watered the trees they planted, cleaned out debris from the creeks and urged town trustees to do something about the abatement of nuisances.

Constantly aware of the need to preserve outdoor beauty through the acquiring and upkeep of the redwood groves, the club purchased and gave the city a section adjoining Old Mill Park to complete the area and for many years kept the Old Mill in repair.

It donated the original benches and trash cans to Old Mill Park. The first flag and flagpole in Lytton Square was presented to the town by the club, and in later years it presented the city with the bus station's outdoor drinking fountain and led the campaign to purchase the redwood grove which adjoins Miller grove on West Blithedale.

Today members keep a watchful eye on all plans for the development of Mill Valley and surrounding areas and at the present are represented by two members on the Mill Valley Parks and Recreation Commission.

FROM COMMUNITY conservation projects the club went on to help in wider fields of conservation. In the last three years it has financed the planting of seedling pines in 30 acres of El Dorado National Forest.

This year it has joined with other groups in the purchase of the Audubon Canyon Ranch Wildlife Preserve on Bolinas lagoon by pledging the money to buy one acre. This is one of the last nesting places of the great blue herons and American egrets and will be open to the public for observation and recreation.

Yes, Outdoor Art Club members can be counted on as "Ladies to the Rescue" whenever anything is threatened that makes Mill Valley, Marin County and the State of California a beautiful place to live.

'Bridge To Silver' Planned Sept. 13

The Sausalito Woman's Club will be host on Thursday at the first of two special events held in memory of Miss Fanny Shoobert.

Miss Shoobert, who died in April, was the last surviving founder of the Sausalito Woman's Club, which celebrates its 50th anniversary this year. Over the years she gave the club many of its finest treasures. In honoring her, members hope that sufficient funds will be raised to complete the silver tea service, the fund for which was started with a bequest left by Miss Shoobert.

Her main interests were to bring culture to the picturesque community and to conserve its beauty — objectives which the club continues to carry out.

Card games for members and guests will take place at the clubhouse from 1:30 to 4 p.m. Each hostess is requested to bring table covers and cards.

Following the card games "Champagne Poolside" will be held at the residence of Mrs. William U. Remensperger, 1 San Carlos Ave.

Mrs. Remensperger, general chairman for this special event, is being assisted by Mesdames Richard F. Phillips, decorating; Wint F. Saint, refreshments; Frank Kelly, beverage; S. C. Stapp, awards; and L. S. M. Beckett, tickets.

Club president Mrs. Stanley Cowen and Mrs. Stapp will greet members and guests at the door.

Lutheran Women Plan Luncheon

A salad luncheon will be served Thursday at noon by the Lutheran women in San Rafael who have completed transcription and printing of 500 copies of the Book of St. Matthew into sight saving print for persons with failing sight. The luncheon will be held at the home of Mrs. W. R. Normington of San Rafael. The books will be assembled at the luncheon meeting.

House Of Spring Theme For Thursday View Show

Mary Cheshire, a distinctive name in San Francisco circles, fashion and social, keeps an "Autumn Appointment" on Thursday at "Fashions With a View" from the Ondine in Sausalito introducing a new collection of town and country classics and casuals perfect to wear while touring the new "House of Spring."

"House of Spring" in Tiburon is a contemporary adobe built by Lyn Wesley Jaeger to benefit Spring Opera of San Francisco.

Thursday's show will give a warm welcome to the builder Jaeger, who also has arranged for proceeds from the sale of the "House of Spring" to go to Spring Opera. He will be joined at the guest table by Mrs. Leon Guenin, herself a decorator of note and chairman of the Spring Opera "House of Spring."

Mary Cheshire has invited Mrs. William Brantman, Mrs. Richard Woods, Mrs. Charles Bullock, and Mrs. Hal Wagner to model her designs for the Thursday 12:30 p.m. "Fashions With a View."

MARIN'S SOCIAL WHIRL

Kathleen Wilsey Being Honored At Dinner Dance Tomorrow

By FLORENCE DONNELLY

The little season for debutantes, who will make their bows to society in December, is being brought to a gala close with supper and dinner dances. The Jack Wilseys of San Rafael are giving a dinner dance tomorrow night honoring their daughter, Kathleen, who will be presented at the Marin ball Dec. 20 at Peacock Gap Golf and Country Club.

KATHLEEN WILSEY

Kathy, who is a recent graduate of Marin Catholic High School, is enrolled at College of Marin. About 90 guests, the debs, dates and Kathy's other friends have been invited. The party will be in the garden of the Wilseys' Fairhills home and the guests will dance in the large patio. Kathy, who will have Jack Sovereign of San Rafael as her escort, will wear a white silk brocade sheath and coral slippers matched by the flowers in her nosegay.

Kathy was honored at a tea Wednesday given by her aunt, Mrs. Alfred Wilsey of Kent Woodlands, at the St. Francis Yacht Club.

Margaret Tinning (Taffy) Evans and Caroline Clifton Drewes are sharing the spotlight at the tea dance in the Room of the Dons at Mark Hopkins Hotel this evening. Giving the party are Taffy's grandmother, Mrs. Harry L. Evans of San Francisco, for many years a Marin resident and her sister, Mrs. Nicholas Kittle Boyd of San Rafael, and Mr. Boyd. Taffy, daughter of Mrs. Noble Hamilton Jr. of Ross and the late Lt. Harry L. Evans, will make her curtsy at the Marin Ball. Caroline, daughter of Judge and Mrs. Robert J. Drewes, will be present at the San Francisco Cotillion Dec. 27. Mrs. Drewes and Mrs. Nicholas Kittle Boyd Jr. are sisters.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard M. Duff of Kent Woodlands presented their daughter, Susan, who will bow at the Cotillion, at a tea dance Tuesday evening at the Burlingame Country Club. In the receiving line with Sue and her parents was her grandfather, Leo V. Merle. The receiving line formed before the fireplace in the Red Room of the club which was decorated with rubrum lilies, cockscomb and pink snapdragons. In the family group were Sue's older sister, Diana and her fiance, Victor Carter, and Sue's brother, Dennis. Among those in the Marin contingent were the Sanford Lowengarts, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Roche, Mr. and Mrs. Val Seale and the Joseph Hickingbothams. The 400 guests were seated at tables around the dance floor for the buffet supper served at 9 o'clock.

PETER AND HELEN DAVIDSON will be moving to San Francisco for the winter months but their many friends will be glad to learn that the Davidsons will return to their home on Bolinas Road in Fairfax after young Peter finishes the term at St. Luke's Nursery School in June.

NEW RESIDENTS of San Rafael are Mr. and Mrs. Italo Adamis and their daughter, Janice, who is enrolled at College of Marin. Their home at 49 Bellevue Avenue has just been completed. It is a three bedroom house of contemporary design. Mr. Adamis is vice president of Atlas Metal Spinning Co. The Adamis family moved here from Santa Rosa. They are former residents of Hillsborough.

MR. AND MRS. RICHARD J. MacLAURY, who rented a house at Lake Tahoe Meadows for a month, have returned to their home on Corinthian Island. With the MacLaurys were their children, Richard, Margerie and Joyce and their young cousin, Celia MacLaury, who came from her home in New York City for a two weeks' visit. Several friends visited the MacLaurys and enjoyed fishing, sailing, and water skiing. The MacLaurys took two boats up to the lake, one with an outboard motor for water skiing and fishing and the other, El Toro, for sailing.

MARIN DATEBOOK

El Marinero To Hear Reading

El Marinero Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution will hold its first meeting of the season Sept. 17 at the home of Mrs. John Nelson Jr. in Mill Valley.

The regent, Mrs. Bruno L. Ercolini of Fairfax, will preside. Constitution Week will be highlighted with a reading by Mrs. Cecil E. Miller of Mill Valley.

Mrs. Edwin Thomas, vice regent and permanent hostess of the chapter, will be assisted in serving luncheon by Mesdames Vera H. Harlan of Sausalito, Leslie Stanley of Mill Valley, Herbert Pratt of San Rafael and Robert E. Munter of San Anselmo.

St. Sebastian's Club To Open Season At Tea

St. Sebastian's Women's Club will open the fall season on Sept. 26 with a membership tea to be held from 1 to 3 o'clock in the Greenbrae parish hall.

The event will afford newcomers to the community an opportunity to get acquainted with the group. The Rev. Harry Leonard is pastor of the church.

Mrs. Mel Riccardi is chairman for the tea. Committee members include the Mesdames Monty Ambinder, William Fleckles, David Sullivan, James Dreier and Victor Donati.

Lusey-Masters Rite Held In San Anselmo

The Rev. Paul Buckholtz was the officiating minister for the Saturday wedding of Beverly Masters of San Rafael and Michael K. Lusey of San Carlos at the First Presbyterian Church in San Anselmo.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert R. Masters of San Rafael.

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride wore a gown of white organza which extended into a chapel train.

Preceding the bride to the altar in orchid silk sheaths with nylon tulle overskirts were Barbara Buck Davis of Novato, as maid of honor, and bridesmaids, Cindy Lusey, the bridegroom's sister of San Carlos and Mrs. Raymond Caumet of San Mateo.

Morris Feibusch of San Francisco acted as best man and ushers were Raymond Caumet of San Mateo and William Harwood of San Francisco.

The bride was graduated from Sir Francis Drake High School and San Francisco State College.

The bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Lusey of San Carlos, was graduated from Carlmont High School and San Francisco State College. He is employed at the Federal Reserve Bank in San Francisco. Patrick Lusey of San Carlos is his brother.

The newlyweds will make their home in San Francisco.

Your Baby Needs Love And Security Create A Friendly World For Him

The world is strange, to a tiny baby. Shall we look at life through your new baby's eyes?

At first he was frightened. Through long months in the dark comfort of the womb he grew without awareness. There was no pain or discomfort. Then birth started. He didn't know what was happening. But he could feel pressure, and sense fear. The torture lasted for hours. His head was squeezed out of shape. His body was twisted. No wonder he greeted independent existence with wails of dismay and anger.

Now birth is over, and he is learning. He has to eat for himself. Sucking comes naturally, but the refinements of nursing don't. It takes time to learn. Breathing is new, although nature takes care of that. Feeling clothes upon his skin is new. Feeling temperature changes is new. Feeling hunger is new. Seeing light is new. Hearing sounds is new. Having bowel movements and urinating are new. Everything is strange and different.

Your tiny baby isn't rational. He can't reason things out. But he has his emotions. He knows fear. He senses his helplessness. He needs comfort, love and security. He needs to learn that after all the world is a fine, friendly place. He should not have to learn that it is hostile and dangerous. His lifelong personality is being patterned by what he learns.

Want to help your tiny baby? Then be his slave. Feed him when he's hungry. Let him sleep when he's sleepy. Hold and cuddle him when he wants companionship. Nurse him, if

Marin MAGAZINE
Bright reading for the whole week
Featured this Saturday:
As a boy in Montana George E. Holmboe fell in love with the forests. It was not surprising, then, that he chose a career with the federal and California forestry and parks services. And that he is happy today at his job as supervisor of Mt. Tamalpais State Park. Independent-Journal reporter Maybelle Speckman has written about George Holmboe for tomorrow's Marin Magazine.
It may seem strange that one of the most peaceful and scenic drives in all Marin is the one that takes you to the three coastal military installations—Forts Baker, Barry, and Cronkhite. But the Marin Magazine's popular "See Marvelous Marin" series so advises you tomorrow. And urges you to make that drive and enjoy the magnificent views and interesting sights along the way.
Terra Linda's Del Ganado Park, operated by the Terra Linda Recreation District, has attracted widespread interest as an example of how a well-organized program can make intensified use of a limited area. Marin Magazine editor Don Keown describes the facilities and programs for you in tomorrow's issue. And I-J photographer Robert Hax has provided pictures of the program in operation.

When this hand came along in a rubber bridge game in Bayside, N. Y., Dick Hinkle thought the defense all the way through. Not being a mind reader, he started with a waiting trump lead.

SOUTH WON

South won in his hand, led another trump to dummy, and then finessed the queen of spades to West's king.

Hinkle now had to find the right defense.

Nothing could be done unless East had the ace of clubs or diamonds. The first problem was which to play East for.

Since only five diamonds were missing, Hinkle saw that getting three diamond tricks would be quite difficult.

His partner would need the ten of diamonds as well as the ace, and even that might not help if East had too many diamonds.

CLUB ACE

Hinkle saw that defeat was far more likely if East had the ace of clubs. There were all sorts of distributions which made it possible for the defenders to get two clubs and one diamond.

The important thing was to get the two club tricks before one of them disappeared.

Hinkle therefore led the king of clubs from his hand.

ANOTHER CLUB

When this won, he could lead another club to East's ace and wait for a diamond trick to come his way.

West could not defeat the contract by leading a lower club first. East would have to win with the ace of clubs. If East then returned a club to the king, West would be endplayed; any further lead from the West hand would cost a trick.

And if East switched to a diamond instead of returning a club, South would step up with the ace of diamonds and run the spades to discard a club from dummy.

ALMANAC

Today is Friday, Sept. 7, the 250th day of 1962 with 115 to follow.

The moon is in its first quarter.

The morning stars are Mars and Jupiter.

The evening stars are Jupiter, Saturn and Venus.

On this day in history:

In 1813, the nickname Uncle Sam was coined by a writer for the Troy, (N.Y.) Post.

In 1822, Spain granted Brazil independence.

In 1940, the Nazis started the London blitz to terrorize the British public.

A thought for the day: W. Somerset Maugham said: "People ask you for criticism, but they only want praise."

SERVING ALL OF MARIN COUNTY
19 EDITORIAL PAGE Friday, Sept. 7, 1962 San Rafael, Calif.

TODAY'S EDITORIAL

T. J. DeLasaux Should Have Lived To See Rapid Transit

Thorpe J. DeLasaux should have lived to see rapid transit become a reality, even though it would not at first have reached Marin County.

For more than a quarter of a century he had worked and dreamed of improved transportation for the county. No man for inaction, he had led a fight more than 20 years ago which resulted in Mill Valley passing a bond issue which could have resulted in its going into direct competion with Greyhound Lines for the area's commuter business. Greyhound service improved.

One of the saddest days of his life was when he was forced to lead Marin County out of the Bay Area Rapid Tranit District because of inability of the trains to cross the Golden Gate Bridge.

He had been a tireless worker for the transit district. When he was appointed a director in 1957, as the district was being organized, he promised "barring sickness, I will not miss a meeting."

Barring sickness, he didn't. But in the Fall of 1960 he had his first heart seizure and missed a number of meetings.

But even before his friends thought he should, he was back at work representing both the idea of rapid transit and the needs of the transit district in blunt, outspoken English that all could understand.

So we are particularly dispirited that he did not live to see rapid transit a reality.

But there is much more than that. Coming to Marin County as a boy at the time of the earthquake in 1906, he in reality grew up with the county. And he was an active participant in its growth.

Besides his transportation interests, he operated a downtown grocery store, which he eventually converted into a liquor store, and was a friend to literally thousands of Mill Valleyans and Marinites. He was elected to the City Council and served meritoriously there until he resigned to accept the transit district appointment.

His friendly attitude, his crisp, chopped speech and his broad smile were welcome in hundreds of homes and businesses around Marin. He'll be missed by us all.

FORTUNE WILLED TO STRAY CATS

A man with a soft spot in his heart for alley cats left $103,600 in his will for the building and maintenance of a home in England for strays.

For years before he died, the unusual benefactor had made it a hobby to cruise through London's alleys in a chauffeur-driven limousine looking for homeless cats.

He always kept one of them on the seat beside him and occasionally boarded others in luxury hotel rooms.

In his will, the 71-year-old man left a life pension of $1.40 a week for the last stray cat he befriended, a ragged alley fighter named "Smoky."

In a wide variety of ways, man reveals his inner compulsion to go beyond self-interest and show a practical solicitude for those who are in trouble.

God wishes us to show a reasonable concern for all His creatures, including stray cats. But He desires that we show an even greater solicitude for human beings in need.

"Now that your obedience to charity has purified your souls for a brotherly love that is sincere, love one another heartily and intensely." (1 Peter 1:22)

Deepen in me, O divine Redeemer, a love for those who are neglected or unjustly persecuted.

Hello Pencils! Hello Books! But Average Teacher Glum, Not Sassy

NEW YORK (AP) — "Hello pencils, hello books! Hello teacher's sassy looks!"

But as millions of American kids throng back to overcrowded schoolrooms this month, the average teacher feels glum rather than sassy.

Her problem seems to get more monumental every year, and at times seems hopeless.

Teachers are, by any test, as dedicated a class as any in the nation. It is widely recognized they are underpaid for the work they do and the hours they spend at their duties.

But even if by some budgetary magic their pay were doubled it would by no means solve one of their major woes, which is that the community more and more depends on them to exercise the functions of parent as well as those of teacher.

"It wouldn't be so bad if we could concentrate simply on teaching them their ABC's," said one teacher I know. "But much of our time is taken up teaching them things they should learn at home."

The modern generation of parents is acutely aware of its responsibilities to its children. It enthrones the child in the family hierarchy, and makes due obeisance to his importance.

In fact some critics hold—and probably rightly so—that we tend to make the child too important in the wrong way. The little monsters have taken over authority in the family and rule it with an iron whimsy.

Many parents frankly don't know how to face up to the responsibilities of dealing with their children. For fear of eternally scarring their little ids and egos, they have let them get entirely out of hand. They are helpless before the tyrannical wills of their progeny.

So what happens? They tend more and more to abdicate their own responsibilities as parents and turn the problem over to the schools.

Ideally, home is where a child should get his discipline, school where he should get his learning.

But, as every teacher knows, home is merely where many children get their sleep and two meals a day. The school has the job not only of teaching them reading, writing and arithmetic.

IT HAS TO teach them morality, good behavior, neatness, courtesy, respect for their elders, cleanliness—and even how to brush their teeth.

Too often the teacher is no longer merely a teacher. She has to become a foster mother and foster father to many of her charges—roles she is not paid to perform, and hasn't the time to perform fully, no matter how wide and affectionate her heart.

"SOMETIMES I think the wrong persons come to school," said one teacher.

"It might help if for the first month the parents came to class instead of the children. If we could instruct the parents what their job is, then perhaps we could get back to our job—teaching."

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

The Indepedent-Journal is to be commended for Richard Lyttle's article in the issue of Sept. 1, telling of the frustrations of a Negro couple in their search for an apartment in San Rafael.

Realtors and apartment owners seem slow to realize that property rights simply do not include the "right" of racial discrimination.

Calling attention to these examples of social injustice should have the two-fold effect of stimulating the consciences of real estate owners and agents, and also reminding the rest of us, including our legislators, that fair housing practices must be ensured in our democracy.

Sure, Library Needs Money

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

One Loren MacArthur recently wrote about Marin County Libraries.

Al Smith said "Let's look at the record." I say, let's check the facts, at least so far as the Fairfax Library is concerned. I have been using it for some eight or nine years.

(Miss) MacArthur was correct in one statement, namely the lighting is abominable.

For the 9 to 5 workers, this library is open from 7 to 9 on Tuesdays and Thursdays. It is also open until 6 on Thursday evenings. When I commuted to San Francisco, I was unable to get books as it was very inconvenient for me to go downtown for the evening hours. I discussed this with Mrs. Keating by phone and she arranged to have this branch stay open until 6 one night a week.

As for mysteries, shades of Edgar Allen Poe and Wilkie Collins! There are about two selves of these books, old and new.

There are three sets of shelves of current books, novels among which I have been delighted to find Wibberly's wonderful fantasies. There is a section of new biographies anad another of travel; also of politics, geography (Harold Gilliam) not read by all, but of interest to the reader of a wide range of subjects. Of course, the new books do not cover the range of Paul Elder's bookshop.

Giggling students! Should we envy their few light-hearted years so much we object to their giggling in a library! Let's be proud our Fairfax librarians have so interested the young fry that they eagerly gather in the library, for surely the boy or girl who discovers the fascination of books, and finds a place to look at them, take them home and read them, does not often become delinquent.

I am grateful to our Fairfax librarians for their interest in mentioning books I should like to read, they believe; for their checking the main and branch libraries to procure a book I have asked for; for their help in getting new books the reviews of which have interested me. They borrow books from the State Library for one, or if it is something very technical they know where it might be found. Their service is helpful and cheerful.

Our Fairfax Library should be open full time, undoubtedly. It deserves more space and good lighting. The librarian should have a decent modern desk and not have to work with the handicap of a beat-up old drop center typewriter desk.

For the small cost per year, any reader should be glad to pay a use fee of $5, or per family per year, to secure more books and have less congested space, and better service. This is a little less than one cent a day, less than the cost of a few after-work drinks. Could one cent buy more?

Come on, (Miss) MacArthur, it is easy to tear down, particularly with half accurate statements. If browsing and books truly mean much to you, put up or—well you finish the remark.

REMEMBER WHEN

10 YEARS AGO

A delegation of citizens appeared before Marin County supervisors "to show there is widespread interest" in the idea of constructing a county civic center.

20 YEARS AGO

Three hundred patriotic students of Tamalpais High School were frustrated in a voluntary effort to save the Napa tomato crop. Word came that unseasonable rains had spoiled most of the crop before the students could go.

TRY AND STOP ME

BENNETT CERF

John Wheeler tells of a harmless, and funny practical joke sportswriter Bill Phelon play once on a fellow scribe. The scribe was sauntering up Broadway one day when he met Phelon walking down. They exchanged cordial greeting, and then Phelon, after walking down another block, boarded a trolley bound north. After several blocks he dismounted and started back again.

Of course, he met his pal again and called out a cheery, "Hi, how are ya?" as though he hadn't seen him in months. The friend stared as though he was seeing a ghost. Not satisfied yet, Phelon staged a repeat performance of his act. The third time the scribe saw Phelon strolling toward him, he called a cab and had himself driven to Bellevue Hospital, where he vowed he would never touch another drop.

Brooks Atkinson, headed for Florida by rail, fretted when his train stood stock still in the Washington station, finally asked the dining car steward if he knew the cause of the delay. Turned out the steward had a rough idea. "It seems sir," he explained, "that we are missing an engine."

Some Day We'll Clear All Natural Poisons In Favor Of Man-Made

Oysters are back in good health at Drakes Bay, and for this we should all be glad.

But, when the oysters got sick (and in due time made a family of oyster-eating humans sick) it was, in an odd way, rather reassuring.

Not that poisoned oysters are cause for celebration. But the fact that the oysters were poisoned from natural, rather than artificial, circumstances is nowadays a remarkable event.

ACCORDING TO people at the State Health Department and the University of California, the poison came from plankton, which has a right to be in the ocean just as much as an oyster, according to the ways of nature's world anyway.

This is a refreshing departure from the poisoning that is regularly distributed by hydrogen bombs and agricultural chemicals. It's amazing that the oysters got their dose of poison from a comparatively innocent phenomena like plankton rather than from DDT.

THERE'S EXTRA comfort also in knowing the oysters got straight, unadulterated plankton poison only because of the clean, unpolluted waters of Drakes Bay and Tomales Bay.

If the bays has been spoiled by sewage, the poisonous protozoans swimming in the plankton wouldn't have survived. Biologists and planktologists says the poison in the so-called seasonal "red tide" plankton is thwarted by the poisonous refuse which usually ends up in bays.

This offers an interesting choice. Either we can pollute the bay, repel the plankton and harvest edible oysters. Or we can have a clean bay and take the chance of swallowing a poisoned appetizer.

There's no doubt, it seems to me, as to which is preferable. It's not often we get the chance to combat nature on its own terms. If poisoned oysters mean unpolluted waters, it's a chance worth taking.

We're more likely in danger of being smothered to death by the alleged comforts of life than being poisoned by some tiny organism wandering the ocean.

WHEN OUR game is finished, it seems more fitting to lose organically to some mollusk from the sea than choke on a nuclear by-product. We should welcome the opportunity.

Before long the chemical combines will probably find a way, in their ceaseless endeavor to replace natural poisons with artificial ones, to deny us poisonous plankton. If calculated pollution doesn't do the trick, no doubt an anti-algae fluid will be spread upon the ocean.

THEN WE CAN get sick on good, clean man-made compounds rather than some microscopic sea animal. Soon the bee will have no sting, the snake no venom and the oysters no poison. With these hazards out of the way, we'll all be better subjects for radiation.

Even now, I wonder whether the red tide could have rolled in from an atomic explosion on some Pacific island. Maybe we've already been cheated.

Schools Need More Money; From Where?

By ROBERT FAIRBANKS

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — California's two candidates for superintendent of public instruction, Ralph Richardson and Max Rafferty, stand far apart on the question of federal aid to education.

But they agree that the burden of school support must be lightened for local property taxpayers.

Following are their answers to questions submitted by United Press International.

1. Do you believe that the schools need more money? If so, what changes would you make in school financing?

RAFFERTY — Yes. As long as California's pupil population continues to mushroom, more schools and more teachers will be needed. We need to persuade the state legislators to contribute at least 50 per cent of the money needed to operate public education. They were contributing this in 1950.

Today, the percentage of state support is something like 38 per cent. This erosion in state support has had to be made good by the local district, specifically by the real property taxpayer. The only alternative to this is for the state to make available to the local districts sources of revenue other than the real property tax.

RICHARDSON—The major difficulty in public school financing today is the dependence a district must place upon local property taxation. This source of revenue is rapidly reaching its limit. Over the past several years, there has been a gradual yet constant diminution of state monies in ratio to local funds for the support of schools.

This trend must be reversed and it is the responsibility of the state superintendent of public instruction to work effectively with the legislature and the administration to seek to win increased financing from the revenue sources available to the state.

I will support legislation or a necessary constitutional amendment to permit approval of local bond issues by a 60 per cent affirmative vote. (The current requirements is two-thirds.)

2. Do you support federal aid to education, either for teachers' salaries or construction?

RAFFERTY—I am opposed to the generalized type of federal aid legislation presented to the last several sessions of Congress on the grounds it would bring with it federal controls. It would also take out of California approximately $2 for every $1 returned in federal aid.

RICHARDSON — My own position is in agreement with that expressed by both of our United States senators and by a majority of the California members of the House of Representatives: That increased federal participation in the costs of public education is both inevitable and necessary.

I recognize that there is, and should be, concern that federal aid not lead to federal domination or distortion of the curriculum. Granted this, it is still my belief that further federal monies must be made available to supplement local effort.

And in my judgment, federal funds, if made available, should be used as local discretion indicates, whether for the general operating budget or for new construction.

I would like to bring your attention to a suggestion I have consistently made. I am hopeful that Congress may approve legislation which will permit local school districts to retain a portion of the income tax those districts have withheld from payrolls, acting as collecting agents for the Internal Revenue Service.

In practice, this suggestion would allow a stretching of local property tax funds.

In the proposal, to be sure, Congress would need to consider factors of equality of effort among the states and factors of additional need.

(Tomorrow — Teachers' salaries, school district unification and the superintendent's job.)

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Bone Infections Not As Bad As Before Penicillin Found

VAN DELLEN

Bone infections (osteomyelitis) are not as serious as they were prior to the discovery of penicillin. Nowadays, most victims are spared long periods of hospitalization and fewer are left with disfiguring scars resulting from mutilating operations. Improvements in technique also have helped prevent recurrences.

Infection in the center of a bone is a painful condition because the causative micro-organisms form pus that creates considerable tension. The hard bone cannot bulge out like the elastic skin and the purulent material spreads, leading to an extensive infection.

THE ANTIBIOTICS help temporarily but more permanent results follow opening the cavity to permit drainage and allow broken off pieces of infected bone (sequestrum) to escape. In addition, the surgeon cleans out the infected parts in the same way a dentist treats a cavity. The devitalized and infected fragments of bone must be taken out.

Now and then infection returns for various reasons. In some instances, infection subsides but the dead space in the bone fails to fill up. The body does not tolerate these cavities and a second operation must be done to fill these spaces with fat, muscle, or a bone graft.

IN OTHERS, the scar tissue that remains after the infection subsides is so extensive, it is a hazard rather than a blessing. The blood supply to this type of tissue is limited and a slight injury might be just enough to start a recurrence. The scarred area must be removed and covered with a skin graft.

Second and third attacks also occur because of a residual infection in the skin or the bone where the germs smolder for months or years. Small bits of bone may continue to break off because of poor circulation. They may absorb but recurrence is likely when they fester like a sliver.

THESE POSSIBILITIES are mentioned to demonstrate that it takes more than an antibiotic to heal an established osteomyelitis. Some of the best antibiotics are too toxic to be used for any length of time.

According to a recent report, some physicians blocked up the exit veins going from the infected bone. They then injected large amounts of antibiotics into the isolated area. This concentrated attack helped a few but was not entirely satisfactory.

Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self - addressed envelope accompanies request.

DISEASES AND DISORDERS

J. Z. writes: Is there any difference between a disease and a disorder?

REPLY

Diseases are called disorders but not all disorders are called diseases. For example, a business or household disorder is not a disease.

SEDATIVE OVERDOSE

Mrs. D. writes: Is there any permanent harm done to a child of 5 who was given an overdose of sedative?

REPLY

No, not if the child regains consciousness.

MONGOLOIDS

P. H. writes: Are there any tests to determine if a new born is a mongoloid baby?

REPLY

The child usually has a mongoloid appearance with a stubby nose, flexible joints, and broad hands and feet.

OLDFANGLED REMEDY

B.G. writes: Will taking ¼ teaspoon of Epsom salts in a glass of water every day help arthritis?

REPLY

I doubt if it would have any effect. This remedy was popular decades ago.

PERITONITIS REMEDIES

S. M. writes: Do the mycin drugs cure peritonitis?

REPLY

The mycins and other antibiotics are used in the treatment of this condition.

2 Exchange Students Going To Tam High

Tamalpais High School has two American Field Service exchange students this fall — Christiane Stepp, 16, from Bochum, Germany, and Carlos Barletta, 17, from Buenos Aires, Argentina.

Miss Stepp, nicknamed Kitty, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hans Stepp. Her father is a lawyer, her mother an opera singer.

She resides with her adopted family, Mr. and Mrs. Mathew P. Dillingham of 3 Rose Avenue, Mill Valley. Her adopted sister is Judy Dillingham, 17, who also attends Tamalpais. Both girls are seniors. The Dillinghams' son, Reed, a student at the University of California, was an exchange student under the Experiment in International Living program to Mexico two years ago.

Miss Stepp has studied English six years and has a knowledge of German, Latin and French. She is studying U.S. history, public speaking and trigonometry besides taking choir at Tamalpais.

Her father is conductor of the Rhineland Psalz Orchestra at Ludwigshafen and was once conductor of the chamber orchestra of Munich.

She plans to become an interpreter. Flying to California from New York, she said her impression of America was "It's awfully big."

Barletta, 17, is staying with Lt. Col. and Mrs. Mark E. Cory of 7 Robertson Terrace, Mill Valley. His adopted brother is Gregory Cory, 17. Both are seniors. Another Cory son, Mark Jr., is studying in Germany.

The Argentine youth is son of Mr. and Mrs. Armando Barletta. His father is a pilot with Aerolineas Argentinas and often flies to the U.S. Young Barletta has twice before visited the United States but to the eastern seaboard only. He is studying U.S. history, American democracy, English, bacteriology and typewriting. Barletta has plans to go into medicine.

Cosmetic Firm Sued: $15,000

A Novato woman has filed a suit for $15,000 damages against a cosmetic company because skin lotions allegedly poisoned her skin.

Janice de La Fontaine, 1301 Kaehler Street, Novato, field the suit in Marin Superior Court against Avon Products, Inc.

She complains that her face and neck became infected after she applied several lotions and creams manufactured by the Avon firm. She states in the suit that the company alleged its products would be harmless to skin and complexion.

Janitor's Trial Set For Sept. 17

A jury trial in U.S. District Court was set Wednesday for Sept. 17 for a San Francisco janitor accused of stealing $12 from the Wells Fargo Bank in Mill Valley.

Samuel George Thompson appeared in federal court in San Francisco, pleaded not guilty and demanded a jury trial. His bail was reduced from $1,000 to $500, but he was still in custody of the U.S. marshal until be can post it.

Thompson was arrested Aug. 27 by Mill Valley police after it was discovered that $12 was missing from the cash drawer at the bank where Thompson had been cleaning up.

There's a BIG Difference Between Just ANY Apartment
And the All-new
220 CANAL
Waterfront Apartment Homes
THESE Were Created Expressly for the Desires of the Discriminating

Refinements include:

Lots of living room, your own private docking facilities, full insulation and soundproofing. Floor to ceiling drapes for magnificent marine and Marin view windows. Ample storage room with two garages if you need them. All wool wall to wall carpets, all electric kitchens, separate dining rooms, dressing rooms and, of course, walk-in closets and built-in bar. A pleasant feature—INDIVIDUAL GARDENS—for those who'd like to "ply the green thumb." The lovely pool is designed for your relaxation and fun.

Nothing has been spared to make these luxury apartment homes everything you'd expect for truly gracious carefree living.

"It's the best program of the summer, but that's about all you can say for it."

Nurse Class Continuing At Hospital

San Rafael General Hospital is continuing its re-orientation program for registered nurses who have been out of the field and wish to return, an administration spokesman said today.

Designed to help relieve the critical shortage of nurses in the county, the program consists of two or three weeks of supervised work in the hospital. Nurses taking the course are assigned to general patient care, emergency duty and the central supply department. They learn about new medications, treatments and equipment.

Mrs. Patricia Leonard, director of nursing, who is in charge of the program, said that the course has been given for several years and has prepared numerous nurses to return to their field. They are now doing general hospital duty, private duty, and working in doctors' offices.

Applicants for the program may contact Mrs. Leonard at San Rafael General. It is the only hospital in the county giving the course, and there is no charge.

On Television Show

Mrs. John Wolfe, a director of the Marin Symphony Guild, will be a guest on the KRON-TV show "Community Circle" Saturday at 2:30 p.m. on Channel 4. Lee Noble, program host for the show, will discuss plans for the symphony with Mrs. Wolfe.

Language Courses For Adults Told

Courses in Russian, Spanish and French will be given during the fall semester of the Tamalpais adult evening school, Principal Harry G. Russell announced today.

The courses stress the conversational approach and make use of language laboratories.

Spanish, taught by Michael A. Lopez, will be given on Tuesdays, 7:30 to 9:30, at Drake. The Russian class, at the same time on Thursdays at Drake, will be taught by Mrs. Tatiana V. Davidoff. French is scheduled for Mondays, 7:30 to 9:30, at Tam with Paul A. Schwarzbart instructing.

The term "Whirling Dervish" refers to a worldwide Moslem religious order devoted to religious music and song.

MARIN FILM FARE

Powerful Drama Opening Sunday

By LESLIE DARD

Here's a quick look at the weekend's film fare on Marin County screens:

RAFAEL THEATER

A penetrating lesson in international morality comes dramatically to the screen in "Judgment at Nuremburg," opening Sunday. Powerful, provacative and yet highly entertaining, it is the bitter story of top Nazi judges on trial for assisting the criminal government of Germany.

Stanley Kramer, director and producer, asks audiences to sit in judgment of all Germans, and especially those who passively allowed horrors to mount in the name of their rising nation.

Kramer selected a cast of great talent, headed by Spencer Tracy as the Yankee judge. Maxmillian Schell appears in his Academy Award role as the defense attorney, Richard Widmark as Army prosecutor.

Burt Lancaster turns in what is surely one of his finest performances as the leading Nazi judge who acknowledges his guilt. Judy Garland is superb as a frightened Nazi victim. Montgomery Clift and Marlene Dietrich are excellent in major roles.

The legal summations are landmarks in flim-making. A stirring picture every American should see.

SEQUOIA THEATER

"Hatari," opening Sunday, is a happy blend of adventure and comedy starring John Wayne, Red Buttons and Elsa Martinelli.

Hartari is the Swahili word for danger — and danger you get in the exciting life of the men who hunt animals in Tanganyika for the world's zoos.

The picture involves one exciting animal hunt after another strung together by a thin but amusing plot in which—naturally—Wayne gets the girl.

Even before the film's titles go on screen, we're off on a breathtaking pursuit of a rhino—flirting with death in jeep and truck. Next come giraffes, ostriches, leopards, monkeys, buffalo and elephants.

An excellent film with thrills for all ages.

TAMALPAIS AND 101 DRIVE-IN

The real-life story of Brig. Gen. Frank Merrill and his World War II exploits behind Japanese lines in Burma is told with a no-nonsense approach in "Merrill's Marauders," opening Sunday.

The late Jeff Chandler is seen in his last role as the fighting general, and he does an unforgettable job of it.

The picture tells how Merrill with 3,000 volunteers crossed Japanese lines in 1944 and spent five months clearing the enemy out of 5,000 square miles of territory.

The picture is a steady stream of small victories and long marches, and in between the equally deadly battle against tropical diseases which decimated Merrill's forces.

TIBURON PLAYHOUSE

"Experiment in Terror," now showing, stars Lee Remick in this movie filmed in Marin and San Francisco.

Miss Remick plays a teller at a downtown bank who lives atop Twin Peaks with her pretty younger sister, Stephanie Power. The girl's terror begins when she is seized in her garage by a maniac who demands she take $100,000 from the bank and bring it to him.

Despite his psychopatic warning, the girl goes to the FBI. Glenn Ford takes up a chase.

Startling sequences and thrills throughout. Recommended.

Co-feature is "Picnic," starring William Holden.

NOVATO THEATER

Cary Grant and Doris Day turn the battle of the sexes into a tug-of-war in "That Touch of Mink," which opens Sunday.

Cary plays a multi-millionaire bachelor. His Rolls Royce splashes mud on working girl Doris. Cary tries to make amends, winds up chasing the comely blonde. The chase moves out of the Automat and unemployment bureau, into Cary's private jet plane and finally to a plush hotel suite in Bermuda. Still the chase goes on, getting steadily wackier.

Gig Young and Audrey Meadows share the frivolity.

MOTOR MOVIES

Lillian Hellman's play "The Children's Hour"—a shocker in its day—comes to the screen with power and honesty under direction of William Wyler. It opens Sunday.

The play was Miss Hellman's indictment of the big lie. Specifically it is the story of how a little girl's psychopathic scheming destroys the lives of two teachers.

The women are ostracized, lose friends and careers. One loses her fiance, the other commits suicide.

Shirley MacLaine and Audrey Hepburn are outstanding as the teachers. Fay Bainter and James Garner have important roles, as does Miriam Hopkins.

Co-featured is "Walk on the Wild Side," a lurid look at New Orleans starring Laurence Harvey, Capuchine, Anne Baxter and Jane Fonda.

An adult bill.

FAIRFAX THEATER

"One Summer of Happiness" is an exceedingly frank film. It tells of a young couple, Goran (Fold Sundquist) and Kerstin (Ulla Jacobsson), in the woods near the edge of a lake.

For adults only.

LARK THEATER

"The Bridge," an outstanding West German picture which drives home the horror and cruel waste of war, stays with us another week.

Set in the crumbling last days of the Third Reich, it relates how seven 16-year-old boys are drafted and with one day's training left to face an American onslaught. They foolishly but valiantly fight to hold a useless bridge, and in the process bring destruction to their village and themselves.

Hot Corte Madera Sanitary Race

Only Two Openings On Board

A former planning commission chairman, a neighborhood leader and an incumbent are competing for two posts on the board of the dispute-ridden Corte Madera Sanitary District in next Tuesday's election.

The former planner is John R. Adlard, 51, quality control specialist for a San Francisco milk company.

The neighborhood leader is John P. Seymour, 29, president of the Marin Estates Homeowners Assn. and journeyman electrican for a San Francisco contracting firm.

The incumbent is 63-year-old Herbert Ira Vernet, now winding up a four-year term on the board. Vernet, former chairman, is a retired Coast Guard lieutenant commander, an ordinance expert, who now is the rangemaster of the Marin County Sheriff's and San Rafael Police pistol range.

The post of chairman Ralph Giovanniello also is open but he is not running. He said pressure of his job as San Jose School District superintendent is forcing him to step down.

JOHN P. SEYMOUR

HERBERT IRA VERNET

JOHN R. ADLARD

Adlard served the planning commission nine years and is a former chairman widely known for his painstaking decisions.

Adlard says he is seeking the post because of pleas by residents "who have been disturbed over publicity about the district, particularly the fuss over the land purchase."

Adlard refers to the $30,000 parcel on Paradise Drive that the district board hoped to use for a pumping station only to be balked by the town planners and council.

For a time last spring the district "disallowed" new sewer connections in retaliation for the commission and council action. Sewer hookups were "reallowed" after citizens jammed the tiny district office at 500 Tamalpais Drive, Corte Madera.

Backers of Adlard have printed 1,600 brochures to be distributed door to door by volunteers giving his platform:

"If elected I pledge maturity in conduct of the affairs of the district including public relations; cooperation and coordination with the town in public works projects affecting both governing bodies; and observance of both the spirit and the letter of the state planning law."

Adlard has lived in the county since 1947.

JOHN P. SEYMOUR

Seymour has lived east of Highway 101 for about three years and he successfully ran for president of the homeowners association last spring after a dispute over a sign at the entrance of Marin Estates.

Some residents did not like a sign picked by the association's directors.

After his election Seymour had nine suggested signs displayed in the tract and conducted an all-day election with free beer for voters. The sign receiving the most votes was chosen and the dispute was happily ended.

Seymour is also active in the Corte Madera Lions Club.

Seymour says:

"I think instead of yes men, they need men of solid judgment on the board. I have heard the directors discuss things after the public meetings. I think all matters should be discussed at the public meetings."

(A poll of the three out of five incumbent directors who were available drew denials that there had been non-public meetings.)

HERBERT IRA VERNET

Vernet has lived in the county since 1945 when he and his wife moved west from Boston. He retired from the Coast Guard in 1949 after 35 years' service.

Vernet denies complaints by some citizens that the board lacks unity. "The unity of the board is all right," he says. He gives Giovanniello credit for this.

But Vernet agrees with Adlard on one thing. He grumbles: "There's been too much publicity about the district."

Vernet says that while he is not making any special campaign for re-election he is still interested in continuing his services to the board.

Vernet indicates he has had disputes with Adlard over the years but insists he bears him no animosity.

"If I go back on the board, there might be some changes," says Vernet. He gave no details.

Trial Decision Due In Murder Of Army Wife

Whether Sgt. Ruben Ernest Rudolph, accused of the May murder of his wife, should be tried by a military or civilian court will be decided at a court will be decided at a court hearing in San Francisco at 10 a.m. Sept. 14.

Rudolph has been held in the San Francisco County Jail since June after being charged with the murder. The body of German-born Liesolotte Rudolph was discovered May 20 dumped beside a lonely road in the Fort Barry military reservation in South Marin.

Rudolph's attorney, George T. Davis, has filed a habeas corpus petition with the San Francisco Federal District Court arguing that Rudolph should be tried by a military court martial instead of in a civilian court. The Army investigated the murder, appointed military counsel for Rudolph and therefore should have exclusive jurisdiction over him, Davis maintained.

The hearing will be heard in Room 244 of the district court before Judge Alfonso Zirpoli.

Marin Appraisers Will Host Meeting

Golden Gate Chapter 66, Society of Residential Appraisers, will hold its annual Marin County dinner meeting Wednesday, Sept. 12, at Sabella's Restaurant, Mill Valley.

Edward P. Morphy, San Rafael appraiser and chairman of the program, said the group is hosted each year in September by some 15 to 20 Marin County members. He said the Golden Gate Chapter comprises 180 independent appraisers, government agency and lending institution appraisers from San Jose to Eureka. He anticipates 80 to 100 members will attend the meeting.

Guest speaker of the evening will be Dan Coleman of Dan Coleman Associates, San Francisco whose topic will be "Land Uses as Recognized and Employed by Prudent Purchasers and Developers." Coleman has been associated with such Marin projects as Marin Bay, the new San Marin community in North Marin, San Geronimo Valley and the master road plan for the City of San Rafael.

Morphy will be assisted by appraisers David Cohn, David Callahan, L. Puccinelli and James McConnell in conducting the program.

2 Marin Youths Enlist In Navy

Robert J. Droesch, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles G. Droesch of 8 Jefferson Avenue, San Rafael, and Ronald D. Hamm, son of Mr. and Mrs. David W. Hamm of 63 Magnolia Avenue, San Anselmo, enlisted in the Navy Monday.

Both were sent from the San Rafael recruiting office to 10 weeks of recruit training at the Naval Training Center, San Diego.

Marin Parks, Rec Commission Revises Plans

Members of the Marin County Parks and Recreation Commission revised plans for the coming fiscal year at a meeting Wednesday which was their first since county supervisors enlarged their budget during recent final consideration.

Mrs. Helen Newman, commission chairman, said later that work has started on preparation of a "job description" for the new full-time director of parks and recreation finally allowed by the supervisors after last-minute appeal from the refusal given during preliminary budget consideration.

Main project for the year, the commission agreed, will be the improvement of the new Paradise Park, formerly part of the net depot on the Tiburon Peninsula. A caretaker is to be employed sometime soon, it is hoped.

Tiburon Firemen

Tiburon volunteer firemen decided Wednesday to purchase a large cylinder of oxygen to serve as a spare when the resusctator is in use on calls. Firemen also discussed plans for the annual dance to be held at the Corinthian Yacht Club on Oct. 20 and a picnic on Sept. 23, with the location undetermined as yet.

Giampoli To Run Against Chief Chiesa

San Rafael Police Inspector Nick Giampoli, 39, announced today that he will run against Chief Charles J. Chiesa, 50, in the city election next April 8 if no action is taken before then to make it an appointive office.

"I believe in good law enforcement," Giampoli said. "I feel that things aren't shipshape in the San Rafael department."

Chief Chiesa, who said that he had heard rumors that Giampoli might run, countered that "things are in tip-top shape." He said the inspector has offered no suggestions "that I can remember."

Chief Chiesa said the operation and morale of his department has improved greatly since an examination and report on it by Monterey Police Chief Charles Simpson last June. Among Simpson's recommendations was one that the post of chief should be made appointive rather than elective.

Giampoli, a member of the department for 16 years, said he firmly believes the post should be appointive. Chiesa, a 23-year veteran of the department, said the decision on that matter should be made by the people. He will make no recommendation on it.

Changing the $800 a month job to an appointive post would require an amendment of the city charter. The city council could put such a measure on the ballot next April.

Chief Chiesa was elected in April, 1959, defeating veteran Chief Frank Kelly. Chiesa, a lieutenant at the time, said he resigned from the department two months prior to the election. He said Giampoli should do the same thing if he runs.

"A man can't be loyal to the man he's running against," Chiesa said. However, if Giampoli should stay at his $687-a-month job during the campaign, the chief promised that he would not hamper the inspector's political efforts.

WORRY OVER BERLIN, CUBA

JFK Asks Reserve Callup Power

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President John F. Kennedy today asked Congress for authority to order up to 150,000 members of the ready reserve of the armed forces to active duty because of the tense international situation, including Berlin and Cuba.

Specifically, Kennedy asked for the authority to call the reservists to active duty during the period between Congressional adjournment expected within the next few weeks and next February 28, about two months after the new session of Congress convenes.

The chief executive's request was contained in the draft of a bill sent to the House and Senate in the early afternoon shortly before Kennedy departed for Newport, R.I., to spend the weekend with his family.

In August last year, faced with an earlier Berlin crisis, Kennedy asked and received authority to call 250,000 reservists. The White House pointed ou today that since last August, however, the Army has established two new regular divisions and added to the strength of other services.

Press secretary Pierre Salinger declined to relate the president's request specifically to either Berlin or Cuba. But he said it stemmed from the critical nature of the international situation."

He also disclosed that the president discussed the reserve proposal last Tuesday with the Congressional leaders of both parties who were called to the White House primarily to discuss the build-up of Russian arms and men in Cuba.

The proposed bill contained these provisions:

The reservists would be called to active duty for a period of no more than 12 months;

No member of the ready reserves involuntarily ordered to active duty last August would be called up under the new law.

Kennedy could authorize the defense secretary, at least until next Feb. 28, to extend any enlistments, appointments, periods of active duty, obligated service or other military statur expiring before Feb. 28.

Hill, Waterfront Battle Line Set In Sanitary Race

By BRUCE COLEMAN

Clear-cut lines were drawn today in the hill vs. waterfront skirmish of six candidates for three vacancies on the board of the Sausalito-Marin City Sanitary District. The election is next Tuesday.

First "shot" was fired in the contest by the Sausalito Citizens Council, which distributed a report to its members and friends from the board of directors.

Signed by President Carl W. Gabrielson, the board urges members to vote for candidates Stanley Cowen, Cyril G. Hansen and Frederic Palmer III, all hill dwellers.

It suggests no votes for Alexis Tellis and Dean Jennings, who live on vessels on the waterfront, and for James F. Doyle, who lives on land but on the flat.

"The board of directors considers that Cowen, Hansen and Palmer are the best qualified to give the district good leadership and to serve the interest of those whose taxes and fees support it," the letter reads.

Doyle, it states, who served as head operator and maintenance man for the district at the treatment plant, has a broad grasp of technical problems. Regardless, the letter continues, "it does not seem sensible or good business that he should now become a member of the board to advise and instruct the manager who replaced him or to handle the financial problems of the district.

"Jennings and Tellis live in the houseboat - ferryboat - ark complex at Waldo Point near the new location of Juanita's Gallery. They represent a small

Colonel, Son, 8, Tied, Gagged By Two Masked Men

A Hamilton Air Force Base colonel and his 8-year-old son were bound and gagged by two masked intruders —one armed with a sawed-off shotgun—in their Novato home last night.

The affair appeared to be a case of mistaken identity.

Although the house was ransacked, apparently nothing was stolen, Novato police reported.

Lt. Col. William James Olsen, 46, of the communications and electronics division of the 28th Air Division, and his son Billy, returned to their home at 1811 Novato Boulevard about 9 p. m. They had eaten out because Mrs. Olsen is away on vacation.

They entered through a back door, Colonel Olsen told police. As they stepped into the kitchen, Olsen noticed at once that it was in disorder.

"Somebody's been here," he said to his son.

LEVELS GUN

A man wearing a light cloth mask stepped from behind a door, with a sawed-off shotgun leveled at the colonel.

"Someone is here," he said.

He was joined at once by a second man, similarly masked, carrying a crowbar.

The gun wielder asked Olsen if he were Gordon Andersen. Olsen assured him he was not. The gunman then demanded if it were not Andersen's house. Olsen replied Andersen had moved from the home last December.

RENTING HOUSE

(Gordon Andersen is owner of Andersen Chevrolet in downtown Novato. He moved to another Novato home last December, with Olsen renting his former home.

(Novato police theorized the holdup pair intended to take Andersen as hostage and perhaps force him to open the safe at the auto agency.)

Olsen said the pair forced

Man Shot By Police Is Indicted

Jerald A. Bredahl, 30, victim of police bullets in Fairfax last July, was indicted last night by Marin County grand jurors for assault with a deadly weapon.

The indictment remained secret until Bredahl was booked in the county jail shortly before noon today.

Bredahl, owner of a service station in Fairfax, was wounded by Fairfax police officers after he had gone berserk, attempted to run over his wife with his station wagon and then tried to run down Police Sgt. Charles Grasso and Officer Lee Perry.

The grand jury absolved the two police officers of any wrongdoing after hearing evidence at its Aug. 16 meeting.

But after further study last night, the jury decided to charge Bredahl with assault with a deadly weapon—his car being the deadly weapon. Evidence in the case was presented to jurors by Asst. Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales.

Bredahl was arrested this morning by Fairfax police at the home of his parents in San Francisco. He was held in jail in lieu of $2,500 bail and ordered to appear in Marin Superior Court Tuesday at 10 a.m.

The grand jury heard several committee reports last night but took no action. The next regular meeting of the jury will be Sept. 20.

SOBLEN REPORTED TO BE NEAR DEATH

LONDON (AP) — Dr. Robert A. Soblen's heart was reported flagging today and doctors said the bail-jumping spy was near death.

As Soblen's heart grew weaker, his wife, Dr. Dina Soble, who put up her life savings to meet almost half the $100,000 bail he forfeited when he fled to Israel, arrived by plane. She visited at his bedside.

Before she left New York Dr. Soble issued a statement in which she said her husband was not guilty of spying for Russia and defended his flight to Israel as an attempt to prove his innocence.

Soblen remained unconscious more than 30 hours after he knocked himself out with an overdose of barbiturates in a move to avoid life imprisonment in the United States.

A bulletin issued by Hillingdon Hospital at 4:15 p.m. said: "Dr. Soblen's condition is unchanged. He is still unconscious."

The psychiatrist, 61, was rushed to the hospital yesterday after taking a heavy concentration of barbiturates. This caused his collapse into a coma in the ambulance which had been transporting him to London Airport for deportation to the United States.

Two security guards kept close watch over the fugitive as he lay in his drug-induced sleep.

"We can't make any new arrangements for his transport until we know when he is going to be released," a Home Office spokesman said.

W. Berlin Mayor To See Marinites

West Berlin Mayor Willy Brandt will personally welcome a Marin flying delegation, headed for Russia, on its arrival in his city Sept. 19, Mayor John F. McInnis of San Rafael announced today.

The San Rafael mayor will lead the three-week tour of 22 Marin business and professional men.

McInnis said he wrote Mayor Brandt of plans of the Marin delegation to visit West Berlin, and received in response a telegram informing him Brandt is arranging an official reception at the West Berlin airport, to be followed by a tour of the west half of the divided city. The Marinites also will be guests of West Berlin officials at the opera.

The touring group will visit East Berlin the following day, flying from there to Moscow for two weeks in Russia.

The three-week tour was organized at the invitations of the USSR and Hungarian chambers of commerce.

First overseas stop will be Brussels, where U. S. Ambassador Arthur MacArthur will discuss the European Common Market with the Marin visitors.

In Russia, stops will include Moscow, Leningrad and Kiev. The men will explore Budapest before returning to Paris, where five of the group will depart for extensive tours of Europe. The remainder will return to Marin Oct. 7.

Gordon Iseman, owner of Budds Travel and Tours in San Rafael, said the final tour list includes, besides himself and Mayor McInnis:

Joseph Saccone of San Rafael, secretary-treasurer of United Markets; Samuel W. Gardiner and William O. Weisich, San Rafael attorneys; Dr. Edward Healey of San Anselmo and Dr. Duval B. Jaros of Greenbrae; Dr. Russell Bernhard of San Rafael, director of Marin General Hospital; Dr.

Disputed Private Tax Bill Passes

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate passed today 75-4 the long-disputed bill to permit self-employed persons to set up tax-deductible private pension funds, but only after loading it down with amendments.

This was the first time the legislation, which had been opposed by both the Eisenhower and Kennedy administrations, ever cleared the Senate. It has passed the House three times previously.

The Senate put in a number of amendments unacceptable to backers of the bill. Supporters were hopeful these could be dropped or toned down in the conference with the House which passed the bill last year.

There is expectation among some members of Congress that President John F. Kennedy will veto the bill.

Arrest Made In $2,766 Store Theft

Fairfax police yesterday arrested Michael Dennis Maloney, 20, of 78 Wreden Avenue, Fairfax, for allegedly taking $2,766.12 in cash and checks early Sunday from the Lucky Store at 720 Center Boulevard, where he was stock crew supervisor.

All but $26, which he reportedly spent, was recovered by police.

The checks, totaling $1,655.12, were found Monday evening in a mail box in El Cerrito, Contra Costa County. The cash, $1,085 of it, was found under a wash stand of Malone's home, where he lives with his wife and three-month-old baby.

Officer William Dooley said Maloney admitted taking the money from the office desk. It had been left there inadvertently instead of being deposited in the vault Saturday evening.

Dooley reported Maloney said he thought of returning all the money by dropping it in the mail box, but he decided against this and kept the cash.

Maloney was jailed in lieu of $1,050 bail. He was to be arraigned in Marin Municipal Court this afternoon.

Sausalito Auctions Off Pumps, War II Helmets

The city of Sausalito became $110 richer today with a public auction of used swivel chairs, World War II air raid helmets, a typewriter and a number of bilge pumps.

The money will go into the city's general fund, according to city manager Charles A. Brown, who was auctioneer.

Among the two dozen people who attended was Charles Lazzaro of Colma, who said, "I got a good buy on a bilge pump at $1." He keeps his boat at Sausalito.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard De Lew of Corte Madera who call themselves "auction hounds," bought a bent wood chair, a helmet which cost a quarter and which can be used as a planter and a sterling silver spoon for $1.

Other buyers included George Robertson of Mil Valley who bought a swivel chair and two ironing board pads, and Kim Schwarcz, 12, of Sausalito who was auctioned "for free" a live tabby cat. Brown explained the cat had strayed to his house about a week ago.

Biggest buyer was Neil Davis

JFK-Backed N.Y. Candidate Wins

NEW YORK (UPI)—Veteran Congressman Charles A. Buckley, carrying a presidential endorsement, squeaked through to victory in yesterday's primary election over a reform candidate backed by Mayor Robert Wagner of New York City.

Charles Buckley

The 72-year-old Bronx Democrat—perennial holder of the worst attendance record in Congress and labeled a "boss" by Wagner and the reformers—defeated David Levy 20,158 to 17,218 to win renomination in the 23rd Congressional District.

At his Bronx office, Buckley said, "This is definitely my last time to run for office. Forty-six years of public service is enough. This was my closest fight" He said he bore no grude against Wagner.

Disarm Talks Begin Recess

GENEVA (AP)—The 17-nation disarmament conference begins a two-month recess today after six months of discussion that produced a wordy preamble to a general disarmament treaty and no apparent progress toward agreement on anything else.

Western diplomats said the 80 conference sessions appeared to prove that the Soviet Union is firmly determined to strengthen its army and its nuclear arsenal to back up its constant cold war pressure on the West.

Even a nuclear test ban agreement—the only disarmament measure some hoped could be achieved in Geneva—appeared as remote as ever.

Rusk-Gromyko Berlin Debate?

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Officials said today that Secretary of State Dean Rusk expects to discuss the Berlin issue with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko in sideline talks during the United Nations General Assembly meeting in New York.

The discussions may shed some light on the question of whether Russia is preparing new moves to try to throttle the Allies in West Berlin or is merely seeking to keep the propaganda pot boiling for domestic and international political reasons.

Mariner Progress

PASADENA (UPI)—America's Mariner 2 neared the two-million-mile mark today on its spectacular 180-million-mile trip to Venus.

The historic space vehicle reached a point 1,839,971 miles from earth at midnight traveling at a speed of 6,623 miles an hour. It was expected to be two million miles away late today or early tomorrow.

Honored At Fair

SACRAMENTO (AP) — This nation's armed forces were honored today as the California State Fair neared the end of a 12-day run.

Winners of the Congressional Medal of Honor and officials of military bases in the Sacramento area were to be honored at a luncheon at the fair grounds.

Attendance remained above last year's with 67,018 passing through the turnstiles yesterday, compared to 62,906 on the same day last year.

A. F. Aids Iran

GAZVIN, Iran (UPI) — U.S. Air Force helicopters today airlifted teams of specially trained Army medics into isolated areas near this earthquake-ravaged city.

The Air Force crews joined about 200 Army men who have set up a 100-bed field hospital here. The medics hope to ferry out seriously injured victims of the quakes, worst in Iran's recorded history.

The helicopter teams, trained in reaching rugged disaster areas, will carry supplies to areas unreachable by foot or truck. They will try to bring out as many of the injured as possible for treatment at the field hospital and others in the area.

Most Seneca Indians live on the Allegany and Cattaraugus reservations in New York.

Linda Darnell Sues

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Actress Linda Darnell says her airline pilot husband is unfaithful, cruel and an habitual drunkard.

She filed a suit for separate maintenance yesterday saying Merle R. Robertson, 44, had admitted to her that he is the father of a child expected by Vera Violetta Gregovic, a Yugoslavian actress.

Her action was a cross-complaint to Robertson's suit for divorce three weeks ago, in which he charged Miss Darnell, 39, of cruelty and excessive use of alcohol. They were married in 1957.

French Arrest Five

PARIS (AP) — French police have arrested five persons and are seeking six more in connection with the attempt to assassinate President Charles de Gaulle Aug. 22, informed sources said today.

Dutch Troop Pullout

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI) —Acting Secretary General Thant announced yesterday that all Dutch troops would be withdrawn from Dutch West New Guinea by Nov. 15 and would be replaced by Pakistani troops of the United Nations security force.

He said the Pakistani force would arrive on the island sometime this month.

Sputnik IV Probe

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (UPI)—Scientists ran a series of tests today on a 20-pound chunk of jagged metal to determine whether it was part of the Russian satellite Sputnik IV.

The hunk of metal was found on a Manitowoc, Wis. street Wednesday and flown here.

Soviet Firing On U.S. Sedan Soft-Pedaled

BERLIN (AP) — American authorities today soft-pedaled the Soviet firing on a U.S. Army sedan in East Germany.

Soviet soldiers fired about 40 shots at a U.S. car that got too close to a Red military train Tuesday. Only one shot hit the car, and no one was hurt.

U.S. officers concealed the affair but it leaked out last night. The Army in Germany still had issued no official information today, although the State Department released a sketchy account in Washington.

Army spokesmen said they could not confirm reports that Col. Ernest von Pawel, head of the U.S. liaison mission with the Soviet forces in East Germany, would make a protest to Gen. Ivan Yakubovsky, the Soviet commander in East Germany.

The car was an olive-drab sedan of the liaison mission stationed at Potsdam, a suburb in East Germany southwest of Berlin. Two U.S. officers in it were touring nearby areas of East Germany.

A well-informed source said the two officers encountered a Soviet train at a grade crossing. Soviet soldiers apparently recognized the car's big yellow license plates and opened fire.

Although the source admitted the officers had been observing the train, he insisted they were not in a restricted area and were fully within their rights. The source called the Soviet shooting irresponsible.

Estes 'Favored Treatment'

WASHINGTON (AP) — N. Battle Hales, a stormy figure in the Agriculture Department, testified today his superiors gave Billy Sol Estes "extremely favored treatment."

Hales, who has been employed by the department for 21 years, told the Senate Investigations subcommittee in prepared testimony that department officials still are unwilling to take needed precautions against abuses.

Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman, Undersecretary Charles S. Murphy and Horace D. Godfrey, farm aid administrator, all have sworn that Estes never received favors from their agency.

The Senate group is trying to determine whether influence in government circles helped Estes build his boom-to-bust empire on government cotton and grain programs.

Yesterday Estes' lawyer, John Dennison, testified he had a long distance telephone chat with Rep. J. T. Rutherford (D-Tex.) the day after Estes was arrested.

He said he discussed the case with Rutherford — "it was the biggest news item in town"—but had not realized their conversation lasted 51 minutes.

"We had quite a lot to talk about," said Dennison.

Dennison told about the telephone conversation after Sen. Karl E. Mundt (R-S.D.) advised him that telephone records showed 16 long distance telephone calls between Dennison and Rutherford in a year.

The Pecos, Tex., promoter was arrested March 29 on federal fraud charges, accused of selling mortgages on non-existent fertilizer tanks. He is awaiting trial on this charge and a state charge of theft.

Hales repeated under oath today substantially the same allegations he voiced against superiors at a news conference May 4.

He said he was forced to appear at the news conference without being allowed time for adequate preparation in a "most blatant effort to discredit my testimony."

No Cotton Duty Hike

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Tariff Commission has ruled against an increase in the duties on cotton textiles imported into the United States.

The decision, announced yesterday, was reached on a 3-2 vote. The ruling displeased President John F. Kennedy and U.S. textile manufacturers and was hailed by Japanese exporters.

Kennedy said in a statement he will propose legislation early next session to solve "the inequity of the two-price system of cotton." And, the president said, he is asking the Agriculture Department to come up with a domestic program to eliminate the two-price system.

MACHINE SOLOMON IS FAST 'THINKER'

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP)—Westinghouse Electric Corporation announced today it is developing a computer system that will operate 15 to 250 times faster than any conventional computer now on the market.

The system is called simultaneous operation linked ordinal modular network (Solomon).

Dr. D. L. Slotnick, project manager and originator of the Solomon, said the computer concept "was developed to overcome the difficulty of obtaining increased speed which plagues conventional computers."

Westinghouse said Solomon has 1,024 processing elements which operate simultaneously to calculate, store, transmit and receive data from their four nearest neighbors. The computer has automatic component failure location, which will enable the operator to find and correct failures rapidly.

The computer could be used, the firm said, in solving problems involving differential equations in controlling traffic at airports and forecasting weather.

The work at the firm's air arm division here is being done under a contract awarded by the Air Force System Command's Air Development Laboratory at Ft. Monmouth, N.J.

U.C. Extension Signups Told

Enrollment information is available in the Berkeley or San Francisco offices of the University of California Extension on courses in social psychology and modern philosophy to be offered in Marin County.

The philosophy course will begin Sept. 17 at 7:30 p.m. in Room 2 of the College of Marin library, Kentfield. C. Franklin Kelley is the lecturer for this course.

Classes for the psychology course will meet at 7 p.m. Tuesdays, in Room Q-6 of the College of Marin, starting Sept. 18. The course will be taught by Morton J. Keston, assistant professor of psychology at San Francisco State College.

Confirmation Classes

Confirmation classes for seventh and eighth graders at Peace Lutheran Church in Mill Valley will begin at 9:30 a.m. tomorrow, Rev. Harold G. Johnson, pastor, announced today. The sessions run from 9:30 to 11 a.m.

EMPLOYMENT REACHES PEAK IN CALIFORNIA

SACRAMENTO (AP)—Boosted by more jobs in every major industry, civilian employment in California rose to its highest total in history last month.

At the same time, unemployment continued to decline.

That was the report yesterday of John F. Henning, director of the Department of Industrial Relations and Employment Director Irving Perluss.

There were 6,442,000 persons employed in civilian jobs in August, 82,000 more than the month before and 222,000 more than August, 1961.

It was the third month that civilian employment has broken all previous records.

Perluss said unemployment was 356,000, down 28,000 from July and 63,000 from August, 1961.

The jobless rate was 5.2 per cent of the labor force compared with 5.7 per cent in July and 6.3 per cent in August, 1961.

Pilarcitos Lake, a part of the San Francisco water department properties in San Mateo County, has a capacity of 1.01 billion gallons.

Connecticut Towns Highest In Income

NEW YORK (UPI) — Families in Stamford, Conn. have the highest average income in the United States, the Institute of Life Insurance reported yesterday.

The average annual income of Stamford households is $8,745, a study by the institute showed. Close behind in the ranking of America's most affluent cities was another Connecticut municipality, Norwalk.

Stamford and Norwalk, which are within the New York City commuting area, pushed the former high-income center —Washington, D.C.—down to third place from its top listing after the 1950 census. The Institute study was based on 1960 census figures.

The average Washington family income is $7,577, the institute said.

South Bend, Ind., which placed behind Washington in 1950, was missing in the latest count of the upper 20. Other cities overtaken and knocked out of the top group were Columbus, Toledo and Dayton, Ohio; Detroit, Flint, and Lansing, Mich.; Minneapolis-St. Paul; Racine, Wis.; and Rockford, Ill.

New arrivals in the top 20 were the Newark and Paterson-Clifton-Passiac metropolitan areas of New Jersey; Rochester- N. Y.; Reno and Las Vegas, Nev.; Los Angeles and San Jose, Calif.; Kenosha, Wis.; Waterbury, Conn., and Midland, Tex. Midland is the center of an oil-rich area.

While Los Angeles, San Francisco and Chicago were among the top 20, no other major cities were in the group.

New Assessment District Approved

A resolution introduced by Supervisor Peter Behr and unanimously approved yesterday overruled protests against formation of the long-debated Rock Hill Assessment District above Hawthorne Terrace on the Tiburon Peninsula.

The board then adopted a group of six other resolutions submitted by Edwin N. Ness, special bond counsel, which authorized agreement with the Marin Municipal Water District and dealt with various phases of adopting engineer's reports and cost estimates.

Total amount to be assessed will be $200,135.71 including earthwork, drainage, sewers, streets and other items.

Now our dichondra lawn is beautiful and weedfree—thanks to BONUS®

Similar success can be yours—and with so little effort

WE WISH you could read Scotts mail! So many letters are from people who had battled unsuccessfully with weeds and despaired of ever having a good lawn in California. W.T.J. of San Lorenzo says "It was a hard fight until I discovered Bonus." And Mrs. G.E.H. delights us by starting her letter "Dear Friend! Since using wonderful Bonus for dichondra, how could we address you coldly as Dear Sir, or Gentlemen?"

Success—after many failures

Writing from Downey, California, Mr. J.J.Q. says "Grasses and weeds had almost taken over. Then we used our first Bonus for Dichondra. Now it is the other way around." In Long Beach, Mr. D.D. says "Just applied second application of your new Bonus and have really received compliments on our dichondra lawn."

Many professionals depend on Bonus now. And California's own magazine says "We have seen the product's effectiveness in a number of home garden test plots in Arcadia, Pasadena, and Sacramento. For those tests, the manufacturer sought out dichondra lawns that appeared hopelessly gone to dichondra weeds and applied the treatment. One and two years later, treated portions were almost 100 per cent dichondra, whereas the untreated check areas looked as bad as ever."

Double duty—weed and feed

Right now is the time to apply Bonus. It controls chickweed, oxalis, clover and annual bluegrass as it fertilizes the dichondra to thicker, greener growth. You see, new BONUS FOR DICHONDRA feeds as it weeds. And it takes you less than half an hour with a Scotts Spreader to walk it on the average lawn.

Actually you won't be risking a nickel. For as any Scotts dealer will tell you, you must be absolutely satisfied with results or you get your money back . . . . . promptly and without question.

Death Wish Might Be Thwarted

Condemned killer Melvin T. Darling's wish for an early death in the San Quentin Prison gas chamber may be thwarted by a petition filed by his own attorney.

Darling, 29, convicted of the Oakland slaying last Oct. 22 of Alex A. Malcomson III, 36, a grandson of one of Henry Ford's original backers, asked that his execution date be move up from Oct. 1 to Sept. 24.

But yesterday, in the hearing on a petition on this request, Darling's attorney, Marcel B. Poche, told San Francisco Superior Court Judge Gerald S. Levin, that he is going to ask Gov. Edmund G. Brown for a clemency hearing.

Poche said he will bring up the question of the killer's sanity at that hearing. The hearing, usually granted automatically when requested by a condemned man's attorney, could result in commutation of sentence to life imprisonment.

Lagunitas Residents Level Yard At School

Ten Lagunitas residents gave up their Labor Day weekend to level the five-acre Lagunitas School play yard a job that had waited for years because the district was never able to find the $5,000 it was expected to cost.

John Keilty, trustee on the Lagunitas School District, finally got tired of waiting. He found nine men and one woman willing to volunteer their labor and machinery.

Board members heard a report this week that the job was finished. Equipment was loaned by June Knight. Men helping on the project included Keilty, Dean De La Montanya, James Craddock, Robert Borrello, Fred Horner, Ernest Tanzi, Dale Terman, S. H. Cervantes Jr. and Tony Nunes Jr.

The board was informed by Supt. Clifford L. Frye that a "new mathematics" program for Lagunitas School has been approved for matching funds under the National Defense Education Act.

Enrollment in the district at school opening was reported as 421—more than double the 203 of last year.

Jury Selection Goes Into Third Day At Slaying Trial

Attempts to seat a jury for the murder trial of two San Quentin Prison convicts continued for the third day today in Marin Superior Court.

Judge Thomas F. Keating called for 120 more prospective jurors yesterday after challenges by lawyers for defense and prosecution used up two-thirds of the original list of 150 potential jurors called Wednesday.

Alfred J. Jimenez, 25, and Robert B. Dorado, 26, both of Los Angeles, are accused of the assault and murder of a fellow convict, Abel A. Navarez, 26, last Dec. 12.

Public Defender Peter Allen Smith said he doubted whether a jury would be selected until late today.

Dist. Atty. Roger P. Garety said it is not unusual to call for extra jurors in a case where the death penalty may be involved. If convicted, the San Quentin prisoners could be subject to execution.

The question of capital punishment has been the major issue in selection of 12 jurors from the nearly 270 men and women called so far.

him and Billy to lie on the floor. The father's hands and feet were tied with three-inch adhesive tape. His mouth was covered with a piece of tape. The son was bound and gagged with strips torn from one of his own T-shirts.

Olsen said the gunman kept prodding him with the shotgun. The man with the crowbar, whom Olsen described as mild-mannered, warned his companion that the gun was loaded. Finally, he took the shotgun from the other man.

The two methodically searched the entire house, Olsen said. When they finished, they told Olsen they were going to their car and "would phone authorities in about half an hour." They warned him not to free himself.

Neither father nor son heard a car drive away. But as soon as the men left, the two began to work on their bonds. The son was first to free himself. He telephoned police about 9:30 p.m.

Olsen said the men were dressed alike—in tan pants, tan or gray jackets, flat hats. Both wore the light cloth masks. One was about five feet eight inches tall and of slight build, he said; the other about five feet 10 inches and of medium build.

Admission Day —Schools Out

Students at Marin's public schools, who started classes Tuesday and Wednesday, will have a holiday already on Monday.

All public schools will close Monday in observance of Admission Day, anniversary of California's admission to the Union, although the actual anniversary date is Sunday.

Monday will also be observed as a holiday by state, county and city offices. Parking meters also will observe the holiday.

Change Is Stolen From News Racks

Change from newspaper racks at Highway 101 bus stops in Terra Linda and Marinwood was stolen sometime yesterday by someone uho used a pair of bolt cutters to cut locks on the racks, Marin sheriff's deputies reported.

Thomas H. Gamble of 2105 Fifth Avenue, San Rafael, newspaper vendor, told deputies each rack contained about $7 to $10 in change.

Marin Medic Society Tells Nominations

Dr. Calvin Plumhof, Kentfield pathologist, was nominated last night for president-elect of the Marin Medical Society. The president-elect automatically becomes president the following year.

Dr. Plumhoff, who has served as society secretary, headed a slate of nominees presented to the society at its first meeting of the fall. Dr. C. Ray Leininger, San Rafael pediatrician and present president-elect, who becomes president in January, headed the nominating committee.

Other nominees are:

For secretary: Dr. John McGee, Ross surgeon.

For directors (three to be elected): Dr. William G. Magladry, San Rafael surgeon, Mr. Paul L. Kingsley, Ross general practitioner; Dr. John H. Manwaring, Ross pathologist; Dr. John F. Erlwein, Larkspur general practitioner; Dr. T. Scott Strathairn, Larkspur surgeon; Dr. Robert L. Mills, Ross plastic surgeon.

For delegate to the California Medical Assn. (two to be elected): C. West, Corte Madera ear, nose and throat specialist; Dr. J. W. Culmer, Sausalito general practitioner.

For alternate delegates to the CMA (two to be elected): Dr. Elmer A. Weden Jr., San Anselmo surgeon; Dr. Gerald Hill, San Rafael pediatrician; Dr. James M. Stubblebine, Mill Valley psychiatrist; Dr. M. Alden Van Pelt, San Rafael surgeon.

The election will be held at the society's next meeting, Oct. 4, with additional nominations permitted from the floor or in written form prior to the election.

Society members heard a report from Dr. Eugene P. Shatkin, chairmaning the K.O. Polio campaign which has scheduled the first county-wide dosage of Sabin oral vaccine Sept. 23.

Dr. Joseph J. Arons, president of the society, presided at last night's meeting, which was preceded by the society's annual cocktail party.

Soviets Calling Up All 19-Year-Olds

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Soviet Union today ordered all youths born in 1943 to report for military service. At the same time, it transferred into the reserve all servicemen who have served their mandatory periods of training.

The official Soviet Tass news agency said Defense Minister Marshal Rodion Malinovsky "ordered the transfer to the reserve from the Soviet Army, Navy, frontier guard forces and troops of the interior, soldiers, sailors, sergeants and non-coms who have completed the fixed term of conscription."

It added that "citizens born in 1943 are being called up simultaneously with this."

Films Tomorrow At Marin City

Two movies will be shown tomorrow at 1 p.m. at the Marin City Gymnasium in a series of Saturday movies being sponsored by the Marin City Community Services District's recreation program.

They are "Panhandle," a western starring Rod Cameron and Cathy Downs, and "The Trail Blazers."

Other activities under the program include boxing instruction on Thursday evenings and organized games for girls only at 7 p.m. on Tuesdays, according to Harry Bailey, general manager.

segment of our population where sanitation has been badly needed for a long time and where such facilities should be put in without further delay. It would seem strange indeed if candidates from such an area should be elected to manage the whole sanitary district."

The letter also states that the board has sought to extend sanitary facilities to its entire area. "Particularly slow progress has been made along our waterfront where residents and property owners persistently resist complying with sanitary requirements," it continues.

Tellis had this comeback:

"Within the Sausalito-Marin City Sanitary District there are 1,000 yachts and 100 houseboats on the waterfront. There are many additional underwater blocks suitable for yacht and houseboat harbors. Creatively conceived, sanitary facilities must be developed to serve these boats. Otherwise the blocks will be filled in and housing will replace the boats.

"No facilities have been provided by the district to date. It will take aggressive leadership from qualified executives who understand the problems involved to get the job done.

"Dean Jennings and I have already made a strong start and as directors of the district we can see the job through. We understand and are interested in all problems of the district but we do have a special interest. It is to keep the Sausalito waterfront right where it is and not let it be moved four blocks out into the bay."

Doyle said his only comment was that "the man that is operating the plant (William Dabner) was the man I put on the job in the first place. At present we're the best of friends."

Going off the board are Loren L. Jay, chairman; Bernard J. Gratama, and J. Herbert Madden. Serving two more years are Frank I. Lawson and John J. Gallas.

"This is an off-season and an unusual election," the Citizens Council letter concluded. "Get out and vote."

OBITUARIES

Vet Quentin Guard Dennis Coughlin Dies

Dennis James Coughlin, a 35-year veteran guard service at San Quentin Prison where he earned the informal title of most respected officer in the institution, died quietly while asleep at his Novato home yesterday afternoon. He was 69.

"Dan Coughlin was probably the most highly respected man that ever walked the yard at San Quentin," wrote Capt. C. G. Hocker in an article commemorating Coughlin's retirement last year.

Six years after joining the guard on March 3, 1926, Coughlin became a lieutenant. He served in that capacity until his retirement April 28, 1961. Since that time he had lived quietly at his home at 1135 Elm Drive, Novato.

The Rosary will be recited at 8 p.m. Sunday at the Harry M. Williams mortuary in San Rafael. A Requiem High Mass will be celebrated at 9:30 a.m. Monday in St. Anselm's Church in San Anselmo. Burial will be in Holy Cross Cemetery, Colma.

Born in Boston, Mass., Coughlin received his education there and during his early years engaged in various businesses before coming to California 40 years ago. He became a life member of the Knights of Columbus while in Boston.

His San Quentin service was marked by interest in recreation and particularly athletics from the beginning. Gradually be became known as the father of the prison's whole recreation program, so when the athletic field was dedicated, it was named after the beloved "loot" whose profile was cast in bronze by inmates and mounted it on a pedestal adjacent to the field.

In a day of prison crisis in 1939 when a handful of officers confronted 5,600 sullen inmates backed against the East Block where they had been gathered all day on strike, in ugly mood.

As lock-up time approached, Captain Hocker recalls, "Dan Coughlin strode into the yard. He carried an ornamental cane about as big as my forefinger. It had been richly decorated by an inmate and the ferrule was made of brass.

"Dan turned and sauntered toward the northeast corner of the yard shed. He made a pass at the pavement with his cane, gestured with his arm, a wave with its meaning obvious—'lock up.'

"He repeated the move once—twice. The solid wall of human beings began to move, slowly at first. Then, gaining momentum, every inmate in the yard returned to his respective cell, locked up and counted.

"The revolt was broken. No other man alive on that day in that setting could have done what Dan Coughlin did."

Coughlin is survived by his wife, Kathleen May Coughlin, and by two daughters and a son, Mrs. Marjorie A. McAleer of Fresno, Mrs. Rowena M. Boland of Corte Madera, and John F. Coughlin of San Francisco, as well as one sister, Mary Ann Coughlin of Boston, and eight grandchildren.

He was a member of California State Employees Assn., Chapter 21, of the San Quentin Employees Mutual Benefit Assn., and of the Northern California Baseball Managers Assn., and was Pacific Coast field director of track and field of the American Amateur Athletic Union.

Safety Aide At Hamilton Dies At 39

James Merrill Gray Jr., 39, of 1126 Ferris Drive, Novato, a safety director at Hamilton Air Force Base since 1956, died yesterday afternoon of a cerebral hemorrhage.

Gray was addressing a safety meeting at the officer's club on the base when he collapsed. He was taken to Hamilton Air Force Base Hospital where his condition was diagnosed as a possible cerebral hemorrhage. He was taken by Air Force ambulance to Marin General Hospital, where he died an hour later.

An autopsy revealed the cause of death as a cerebral hemorrhage, reported Charles Johnson, deputy coroner.

Gray was born in Casper, Wyo., where he attended school. He moved to Reno, Nev., and Napa where he was employed at Mare Island Shipyard from 1941 to 1943. He was in the Army in 1943 and 1944, then returned to Mare Island where he was employed as a safety director until moving to Hamilton Air Force Base.

He is survived by his wife, Katherine Gray, and a son, James L .Gray, 17, at the home in Novato; a daughter, Kitty Gray of Washington, D.C.; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. James M. Gray of Napa, three brothers, Alton W. Black of Murray, Utah; Roy E. Gray of Napa, and Robert L. Gray of Stockton.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. tomorrow at Treadway and Wigger Funeral Chapel, Napa. Interment will be in Tulocay Cemetery, Napa.

Rafferty Narrowly Escapes Death As Auto Hits Cows

ALTURAS (AP)—Dr. Max Rafferty, candidate for state superintendent of public instruction at the November elections, narrowly escaped death last night when a speeding car hit a herd of cows.

Three cows in a herd of about 15 were killed.

Rafferty and four other persons escaped serious injury when the car swerved into a ditch and was demolished.

Rafferty, 45, of Lo Canada, said today that all five persons regarded themselves as lucky to have escaped death.

"We ran head on into the herd and three of about 15 cows were killed instantly," he said.

"They tell me that this is the first time in the history of this county that such an accident did not result in the death of a person.

"I was traveling with Dr. William Quinn, one of my campaign directors in Modoc County. He was driving and we were accompanied by his wife, Dorothy and another couple, Mr. and Mrs. Brunel Christiansen, residents of Likely, near Alturas.

"We were going to Cedarville, where I was to make a campaign address, and the car was moving in excess of 65 miles an hour.

"It was just at that time of night—about 8 o'clock—when twilight was turning into blackness.

"The herd of cows suddenly went across the road and it was impossible for us to avoid hitting them.

"We barrelled into them. Dr. Quinn handled the car magnificently.

"Had he not, all of us would have been killed. I am sure.

"The car swerved into a ditch, then turned violently broadside across the road.

"It did not turn over. We had to get out. One of us went about 100 yards up the road, the Cedarville Pass Highway—to warn approaching cars not to plow into our wreck.

"Another person went 100 yards up the road in the other direction.

"It was a lonely road and we waited perhaps 20 minutes before a highway maintenance truck arrived on the scene. It was equipped to pull our wrecked car to the side of the road and avoid another accident.

"We hitchhiked into Cedarville, where I gave my talk—an hour and a half late."

Fort Bragg Junior High Burns Down

FORT BRAGG (AP) — Fort Bragg's only junior high school —a rambling one story frame building accommodating 600 students—burned to the ground early today. Arson was suspected.

There was no immediate estimate of the loss to the 45-year-old building but officials said the replacement cost would amount to several hundred thousand dollars. Replacement insurance was carried on the destroyed building.

Fort Bragg is voting Tuesday on a 1.5-million-dollar school bond issue to finance badly needed expansion and improvements in its facilities. If the bond issue were approved, the school board had planned to abandon the junior high school and replace it.

All the community's schools were closed, because of today's fire, until next Tuesday.

Although there was no positive evidence of arson, fire officials called for an immediate investigation. They said the fire apparently broke out at more than one place in the "E" shaped building.

Johnson Calls On Pope, Praises World Council

VATICAN CITY (AP) —U.S. Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson called on Pope John XXIII today and afterward predicted great economic and social advances will result from the forthcoming Roman Catholic Worldwide council.

Johnson, on the final day of his six-nation, 15-day goodwill tour around the Mediterranean, spent 41 minutes alone with the 80-year-old ruler of the Roman Catholic Church.

Then the vice president's wife, Lady Bird, and 18-year-old daughter, Lynda Bird, joined in the unusually long audience, which lasted another eight minutes.

Only 20 minutes had been set aside on Johnson's program for the audience. It was clear Johnson and the Pope enjoyed their meeting.

"I had the great honor and privilege to be in the presence of His Holiness, and his wisdom and his knowledge, which is so extensive. I was listening and learning," Johnson said later.

"I was stimulated by the spiritual leadership I have just observed."

Referring to the worldwide Roman Catholic meeting opening in St. Peter's on Oct. 11, Johnson said: "From that meeting will flow great advances in the economic and social field."

Vatican sources said Johnson gave the Pope a message of greeting from President John F. Kennedy and the Pope, in return, gave Johnson a message for the president.

Woman Voters Meet Tuesday

Financing the printing of a pamphlet about Marin County government will be discussed by members of the League of Women Voters of Central Marin at a meeting 10 a.m. Tuesday at 16 Los Cerros Drive in Greenbrae.

Mrs. T. L. Rogers, finance chairman, said members will also organize the league's yearly fund-raising campaign, scheduled to kick off this year Sept. 17 and end Sept. 28.

"We recently finished printing a voting calendar for Marin County. Now we have the facts for our pamphlet, but we don't have the money to print it. We would like to have it ready for the opening of the new Civic Center in October. We're hoping to find some industrial group which will support it," Mrs. Rogers said.

Novatan Is Fined For Drunk Driving

Boise J. Barnett, 36, P.O. Box 247, Novato, was fined $166 and put on probation for six months yesterday in Marin Municipal Court for his first drunken driving offense.

He admitted driving while drunk last Sunday on Highway 101 near Novato. Judge Joseph G. Wilson also ordered Barnett to drive only for work during the next 90 days.

Love Wins Out: Ex-GI, Korean Girl Will Wed

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A quiet little Korean girl arrived last night from her homeland to marry the former serviceman who battled government red tape for months to get her here.

Song In Cha, 20, stepped off the airplane at International Airport, and a beaming William H. Mahoney, 24, remembered his Korean manners enough to give her an oriental bow.

Then he took a suitcase from the hand of the sloe-eyed brunette and told her he would carry it himself.

"That's the American custom," he said.

Mahoney said they would be married next week in his hometown of Riverside.

They met while he was in the Army in Korea. He tried to marry her before his discharge last year but was unsuccessful. He returned home and eventually was able to get nationwide attention when news media picked up the story.

The girl's passage was paid by a television show CBS' "Who in the World."

Nikita May Have Told Udall Views On New U-2 Incident

MOSCOW (UPI) — U.S. Secretary of the Interior Stewart Udall headed back to Moscow from the Black Sea today, possibly with a report on Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev's views on the U-2 incident.

Udall, who is in the Soviet Union for a 10-day tour of hydro-electric stations, was invited unexpectedly to Khrushchev's vacation retreat near the Black Sea resort of Sochi yesterday.

The news agency Tass said the two officials held a long conversation in a "friendly atmosphere" but gave no further details.

Western diplomats considered it virtually certain, however, that the Soviet leader made known his views on the alleged flight of an American U-2 reconnaissance plane over Sakhalin Island, on Russia's far eastern frontier, Aug. 30.

Nobody's perfect.

Even a Volkswagen runs into trouble now and then.

Usually in the form of a nail. Or a carburetor adjustment. Or maybe a new set of spark plugs.

But apart from minor headaches like these, you'll find your Volkswagen a remarkably trouble-free piece of machinery.

It's perfectly common for a Volkswagen owner to drive 75,000 miles without a major overhaul.

And many people get upwards of 40,000 miles on their original tires.

Seldom without a flat or two, though.

Let's face it. You can't always steer clear of mishaps.

Even in a Volkswagen.

THREE DAYS AT WRECKAGE

Parents Die, Girls Survive Crash

SAN BERNARDINO (AP) — On a pineclad mountain slope two little girls, one with an agonizing leg fracture, kept a days-long vigil near the bodies of their parents killed in an air crash.

Leaning against a tree trunk was the wreckage of their light plane, its tail in the air, its nose crumpled against the ground.

Inside the plane's cabin, strapped in the seat, was the crushed body of the girls' mother.

Outside, a few feet away, lay another body — their father.

Through three bone-chilling nights and three sun-scorched days, without food, without water, the girls stayed by the wreckage waiting for one of the many search planes they saw overhead to spot them.

At mid-morning yesterday help came.

Last night, in a bed at St. Bernadine Hospital, 6-year-old Julie Clark told her story.

"The plane went down real fast," she began. "Mommy and daddy didn't have a chance to say anything."

At Julie's side was her grandmother, Mrs. Scott King. Softly, with tears welling in her eyes, Mrs. King stroked Julie's blonde head, carefully avoiding the big black bruise near one eye.

Her tears were not so much for Julie as for her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. William Clark, who died on the mountainside, and for Julie's 8-year-old sister Laurie. Julie was suffering only from bumps, bruises and exposure.

William Clark was vice-president of Travelodge Motels Inc. Both he and his wife Jacqueline, daughter of the corporation's president, were 32 years of age.

Laurie, in another section of the hospital, was undergoing three hours of surgery to set a protruding bone in her left thigh.

"When the plane hit," Julie continued in the simple, direct way children have, "daddy and Laurie and me was thrown out. Mommy stayed in the plane."

Julie previously had said she knew her parents were dead because "they didn't move."

She said she helped Laurie sit up against a log.

"She was crying because her leg hurt. But after a while she quit crying.

"Laurie said I should go over to the plane and try and find some water. I looked all over because we always carried water but I couldn't find any. I couldn't find any food either.

"Then Laurie told me to look for something for us to keep warm with. I went back to the plane and found a suitcase. Mommy and daddy's clothes were in it. We put them on and huddled together to keep warm. We didn't get cold.

"Later Laurie said I should go up over the hill to get help. I got halfway up and got scared so I ran back. I didn't get scared again though."

Julie didn't know it but the youngsters were only 300 yards from a backwoods road above the wreckage. They could not see the road through the dense pines. Motorists on the road could not see them.

Julie told of watching search planes fly over the gully in which they crashed.

"But no one seemed to know we were there. When the helicopters came, Laurie said they would find us because they could land anywhere."

It was a helicopter, carrying pilot Don Landels and the girls' grandfather, Scott King, president of Travelodge Motels, Inc., that first spotted the wreckage among towering pines at the 7,900-foot level. Landels radioed ground parties, then, fearing for the emotional state of his passenger, flew King to nearby Big Bear Airport. He arrived back at the crash scene as the ground party reached there.

Landels said Julie got up from her sister's side and asked for water.

Recalling this Thursday night, Julie said "they didn't have any water but they gave me some coffee. They asked me if I was all right and I said I was. Then they gave Laurie some coffee. They gave me some fruit, too. I think they were grapes. They tasted good. They put some salve on my lips and made them feel better."

Praised for looking after her injured sister, Julie smiled and said: "We took care of each other. She took care of me, too, and told me what to do."

Were they afraid?

"Not so much. But we got awful hungry and thirsty."

'CADILLAC' SMITH WINS N.Y. PRIMARY

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—William T. (Cadillac) Smith, an avowed conservative, has won the Republican nomination for State Senate in the 49th District, defeating the incumbent, Harold A. Jerry, in yesterday's primary.

Smith, a Big Flats farmer, won headlines last year by boasting that he bought a Cadillac with government subsidies he received for not growing crops.

Republican nomination for office almost guarantees election. Jerry carried the district in 1960, 55,027 to 29,551 over his Democratic opponent.

Novato's First City Park May Be Cemetery

Novato's first city park might be a cemetery.

City Administrator J. Julien Baget told the parks and recreation commission he had many requests after Memorial Day to see if the Pioneer Cemetery on Simmons Lane could be improved. Baget said it might be possible to convert it into a "Pioneer Memorial Park" for the city.

Baget said that Gerald Gooch of Russell and Gooch Mortuary in Mill Valley was part owner of the cemetery, but that Gooch was not sure what his interest was in the property.

The property includes approximately four acres. Of this, only about one acre is used for cemetery, Baget said.

Six Masked White Men In Negro Woman Attack

DALLAS, Ga. (UPI)—Six white men were charged last night with assault with intent to murder and violation of Georgia's anti-mask law in connection with a gun battle at a Negro home that resulted in the death of a white man.

Mrs. Rebecca Wilson, a 21-year-old Negro woman, told newsmen she emptied a pistol at a gang of masked men who tried to break into her home Wednesday night.

Paulding County Sheriff Jerome Clay said Mrs. Wilson was being held temporarily in jail for her own protection. He said she would not be charged.

Authorities said the white men rapped on the door of the modest home of Mrs. Wilson's mother, saying they wanted "to sell a little politics and leave you a card."

Mrs. Wilson said she shouted she was not interested but one of the men wearing a nylon stocking mask jammed a gun into the door.

"It was just the idea of the masks I guess," Mrs. Wilson told newsmen. "I didn't know what I was shooting at . . . I think I fired five or six times."

Leroy Parks, 25, was killed instantly, a pistol bullet in his heart. Gene Ables, about 30, was wounded in the arm.

Pleads Guilty To Waving Gun

William P. Caulfield, 33, of South San Francisco pleaded guilty yesterday in Marin Municipal Court to charges of threatening another motorist with a gun while driving on Highway 101.

Caulfield was arrested July 29 by the California Highway Patrol after an Oakland motorist complained Caulfield waved a .38-caliber revolver at him while passing near Novato.

Judge Joseph G. Wilson asked for a probation report on Caulfield Oct. 4 at 3 p.m.

Novatan Missing Since Tuesday

An all points bulletin has been issued by Novato police for Alan L. Bradbury, 41, of 1090 Greenwood Drive, Novato, who has been missing since 8 a.m. Tuesday.

Bradbury was reported missing Wednesday afternoon by his wife, Mrs. Constance Bradbury. She told police that he left home about 8 a.m. before the family had gotten up. She said he weighs about 200 pounds, has gray eyes, brown hair, a tan complexion and was wearing brown slacks, a yellow aloha shirt, a tan straw hat and horned rimmed classes.

When he left, he took a brown leather briefcase and their 1955 Austin-Healey. Mrs. Bradbury said he might have gone to Taft or Forestville to look after property, but that he usually phoned her of his whereabouts.

Governor Promises No New Tax Of Any Kind Next Year

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Gov. Edmund G. Brown promised today he will seek no new taxes of any kind next year.

"None are needed," he said.

Brown made his pledge in a speech prepared for the top leaders of California business, industry, agriculture and government attending the annual Sacramento Host Breakfast.

"California is in good shape," he said. "Industry is moving in. Employment is climbing. And we have not had one penny of deficit spending in the past four years."

The Democratic governor, just back from his first trip of his fall re-election campaign, said there will be partisan claims that the state "is spending itself into a deficit that will require new taxes in 1963."

"Those foolish statements can have only two results. They can discourage new investment and they can create unemployment," he said.

Brown reiterated his promise, made last month to the Democratic State Convention, to eliminate state income taxes for families who pay less than $10 or individuals who pay less than $5 in taxes.

And he repeated his announcement of a 15 million dollars a year savings to California businessmen through a state change in the depreciation allowance schedule for corporate and personal income taxes.

Brown said "the inevitable partisan hand-wringers" have charged these tax cuts were merely political and would have to be made up next year from other sources.

He implied his announcement of no new taxes was his answer to these charges. It was the third year in a row that he has made such an announcement, Brown said.

Larkspur Schools Meeting Tuesday

A progress report on plans for construction of new rooms at Neil Cummins and San Clement schools will be heard at the meeting of the Larkspur School District board Tuesday night.

The trustees will meet at 7:30 p.m. in the district superintendent's office, Larkspur-Corte Madera School, 20 Magnolia Avenue, Larkspur.

The board will consider an offer by Clifford Longfellow to continue his taxi service free of charge to the district in emergencies. Principals of the four schools will report on reopening of classes.

Child Neglect Hearing Tuesday

Mrs. Ruby Felten of Novato has been ordered to appear in Marin Municipal Court Tuesday for arraignment on charges of neglecting her seven children.

Dep. Dist. Atty. Thomas J. Storer said today investigation Storer said yesterday investigation of the case shows Mrs. Felton apparently abandoned her children last Friday at her home at 581 Fernando Drive, Novato. Mrs. Felten told Novato police she checked on her children several times during the weekend.

The children, aged two months to 13 years, were placed in foster homes by the county probation department, pending disposition of the matter.

Ex-Marin Aide Charged With Attack

A 39-year-old Novato man, formerly a Marin County deputy clerk, has been arrested and charged with burglary and assault to commit rape in Martinez.

Doyle Trent Cleveland of 1110 Cambridge Street, married and the father of two children, was arrested at his home by Novato police at 4:13 a.m., Monday, less than an hour after the alleged crime. Cleveland, who served as a deputy clerk of Marin County from Sept. 1, 1955 to Feb. 1, 1961, is now a deputy clerk for the U.S. District Court in San Francisco.

Cleveland, free on $2,000 bail, has denied the charge.

He was arraigned in Martinez Justice Court Tuesday. Date of the preliminary hearing has not been set.

Martinez police said they received a telephone call about 3:30 a.m. from a woman who reported that Cleveland, entered her home, bound her hands with rope, and assaulted her.

The woman said she had known Cleveland for about 10 years.

Her screams awoke her daughter, 6, and her son, 9, who were sleeping in another room of the house, police said. They were too frightened to come out of their room until after the attacker left, police said.

When he did leave, the children untied their mother and she called police. Martinez police said the man apparently used a key to enter the home.

The victim, wife of a construction worker who is now on a job overseas, told police her assaulter wore rubber gloves.

Officer Floyd Hallowell of the Novato police said ashes, lying in the shape of a glove, were found in the incinerator of Cleveland's home soon after the arrest.

Cleveland's wife and children were away on vacation at the time of the arrest, Hallowell said.

Librarian Job Open In Sausalito

Applications are being accepted by the City of Sausalito to fill the position of city librarian, City Manager Charles A. Brown said today. The post was left vacant by the resignation of Mrs. Josephine Ripley.

Applicants may submit resumes to the city hall through Sept. 30. Requirements include a college degree in librarianship and two years of supervisory experience in a public library.

A person may apply also if he has completed a graduate course in an accredited library school. Salary for the position has not been set.

No Protest Filed For Marina Plan

No protest has been filed against proposed dredging of the McCarthy Loch Lomond Marina on San Rafael Bay, and permits will be granted shortly, the Army Corps of Engineers said today.

Tuesday was the deadline for objections to San Rafael Marina's plan to dredge a private channel and dispose of about 9,000 cubic yards of fill material on the tidelands of the bay.

The disposal area is west of the private channel and 500 feet north of the federal channel.

Design Faculty Named For Art Institute

William Shields and Clifford Wilton of Mill Valley have been appointed to the design department faculty for 1962-63 at the San Francisco Art Institute. The appointments were announced recently by department head James Robertson, also of Mill Valley.

Wilton is art director for a San Francisco advertising agency. He will teach design theory and observation. Shields, who will teach drawing, is an illustrator and designer with offices in San Francisco.

Francis Asserts Foe Of Prop. 24 Wrong

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The author of Proposition 24 declared last night that the chairman of the Northern California committee opposing the anti-Communist amendment has seriously misinterpreted it.

Lame duck Assemblyman Louis Francis (R-San Mateo) took issue with Gardiner Johnson, former president of the San Francisco Bar Assn.

Johnson said Wednesday, "I am opposed to the proposition primarily because of paragraph 3 which authorizes all county grand juries to make findings, so-called, that groups are Communist action or subversive without providing any notice or hearing and without due process of law."

The 57-year-old attorney also contended the proposition violates the United States Constitution.

Francis said that Johnson is wrong about paragraph 3, that "grand juries will not be empowered to make such findings even if the proposition is passed. . . .

"Mr. Johnson again has ignored the key words in paragraph 3 which are 'pursuant to all' — clearly stipulating that procedures must be activated only in accordance with and in complete obedience to the law."

Francis said that Johnson's opinion the measure is unconstitutional "disagreed with the state legislative counsel, the legal authority of the state legislature and other foremost authorities on constitutional law."

He disputed Johnson's assertion that backers of Proposition 24 were backing off from it.

Francis claimed "over 100 organizations and a million voters have already endorsed Proposition 24 and new endorsements are being received every day."

DINING OUT AND INNS

By HARRY CRAFT

New Fleur de Lys Manager Complete With Savoir Faire

Fleur de Lys in San Anselmo has a new manager: Etienne Provost, complete with savoir faire, French charm and accent. He's an experienced restaurateur and an old friend of Robert Charles who has to divide his time between the San Anselmo and San Francisco restaurants. Provost recently returned with his wife from several months in Tahiti.

Here's another food spot that can carry you to the heights of enthusiasm with its gourmet selections and grand cru wines—but don't blame Fleur de Lys if you go overboard on the a la carte side. The prices are on the menu to read and it's assumed you have some knowledge of arithmetic.

But you can dine sumptiously in the $5 give-and-take range and that's become a common meal figure these days.

ASIDE FROM the food, Dominic's has other attractions for service groups that often use the San Rafael Harbor restaurant for special events. There's a fine selection of photo props.

The giant anchor at the entrance is the favorite. Others, according to manager Jim Pius and his assistant Mario Brenta, rate in this order:

The ancient cannon on the Galleria, ship models, rope ladder in the cocktail lounge, wine room, wine press at the entrance, ornate knockers on the door and the carvings of Carl Sheverman.

But how to pose by the "boat in the sky" beats them.

WE HEAR THERE'S an unidentified customer who makes frequent visits to the Charcoal House in Larkspur, carrying an oversized guitar. Nothing strange in that. But his habit of disappearing with it in the rest room after eating had others guessing.

Until one emboldened guest eavesdropped. And heard him strumming and singing the songs from turn-of-the-century music that is plastered on the Charcoal House walls.

RICKEY'S RANCHO RAFAEL is filled with rare oil painting and objects of art picked up in Europe by John Rickey, but for the rest of this month there's a one-man show of 24 oils and water colors being presented by commercial artist Ted Lewy of San Francisco at the Ignacio dinery.

Most are scenes from Lewy's trip last year to Europe, but several are Marin subjects, including his own "Hummingbird Acres" property in Novato. He has been rated as having a "wholesome style and joy in the beauty of nature."

Lewy is working now on a series of American scenes to be exhibited in Europe.

SHAUN WILTSHIRE has a "lunch booster" that's very effective.

He's running a Volkswagen bus from San Rafael to Wiltshire Towers on the highway at noontime to bring in customers—pickup and delivery.

Pickup stops are made on Fifth Avenue at Court, A and B streets. Two trips—11:30 and 12:10. Return schedules as required. Mondays through Fridays.

He's also arranging to have small groups chauffered to the Towers for dinner by special arrangement.

LAST FALL, Angelo Sabella fulfilled a promise to Chicago restaurateur Gene Sage to provide fresh crabs at a dinner for University of California grads living in the windy city. A strike was on among crab fishermen at the time so he had to go out in his own boat to catch them. They were jet flown in the live stage to the dinner.

The publicity paid off. During the past three weeks eight of the 15 Chicagoans while on vacation dropped by Sabella's in Marin for an encore repast.

THE MAN WITH the looks of an Irish tenor who ought to be doing a Broadway musical instead of acting as bar manager at Peacock Gap Golf and Country Club for the past 18 months is now the club's newly appointed assistant house manager and maitre.

DENNIS SCHUMACHER
At Peacock Gap

Dennis Schumacher says he isn't Irish and can't even sing but he's got an engaging smile and the personality to go with it. He ought to do well in his new job.

Prior to joining Peacock Gap, he was regional manager for Auto Imports, Inc., with offices in Portland and San Francisco. At one time he owned a restaurant, bar and liquor store in Las Vegas. Hometown: Sacramento. Present home: Novato. Tangible and intangible assets: Wife Ruth and three youngsters.

REBUILT TO MAKE it old—Alioto's Arbordale Hof Brau—now scheduled to open around the middle of the month. Board by board, solid one-inch oak panels are being brought from an old Pacific Heights mansion in San Francisco for the walls. The floor is the original terrazzo laid in the Sausalito building around the turn of the century.

Talk On Auditing

Myron M. Christy of 36 Via Chepparo, Greenbrae, will give a talk on "Auditing for Management" at the Sept. 13 meeting of the San Francisco chapter of the Institute of Internal Auditors at 5 p.m. in the Leopard Cafe, 140 Front Street, San Francisco. Christy is executive vice president of the Western Pacific Railroad Co.

Marin Dining And Wining

WINE CORNER

Always Drink What You Like To Drink

The rule for choosing the proper wine for each food is not an ordinance that can't be violated. And it's no misdemeanor if you do.

You drink the wine you like. Even a winegrower will call for his favorite regardless of the food he's having. Some vintners prefer reds, period. Others are white-wine prone.

Madame Elie de Rothschild, owner of the famous Chateau Lafite in France's Bordeaux country advises: "Use your own judgment—humor your own taste. You are the person to decide what, for you, is best."

Most of us prefer red wines with red meats and white wines with white meat and fish. Perhaps because we were told it is proper.

But it is more than just that. There is an affinity between red wines and red meat, and the same with whites. With wine varieties it's more subtle. A matter of tartness, flavor and other fine distinctions that are learned only with their continued use.

You can stick to one wine you like all the time, but you'll never know what the others can do until you try them.

Rose is at home in any company but is classified with the reds. Actually it has more of the taste and aroma of the whites. Some experts look down their noses at Rose and call it a compromise. It's not the first compromise that has worked.

Others feel that California Rose wines are better than those from Europe. In America the pink wines have become dignified members of the family. In Europe they are treated as step-children and made accordingly.

In cooking, it's partly a matter of color. White wine fits in better than red in a light meat dish—fish or chicken. Beef is most often marinated in a red wine. What's left in the bottle disappears at the table.

Incidentally, if you find a store that stocks tenth-size bottles of wines it's worth while picking up a few. A tenth serves two or three nicely and you don't have to worry about keeping a half-filled bottle. You can't reseal it and expect the wine to be the same another day.

ROLE IN PICNIC — New York actress Jeanne Abel will play Millie in "Picnic" tomorrow and Saturday at the Gate Theater in Sausalito, under direction of David Kerr. Miss Abel has appeared with such stars as Shepperd Strudwick, Charles Ruggles, Albert Dekker, Edward Everett Horton and Robert Middleton. Because of limited seating capacity both performances will be by reservation.

One-Act Play Readings Tomorrow

The Sausalito Little Theater will conduct its second original drama workshop on three weekends starting tomorrow, with rehearsed readings of seven one-act plays selected from more than 100 entries.

"The Reservation," an existential tragi-comedy by Martin Halpern, "Misprints" and "No Dancing Aloud" by Ruth Weiss will be read tomorrow as well as Sept. 22.

Scheduled for Saturday and Sept. 14 are a farce by R. L. Sasson, "The Crowded Bedroom," and Dennis Dunn's "A Pure and Remote View of Streams and Hills."

"Cantata by the Sea," a poetic drama by William Dorsey Blake, will be read Sept. 14 and 21, along with "The Wedding Breakfast" by Herbert Kennedy.

Directors for the series are Lynne Arden, Dion Chesse, Penny Vieregge, Elaine Mitchell and Abe Kalish. Curtain 8:30 p.m. at the theater at 745½ Bridgeway. Admission is free to members; a small charge is made for non members.

DANCING CLASSES TO START EARLY

Annual classes sponsored by the Marin County Dance Cooperatives will start earlier than usual this year because the staff has been invited to participate in the International Music Festival at Vienna in the spring, it was announced today by the president, Mrs. C. F. Pendleton of Corte Madera.

Classes for most groups will begin Saturday, Mrs. Pendleton said. The most extensive schedule has been arranged by the Larkspur-Corte Madera cooperative, which will hold classes at three locations. Students may register at the first session.

Four classes will be taught on Saturdays by Ann Halprin at the Henry C. Hall School in Larkspur. They are: 9:9:45 a.m., first and second grade groups, Mrs. Fred Luiz, Larkspur, chairman; 9:45-10:45 a.m., seventh through ninth grades, Mrs. Arthur Danforth, Corte Madera, chairman; 10:45-11:45 a.m., third and fourth graders, Naomi Kirschner, chairman; 11:45 a.m. to 12:45 p.m., fifth and sixth graders, Mrs. Jay Hutchinson, Fairfax, chairman.

A class for high school age students will be taught at 10 a.m. Saturdays at the American Legion Hall in Larkspur by John Graham, a specialist in teen-age dance instruction, who has been in Marin County for three years.

Graham also has taught in the drama department of San Francisco State College; taught a teen-age workshop dance group for the past four years and has been a member of the Marin Dancers' Workshop Company for the past six years.

A pre-school class will be taught by Collie Goldsmith of Mill Valley at the Larkspur-Corte Madera Nursery School, 56 Mohawk Street, Corte Madera. Time will be 9:45 to 10:15 a.m.

There will be a class from 10:30 to 11:15 a.m. for kindergarten children. On the first day, however, children should come at 9:45 a.m. Mrs. James Hewitt of San Anselmo is the class chairman.

Exceptions to the Saturday routine will be classes by the Ross Valley and San Rafael cooperatives. The Ross Valley Cooperative, of which Mrs. James V. Cavit of Kentfield is chairman, will hold classes on Wednesday from 3 to 4 p.m. and 4 to 5 p.m. at Kentfield for children of pre-school to fourth grade ages.

On Tuesdays the San Rafael Cooperative will hold adult dance classes at Carpenters' Hall from 10 to 11:30 a.m. The first class will be held Sept. 15. A. A. Leath will teach and Mrs. Stuart MacCondray of San Anselmo is class chairman.

All classes are open to anyone in Marin County.

Charity Agency Named Explained

Terra Linda solicitation for a charity with a name easily confused with that of a United Crusade agency has been reported to Marin headquarters of the crusade it was learned today.

The solicitor said he represented a "Foundation For the Mentally Retarded" which is something quite different from the "Marin Aid to Retarded Children," a crusade agency, according to Aubrey Burns who is Marin director of the United Bay Area Crusade.

Burns said that the foundation sought but failed to receive a permit for solicitation in San Francisco. Such a permit is not required in Marin County.

K.O. POLIO OFFICES WILL OPEN

A special Marin Medical Society office, to serve as a clearinghouse for information in the Marin County K. O. Polio Drive, will open Monday in San Rafael.

Members of the society's women's auxiliary will staff the office from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Mondays through Fridays and on Saturdays, Sept. 22 and Sunday, Sept. 23. This is K. O. Polio Sunday when the first of three Sabin polio vaccines will be given in mass clinics throughout Marin County and the Bay Area.

Phone number of the special office is 456-5855.

About 500 Marin volunteer workers will receive Sabin oral vaccine six days ahead of the first mass clinic Sept. 23.

The clinic for volunteers will be at 8 p.m., Sept. 17, in the auditorium at Marin Catholic High School. It is planned as a training session of clinic workers.

Clausen's Final Plans To Be Made

Final plans for the congressional campaign of Don Clausen of Del Norte County will be made by Republican leaders and Marin County delegates at tomorrow's meeting in Santa Rosa.

Clausen, seeking the first congressional district post which includes Marin County, will address the meeting at a 7 p.m. banquet at the Los Robles Lodge.

William T. Bagley, Republican state assemblyman from the seventh district, will open the meeting at 2 p.m. with a keynote address on the need for city, county, state and federal cooperation in matters affecting the welfare of the First Congressional District.

Other legislative candidates, including State Sen. Jack McCarthy of San Rafael, will speak at the afternoon session of the conference.

Key delegates from Marin County expected to be on hand include Henry Broderick, Marjorie Chaille, John Clow, Cliff Gerstner, Mildred Graham, Norman Livermore, Charles Michaels, Davette Milmoe, Ann Moss, Pat Pollock, John Schmitz, Lee Sherry, Dave Winslow and James McNab.

The Eisteddfed, a music and literary festival held in Wales, dates back to the Sixth Century.

Farm Bureau In Membership Drive

The Marin County Farm Bureau is starting a fall campaign for new members, said Donald McIsaac, president.

George Perry of Novato was named chairman of a membership committee at the Tuesday meeting of directors of the bureau.

Mrs. Alfred Johnson, secretary of the farm bureau, has been named co-ordinator for Proposition 4 in the November general election, McIsaac said. This proposition would bear on appraising and taxing as agricultural land.

Doctors Are Urged To Treat People

By DELOS SMITH

NEW YORK (UPI)—A medical educator is disturbed by the way medical science is downgrading the investigation of disease processes in people and glorifying the laboratory investigation of diseases with test tubes and experimental animals.

"It is so wrong," said Dr. David D. Rutstein, head of the department of preventive medicine, Harvard Medical School, "it may ultimately destroy the high standing of American medicine."

The tendency has now reached the point where medical science journals are filled with studies on hagfish and Sprague-Dawley rats instead of on well designed studies on human beings, he said.

"Somehow, the clinical investigator has succumbed to the ideas that real science is concerned only with impalpable, very small objects such as atoms and molecules, or remote, very large bodies such as planets and satellites, and that studies devoted directly to man and to his activities on the surface of the earth are somehow unscientific.

"This is surprising, because science is nothing more than a method of reasoning equally applicable to the laboratory or the clinic. Moreover, there is no conflict between the rigorous application of the scientific method in ethical clinical investigation and the spirit of dedication of the physician to his patient."

Rutstein was the orator at class day exercises of the Harvard Medical School in June. His oration didn't get off the campus at the time but it now is being given wide circulation in the medical profession and will be of as much interest to the medical laity.

He told the new crop of Harvard MD's that the practicing physician must pursue his career with a "spirit of dedication to his patients, in contrast to the attitude of that group of New Jersey physicians who placed method of payment above the welfare of the patient.

"All of you will deserve to be well paid for your service if you hold to the ideal that the welfare of the patient must always come first. But for any of you who honestly feel that method and amount of payment are over-riding importance, I urge you to renounce the profession of medicine."

The "real world" of the physician is "the real world of the patient," he said. "If we turn away from the patient and look only at the large mass of knowledge distending our libraries, we would say, 'see how wise we are.' 'See how much we have learned.' 'Are we not doing wonderful things?'

"But if we turn around and take another look at the patient, we become embarrassed by our lack of humility. We realize immediately that we have little or no understanding of many of his problems. For example, we may know something about the diseases of old age but practically nothing about the aging process.

"We are impressed that the great mass of knowledge we have just contemplated is applicable only to a very limited number of the patient's needs.

"Thus, we know how to create and prevent leukemia in mice but know practically nothing about the mechanism of the same disease in man."

Gets Scholarship

THE ULTIMATE WEAPON

The only defense against a vote, is another vote.
And that's what America's two-party system is all about.
Choice. The freedom to choose according to conviction.

Of course, there is a third choice: choosing to do nothing.
Never registering. Never voting. (But always complaining.)
Every election, tens of millions of American Voters
sit on their hands and do nothing.
Apparently they assume everything is going to turn out
just fine without their vote. A dangerous assumption that can lead to *un*representative government.

Don't let your vote get rusty. Register, if neccesary.*
Then listen and read and think about the issues and about the candidates.
And then, on November 6, do something. Vote.

*YOU MUST REGISTER if you just turned 21,
or moved since the last election, or changed your name,
or didn't vote in the last Presidential election.
Telephone your local Registrar of Voters or County Clerk
to find out where to register. The deadline is Sept. 13.

Attack Case Hearing Set

A Sausalito man accused of the sexual assault of a 15-year-old boy will answer charges Sept. 19 in Marin Municipal Court.

Theodore J. Chisholm, 35, of 302 Third Street, Sausalito, was arrested by San Anselmo police last Sunday on a complaint by the boy, who said Chisholm attacked him in the Greyhound Bus Depot rest room in San Anselmo.

Judge Joseph G. Wilson granted Chisholm a continuance of his plea yesterday.

Student Injured In Auto Crash

Minor injuries and a complicated traffic citation followed a collision yesterday afternoon between cars driven by a Terra Linda High School student and a woman clerk-typist at Hamilton Air Force Base.

John Burger III, 16, of 24 Sao Augustine Way, Terra Linda, swung his small sports car around from westbound Merrydale Road into southbound Los Gallinas Drive in Rafael Meadows at 4:05 p.m., striking a northbound car driven by Sue Brady Davis of 55 Canal Street, San Rafael.

Burger was treated at San Rafael General Hospital for cuts and bruises. The California Highway Patrol charged he failed to halt at a stop sign, then made an improper left turn from the wrong side of the road.

Marinwood Center Plans Shaping Up

Marinwood's proposed recreation center and firehouse began to take shape last night —at least in the minds of community services district directors, fire commissioners, and parks and recreation commissioners.

At a special meeting of the CSD board, the two commissions reported to the board how they believe the $356,000 bonds approved by voters last February should be spent to best serve the people of Marinwood.

"We have only the barest preliminary suggestions from the architects," said Howard Council, CSD board president. "We want you to tell us what you think the community needs."

James McElhattan, fire commission chairman, said the firehouse should be built in anticipation of needs many years from now. He asked for a building with room for three pumpers, a ladder truck and a small fire truck.

"The doors on the firehouse ought to be 12 feet high in case we eventually get a ladder truck," McElhattan said. He said the firehouse should cover 2,700 square feet, and should include a four-bed dormitory, a day room, an office for the chief, and a small kitchen.

"We also need an open area in back for drill and racks for drying hoses," McElhattan said. He said extra features should include flashing lights at the firehouse entrance to warn traffic and a flagpole on the front lawn.

Mrs. Dewey Forry, parks and recreation commission chairman, proposed a recreation center which would include a large community hall, a small kitchen, lavatories and a drinking fountain.

"It will be a long time," Mrs. Forry said, "before we'll have a fulltime recreation director. I think we can do without an office for him. Maybe we will have some sort of community director on weekends."

Mrs. Forry said women of Marinwood would be satisfied with a modestly equipped kitchen, including a stove for warming food, a small refrigerator, and minimum cupboard space. "I would suggest," she added, "that the equipment might be donated, as was done in the Terra Linda Recreation District."

As a guide to the proposed center, CSD directors have a site development sketch by Osmundson and Staley, San Francisco landscape architects, and a suggested plan for the firehouse and community building by Roger F. Hooper Jr., Ross architect.

The tentative plans show the firehouse and community building joined by an arbor and patio. Tennis courts are included in the site plan for the 10-acre community center at Lucas Valley and Miller Creek roads.

Also included in the Osmundson and Staley sketch are a swimming pool and bathhouse joining the community buildings. Bonds for the $82,000 pool were defeated twice by Marinwood voters.

"The pool is shown on the plan only in relation to the rest of the center in case someday a pool should be built," Council explained. "If anybody asks if the bonds we have now will be used for a pool, the answer is 'no.' "

A condemnation suit to obtain the 10-acre site is scheduled to be heard in Marin Superior Court in November.

"It will take from now until our court suit to have everything ready for bids," Council said. "The CSD board will consider these suggestions and pass them on to the architects. Then we'll go from there. Until we know how much we will have to pay for the land, we won't know exactly how much we have to spend on the buildings."

NATIONAL FIRE PREVENTION WEEK OCT. 7-13

National Fire Prevention Week will be Oct. 7-13, it was announced yesterday in San Anselmo at a meeting of the fire prevention division of the Marin County Assn. of Fire Departments.

Most departments plan to have open houses and many will give special demonstrations on Oct. 13, according to Charles Pruett, the division's secretary-treasurer. He also said talks and demonstrations are planned for schools.

Besides being backed by Marin fire departments, the prevention week is supported in Marin by insurance firms.

Two Men Fined In West Marin

Two defendants were fined and placed on probation for West Marin offenses by Judge David R. Baty in Northwest Judicial District Court Wednesday.

Benjamin Alcantara of Inverness Park pleaded guilty to a charge of contributing to the delinquency of minors by buying beer for juveniles in the Inverness Park area. He was fined $105 and placed on probation for three years.

Umberto LaGalla of Pittsburg, Contra Costa County, who is in charge of Point Reyes Peninsula operations for the Alioto Fish Co. of San Francisco, pleaded guilty to a charge of possessing undersized king salmon. He had been arrested by game warden Alfred F. Giddings. Baty fined LaGalla $150 and placed him on probation for two years.

INVERNESS WATER RATE HEARING SET

Public hearing on requested increase in Inverness water rates will be held at 10 a.m. Sept. 18 in Frick Hall of the Columbus Guild Community Church in Inverness.

Presiding will be examiner Carol T. Coffey of the California Public Utilities Commission to which petition for rate increase has been made by the Inverness Water Co.

Cyril M. Saroyan, an attorney assigned from the commission's legal staff, will appear to represent the staff and present its showing on behalf of the public interest. Any others may speak at this or possible later hearings.

Permission was granted by the commission last Tuesday for the company to supply water to Drakes Beach Estates Subdivision No. 1 and to the first and second units in the Drakes Bay Pines subdivision despite opposition by Inverness residents on the ground that a raise in rates might result.

The company's application was subject of a hearing last May at which protest was made by the Inverness Public Utility District, representing Inverness water consumers, and the National Park Service whose representative pointed out the likelihood of early establishment of a Point Reyes National Seashore including the subdivisions.

At that time 11 houses had been built or were under construction in the petitioning subdivisions, and 125 lots had been sold.

Background of the situation was take-over last January by Inverness Water Co. of a water system for the subdivisions from a Limantour Mutual Water Co.

Three Street Fight Suspects Due Hearing

Three youths suspected of taking part in a Mill Valley street fight three weeks ago will appear Sept. 19 in Marin Municipal Court to answer charges of disturbing the peace.

James Talley, 19, John D. Morgan, 20, and Ron Foster, 18, all of Marin City, are charged with taking part in the fight which involved some 20 youths. Their case was continued yesterday by Judge Joseph G. Wilson.

No Beer License

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — The State Department of Alcoholic Beverage Control has denied an application from Jolly Fair, Inc., for an off-sale beer and wine license for Jolly Market, at 2040 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, Fairfax, on grounds the corporation failed to cooperate with investigators by refusing to provide documents necessary for the application.

To safeguard against dialing "extra-charge" calls by mistake merely dial "1" before dialing multi-message unit or Long Distance calls

You may have had the experience of making a dialing mistake on a local call and ending up in another city. When this new dialing safeguard goes to work September 16, it will route calls beyond your local calling area only if you dial "1" first, then the rest of the number. This will help you avoid dialing any "extra-charge" call when you intend to dial a local call. On local calls dialing will stay the same. You won't need the "1."

We're mailing you new Introductory pages for your directory, and a sticker for the cover to help you remember the numbers included in your local calling area. The sticker will show the numbers you dial without the "1." All others are multi-message unit or Long Distance calls, and you use this dialing safeguard, dial "1," when dialing outside your local calling area. Then dial the Area Code, if needed, and the phone number.

Dialing the numeral "1" will be the uniform method of placing "extra-charge" calls for telephone users in Marin County. It is part of an ultimate nationwide plan for dialing Long Distance calls.

Our business office will be glad to help with any questions about it.

Pacific Telephone
PART OF THE NATION-WIDE BELL SYSTEM

If, after dialing the numeral "1," you dial a wrong number, ask the party for the name of the city reached. Then, call the Operator right away and give her this information so she can make sure you won't be charged for that call.

Jubilant Giants Home For Stretch Run At Pennant

ALONG MARIN'S SPORTS TRAIL

N.L. Generous With Its Pennants With 'New-Champ-Every-Year' Plan

The National League has a reputation of being generous with its championships.

Which is more than the American League can say. Over there, year in and year out they merely hand it to to the Yankees. It gets pretty boring after a while and league attendance, compared to the N.L., shows it.

The N.L., on the other hand, keeps things interesting. Five years ago the moguls produced a scheme devised to produce a different champion every year to distribute the gravy evenly. And the clubs have followed the plot beautifully. First in line were the Milwaukee Braves. The next season they graciously stepped aside and relinquished the pennant to the L.A. Dodgers, who in turn handed it over to the Pittsburgh Pirates who in turn gave it to the Cincinnati Reds. That was last year.

In order to keep the "different-champion-every-year" plan in operation this season, the N.L. has to find someone besides the four previous champs. And who else but those crazy Giants?

After last night's game I won't bet against them. Even John J. Connolly was beaming into the office bright and early this morning, dreaming of a World Series at Candlestick. And if the old Bullpenner says something nice about the Giants I'm convinced they're in like Flynn.

Like I say, the N.L. is very generous with its pennants, so it's our turn now.

FOOTBALL CLINICS sometimes have been called a waste of time. Some feel the coaches who make instructional talks don't impart all their knowledge or secrets. Just like a boxer doesn't reveal his Sunday punch in training; he saves it for the big fight.

However, tomorrow's grid coaching clinic at Novato High School, co-sponsored by the Marin County Superintendent of Schools, promises to be different.

Co-chairman Charles Nagel says the instructors have promised to tell all they know. Ex-pro coaches Frankie Albert and Eddie Erdelatz are on the program, so the other mentors, explains Nagel, won't hold back any secrets. Albert and Erdelatz know every secret in the book, reasons Nagel, so the others have nothing to hide.

Albert's topic will be, naturally, passing; Erdelatz will stress defense.

Other speakers will be Marlin Olsen of Novato, Bob Troppmann of Redwood, Dick Read of College of Marin and Sam DeVito of Diablo Valley College, all outstanding successes in their profession.

About 150 to 200 visiting coaches are expected to attend the day-long clinic.

MEADOW CLUBBERS have set Saturday, Sept. 29 for the first of what shall become an an annual tournament in honor of John F. Forbes, a man the committee feels ". . . has done more for the club than any other member through his years of service as a director and a president and a faithful member."

Mr. Forbes, of San Rafael, is a charter member of the private Fairfax club and holds membership card No. 1.

JACK SPARROW, the former Novato flash, should play a key role in the University of Pacific's gridiron plans this year, his senior season as quarterback for the Tigers.

Although Pacific supposedly has "de-emphasized" football, it still maintains a pretty stiff schedule including Oregon State, Washington State, New Mexico State, Brigham Young, San Jose State, Fresno State, San Diego State, Santa Clara and the San Diego Marines.

And, Pacific Coach John Rohde hasn't de-emphasized conditioning either as his Tigers are drilled thrice daily. Which must be quite wearing on the newly-married Sparrow.

THE DEATH earlier this year of Tiburoner Bert Hooper also marked the end of one of that community's most colorful and popular events — the annual Old Timers ball game.

Hoop originated the game, I'm told, and kept it going through the years, annually rounding up dozens of former sandlot stars for a return to the scene of their past heroics.

It was a lot of fun over the years, but Tiburoners decided not to play it this year. After all, without Hoop it just wouldn't seem the same.

RADIO KTIM will broadcast six Marin Athletic League football games this fall with Ted Mitchell doing the play-by-play.

HALLMARK TOURS of San Rafael has a package deal for the Sept. 22-23 Reno Grand Prix sports car races, including accommodations, tickets to the races, a tour of Harrah's famed automobile museum, cocktail parties and breakfast.

KEYSTONE COMEDY—Willie McCovey (left) and Willie Mays (right) gave Giant fans a case of the willies last night when both were caught in rundown at second base in first inning. Whip Dodgers In Finale; Battle Chicago Tonight

The jubilant San Francisco Giants, just a game and one-halff out of first place after a crucial winning series in Los Angeles, return to Candlestick Park tonight to battle the ninth place Chicago Cubs.

The San Francisco team made it three out of four over Los Angeles last night by downing the National League leaders, 9-6. The Dodgers face another tough team tonight, when the Pittsburgh Pirates move into Chavez Ravine, just eight games out of first place.

The Cubs are 39 games off the pace—but the Giants can't expect a breather against Ernie Banks and company. The Chicago team has battled San Francisco tooth and nail all season.

Manager Alvin Dark of the Giants will go with his 20-game winner, Jack Sanford, (20-6). The Cubs will counter with Bob Buhl (10-10).

Last night's game ended the fierce competition between the Giants and the Dodgers for 1962—but the memory lingered on for 54,263 fans who saw the ancient rivals engage in a memorable struggle.

The contest was not decided until the final out as the Dodgers loaded the bases in the bottom of the ninth, pushed over one run and then were choked off by veteran reliefer Stu Miller with the potential tying run at the plate.

Both managers were proud of their clubs—Alvin Dark in victory and Walter Alston in defeat. It was that kind of a contest.

The victory, however, moved the Giants to 1½ games behind the Dodgers. San Francisco opened the series here Monday 3½ games back. But by taking three out of four they assured that the battle for the pennant would go down to the end of the season.

Kuenn's Bases-Loaded Hit Wins It

There were heroes on both sides but the most important blow struck for the Giants was Harvey Kuenn's double with the bases loaded in the top of the ninth. It came after Orlando Cepeda had forced in a run with a walk to put San Francisco ahead, 6-5, but it scored three runs. And without his hit the Dodgers would have tied up the game in their half of the ninth.

The game was so hard-fought that the umpires warned both managers to caution their pitchers against throwing at opposing batters after starters Don Drysdale and Bill O'Dell engaged in a "brush-back" contest.

The game was noteworthy also for the Dodgers because they set a new National League attendance mark with 11 games remaining on their home schedule. Last night's crowd brought the Dodgers' home attendance to 2,287,772, breaking their own record of 2,253,887 set in 1960.

"I was proud of our boys—they didn't quit," Alston said after the loss. "You hate to get beat but you have to feel good about the way this team battled back all night.

"We're still ahead. The Giants still have to catch us. And we almost tied it up in the bottom of the ninth. Now that we've gotten over a pitching crisis, we may be in better shape."

Dark said he took more pride in his Giants taking three out of four games in Chavez Ravine stadium than he did when they beat the Dodgers three straight games at Candlestick Park last month.

'The Outlook's Brighter Now'—Dark

"We faced one of the best competitors in the game today in Drysdale and we had to beat great pitching to win," Dark added. "We're still behind and have to catch up but the outlook is a little brighter now."

The classic battle which ended with a 9-9 record in the Dodger-Giants competition for the season had the home club at a disadvantage from the first inning.

The Giants struck early, pushing over two runs in the first frame when Felipe Alou drove in one tally and Willie McCovey another. And San Francisco increased its lead to 4-0 in the third when Orlando Cepeda singled in two runs with the bases loaded.

But the Dodgers finally solved O'Dell's delivery in the fourth inning when they scored four runs, two of them coming home on Frank Howard's 24th homer of the season.

The 4-4 tie lasted until the eighth when the Giants again loaded the bases and Drysdale was relieved by Ron Perranoski. Kuenn came in as a pinch hitter and grounded to third. But on the attempted double play a run scored as he beat out the relay to first base.

The lead, however, lasted only until Tommy Davis led off the Dodgers' half of the eighth and hit his 23rd homer of the season.

Pitcher's Error Is Key Play Of Game

Infielder Chuck Hiller led off the Giants' half of the ninth with a single. The key play of the game came on Jim Davenport's sacrifice with Perranoski throwing the ball into the outfield on a fielder's choice to second.

With two men on base, Felipe Alou was walked intentionally. Perranoski then retired two men, but tried to pitch too carefully to Cepeda and walked him to force in a run. Kuenn put the game away with his double that sent three runs home.

Bob Bolin, who pitched one inning in relief, got credit for the win but Stu Miller recorded a big save. Don Larsen took over in the ninth but gave up a single to pinch hitter Tim Harkness and a walk to Maury Wills. Miller then replaced him and, despite Tommy Davis' sacrifice fly, preserved the victory.

Schedule Favors Giants

With JOHN J. CONNOLLY

It is squirm, squeeze and squeal the rest of the season for the S. F. Giants who last night outdid themselves by outfighting, out-thinking and otherwise satisfying their boosters with a scorching 9 to 6 triumph over the Dodger Bums and creeping to within one and a half games of first place.

You can't say too much for the gallant fight made by the Giants who used all their bench and were about to signal for owner Horace Stoneham in the stands to get ready and help them bail out of a tight-fisted contest.

The game was a tension-packed struggle that see-sawed until the Giants exploded in the ninth to break a 5 to 5 tie and move out front 9 to 5. The Dodgers came back, and seriously threatened in the last half of the ninth but, with Stu Miller parading in his 1961 relief style, the Giants were able to cool off the Bums and cop the series three games out of four.

HARVEY KUENN was the big gun in the clutch last night. He delivered the blow that scored three runs and enabled the Dark-men to bring home the bacon. But to single out any player would be unfair. Mays, Cepeda, McCovey and Miller pooled their efforts to seal the doom off a hard Dodger aggregation.

The victory of the Giants threw a truck-size crimp in the fast-fading Dodgers who now are on the defensive. In the remaining games of the season I believe the Giants are favored by the schedule. Add to its the reaction of the big Giant victory and it is not at all impossible that the Bums might begin squeaking at the seams.

THERE MAY be a better way, a nicer and perhaps a softer way of saying it. But to these old eyes the umps are pretty definitely agreed that it is alright to throw at the likes of McCovey and Mays but it is not okay, nor does the same rule apply to the home boys. That was definitely the case last night where a very unfair interpretation of beanball throwing spiced up the torrid struggle.

Don Drysdale, starting pitcher, took a couple pot shots at McCovey and Mays, barely missing them. When Billy O'Dell sat down Drysdale, the umps started screaming to Manager Al Dark who kept pointing two fingers to one, indicating that two Giants had been twice flattened whereas O'Dell only flattened one.

BE THAT as it may, you can expect a lot of repercussions from last night's TV affair. Too many fair-minded people could make their own deductions and didn't need the umps' help to fathom the situation.

A closer peek at the remaining games finds the Giants meeting the Cubs tonight in the first of a three-game series; two more with the Cincy Reds; six with Pittsburgh, two at Candlestick Park and four at Forbes Field; five with St. Louis, three here and two east and six with Houston, three home and three in Houston, a total of 22 games.

THE DODGERS have 21 games remaining, including six with the Cards, five with the Cubs, three with the Braves, and three with the Pirates, all tough clubs.

The "patsy" clubs of the National League, from now until the finish, will determine the championship.

It's Only A Practice Game, But 49ers 'Gunning' For L.A.

Grim and determined, the San Francisco 49ers leave tonight for Los Angeles to play the Rams in the final exhibition game of the season for both clubs.

It's a surprising attitude for an exhibition game, but both Coach Red Hickey of the 49ers and Coach Bob Waterfield of the Rams are looking upon this tilt as "crucial."

It's the final tune-up for the long National League season and the starting lineups will be the same as those to be used during the regular campaign.

This game could give a line on what to expect from the two Western Division clubs this year. The Rams finished sixth for each of the past two campaigns and in 1959 finished seventh, which also happens to be last.

FAST START

San Francisco, after a fast start, faded in the stretch last year and finished fifth. The 49ers were third in both 1959 and 1960.

Both clubs are sticking to the T-formation this year—whereas at this time in 1961, the 49ers had a new toy called the "Shotgun," later to be confined to the scrap-heap.

But they both are going in for the long-range striking force, too.

In the exhibition season, quarterback John Brodie and halfback Bill Kilmer pulled some dandies. Brodie completed 61 of 105 passes for 788 yards and five touchdowns in four games. Brodie got away with a 77-yard pass play to Jim Johnson to break open the game with Dallas; and Kilmer completed a 92-yard bomb to Johnson in a game with Minnesota.

However, Zeke Bratowski has been just as effective with the Rams. Completing 51 of 100 aerials, he has picked up 1071 yards and eight touchdowns. The Rams have a 2-2 record, the 49ers 3-1.

45,000 EXPECTED

For just an exhibition, there is quite a bit of excitement about the whole thing in Los Angeles. About 45,000 fans are expected at the Coliseum—the same night that the Dodgers will be playing Pittsburgh to an equal number of fans.

One thing about the football game, however: most of the players will be California boys. Seven of the eight starting men in the backfields will be from this state.

For San Francisco it will be Brodie of Stanford at quarter; Kilmer and Johnson of UCLA at halves, and C. R. Roberts of USC at fullback.

Jon Arnett, USC, and Ollie Matson, USF, will be the halves for the Rams, along with Dick Bass of University of Pacific. The "outsider" is Bratowski, who hails from Georgia.

Annual Swim To Tiburon Tomorrow

Sixty members of the Dolphin Swimming and Boating Club of San Francisco are scheduled to dive from the Sea Scout boat, Sea Horse, tomorrow at 10 a.m. at Angel Island and swim the five-eighths mile Racoon Strait to Tiburon.

Jim Small, ex-University of California swimming champ, is the favorite in the 10th annual swim. Small won both the Alcatraz and Ft. Point swims. It is estimated the swim will take him 15 minutes.

The swim is considered a good test for the club's annual Golden Gate Swim scheduled for Sept. 23.

Following the swim a luncheon will be held at the Corinthian Yacht Club for members and their guests. Roland Demarais of Tiburon is luncheon chairman.

The Dolphins previously visited Tiburon this spring when they rowed over in their 75-year-old six-oared barge, The John Wieland.

Sleepy Hollow Pool Schedule Announced

The Selepy Hollow Clubhouse swimming pool will remain open daily through Sunday and then open only on weekends for as long as the weather permits, Sleepy Hollow Home Owners Assn. directors decided last night.

Arrangements were made for Boy Scout troops 50 and 70 to meet in the clubhouse on the first and third Fridays of the month, starting Sept. 21.

GOLF 'SERIES' ON TV

Player Needs $50,000 Victory To Break Even

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Gary Player, the dapper PGA champion from South Africa, figures he has to win the $50,000 top prize in this weekend's world series of golf just to break even.

Player meets British Open and Masters champion Arnold Palmer and National Open king Jack Nicklaus in the NBC-TV color telecast show Saturday and Sunday. It's a 36-hole test over Firestone Country Club's 7,165-yard, par 70 course, one of the most respected par plants in the land.

The amiable and articulate South African, who stands 5-7 and weighs 150, says he needs more than the $15,000 second prize or the $10,000 which goes to the third placer in this battle of champions.

"Two weeks ago at St. Paul I won $1,850 with a 273 score and my expenses were $1,900," Player said. "I travel with a party of seven—myself, my wife, three children, a nurse and my mother-in-law.

"When I check into a hotel, I just tell them I'll take the entire lower floor. It gets expensive moving around the way we do."

Player shouldn't be hurting too much, however, for as a golf tourist he won $64,000 to lead the professionals in 1961 and has gotten $44,000 this year.

The three champions played a practice round yesterday and have another on tap today before going for the big money before a nationwide video audience. Palmer matched par, Player had a 74 and Nicklaus a 76.

Nicklaus, 22, from Columbus, Ohio, headed for the practice tee for an hour's workout after yesterday's round and then played an extra nine holes.

"I haven't played a really good round in weeks," he said. He hit only five fairways from the tee and had six bogeys and no birdies in his first free ride around the long course.

Scrimmage Tomorrow For Stanford Injuns

STANFORD (AP)—Coach Jack Curtice promised to step up football drills for his Indians today in preparation for Saturday's first scrimmage. He cut yesterday's afternoon drill an hour short, saying he felt the players were tired.

THE BULLDOGS — Head coach Bob Muster explains an offensive play to his gridders of San Rafael High during a workout at the high school. The Bulldogs will be lacking experience this year, due to the return of only six lettermen from last year's team. (Independent-Journal photo)

Bulldogs Lack Experience

(Fifth in a series)
By RALPH CHATOIAN

Conceding the lack of experience on his team, head coach Bob Muster of San Rafael High School is preparing his footballers for the 1962 season which will see only six returning lettermen on the Bulldog squad.

Muster is expecting a big season from Mike Shafer, ace backfield man for the Bulldogs. Shafer is a hard runner with plenty of speed and is one of the six returning lettermen. He is a 5-11, 173-pound senior—who played from the halfback spot last year.

The other two backs who earned their letters last year are quarterback Tom Zunino (5-11, 175) and John Yeats 5-10, 165), a slot back. Both Zunino and Yeats will be playing their senior years this season at San Rafael.

VETERAN GUARDS

Paul Regalia (5-10, 170) and Ron Naeve (5-10, 155) are a pair of senior lettermen guards who will add punch and experience in the Bulldog front wall. Regalia has had two years varsity experience, as well as Bruce Howard (5-10, 172), a returning letterman end.

Newcomers Louis Pharms (6-0, 205), a guard, and tackle Mike Elliott (6-1, 198) have been impressing Muster quite a bit during the first few days of practice. Pharms, a senior, and Elliott, a junior, are both recent transfers to San Rafael.

Senior tackle Doug Childress (6-1, 201), up from last year's Bulldog junior varsity, has also received praise from Muster.

Muster admits his chargers lack experience but the athletes have plenty of desire. The Bulldogs need lots of work in the defensive backfield and offensive line, Muster said.

Muster feels the Marin County Athletic League will produce "real good ball this season."

"A team can play good ball and lose four or five games," Muster declared in commenting about the MCAL. He, as some other coaches in the league, picks Tamalpais High as the top team in the league, with Redwood High second.

Muster and his coaching staff are going to miss the kicking ability of Jack Sovereign, last year's quarterback for the Bulldogs. The coaches are still trying to come up with someone who can boot the ball but have not yet had any luck.

The Bulldogs are going to stick with last year's slot T offensive formation, Muster said. The varsity, by the way, has been cut to 33 players.

MAJOR HANDICAP

One of the major handicaps the San Rafael High footballers will have to overcome is the lack of spring practice. San Rafael was the only high school in the MCAL which was not allowed to hold the 11-day spring practice sessions this year.

Assisting Muster a scoaches this year will be Bud Chadwick, Jack Sims, Gay Quandt and Bill O'Bayley.

Cards Sign Manager For Another Season

ST. LOUIS (AP) — St. Louis Cardinals baseball manager Johnny Keane signed his 1963 contract yesterday for an estimated $35,000.

Keane told a news conference the Red Birds can't contend for the pennant next year unless they make a few changes and acquire esprit de corps. But he said no large scale moves are anticipated.

This was Keane's first full season as manager. He took over the Cardinals after the half-way mark last year.

Four Bears Hurt; Scrimmage Tomorrow

BERKELEY (AP)—Four players missed yesterday's University of California football drill, but only guard Bruce MacDonald is expected to miss Saturday's full-scale scrimmage set for 1:30 p.m.

MacDonald is out with an injured foot. Tackle Ron Calegari has a bruised back, end Bob Hudson an injured leg and halfback Greg Palamountain a hamstring muscle pull in his leg.

Big Grid Festival Tomorrow

Marin Boys Club's annual "Football Festival" will usher in the 1962 gridiron season tomorrow with a Pop Warner Conference triple header on the schedule at College of Marin Stadium in Kentfield.

The evening's colorful festivities will start at 5 o'clock with San Rafael opposing San Anselmo, followed at 7 o'clock by a Novato-Mill Valley contest and at 9 o'clock when Terra Linda challenges mighty Redwood Junior Giants, undefeated champions in their last 28 contests.

Pop Warner age maximum is 14 years and weight limit is 123 pounds.

Lending color to the program will be a performance by the Hamilton Air Force Base drill team at 6:30 o'clock; baton twirling exhibitions by majorettes from Novato; and music by high school pep bands from Terra Linda, San Rafael, Novato and Mill Valley.

Admission is a 50 cent donation to help the Marin Boys Club provide equipment for the six Pop Warner teams it sponsors.

The Detroit Tigers' murderers' row in 1961—Norm Cash, Rocky Colavito and Al Kaline—accounted for 994 bases.

Belinsky 'Cinch' To Be Traded By L.A.

NEW YORK (AP)—"It's a lead pipe cinch I'll be traded now."

This was Bo Belinsky's reaction today to the ruling by Commissioner Ford Frick killing off any possibility of the controversial Los Angeles pitcher being shipped to Kansas City at the end of the season.

The commissioner acted quickly following reports and Belinsky's own statement that he had been promised to the Athletics to seal a deal made last July 21 when the Angels purchased pitcher Dan Osinski from Kansas City's Portland farm club of the Pacific Coast League.

The commissioner, overriding denials by officials of the clubs involved, emphasized the original deal made no mention of any other player involved and cited baseball law which stipulates that "no gentlemen's agreements or understandings are permissible."

"I don't like underhanded deals either," commented Belinsky when asked what he thought of Frick's ruling. "It makes me feel good to know that there is a little justice left in baseball.

"I know a few things I can't reveal that make me feel deep down in my heart that I was headed for Kansas City," said the 25-year-old rookie southpaw who hit the headlines last May 5 when he pitched a no-hit, no-run game against Baltimore

Los Angeles Manager Bill Rigney took the decision calmly. He learned of it only minutes after his third place Angels had dropped a heart-breaking 6-5 decision to New York, dropping them 4½ games behind the American League-leading Yankees.

"Obviously," he said, "there's one club in the American League that Belinsky will never play with."

Although he gave no indication that Belinsky was on the block, the possibility the pitcher, who has won eight while losing nine for the Angels, will be back next season is very remote.

Rams Might Even Win Championship, Boasts Richter

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The experts pick the Los Angeles Rams to finish in the National Football League's second division, but Ram middlebacker Les Richter thinks they're wrong.

Richter, who played on the Rams' Western Division championship team in 1955, thinks Los Angeles will be up pretty high "and we might even win the championship.

"We're stronger defensively, so we shouldn't be losing those close games," says the Ram defensive captain. "We have a veteran team, for a change, and the coaching staff has had a chance to move in and start formulating our offense quickly."

The Rams take on the San Francisco 49ers tomorrow night in the Coliseum.

Seals Swap Wings With L.A. Blades

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — In a straight player swap, the San Francisco Seals of the Western Hockey League have traded left winger Bob Solinger to the Los Angeles Blades for right wing Danny Belisle.

The Seals also have acquired young goalie Russ Gillow from the Detroit Red Wing organization. Gillow played in a Canadian junior league last season.

Dove Hunters Strike It Rich; Status Quo In Striper Fishing

STEVENS

The dove hunters hereabouts apparently have been enjoying rather exceptionally good fortune. Dozens of reports have come in of limit bags taken over a wide range of territory.

Bill Culver and Herman Surham took easy limits, as did Lou Nardiello, while Joe Nerviani, of Joe's Launching at Santa Venetia, merely stepped out of his cabin and collected his legal limit. No report on brush or cottontail rabbits —imagine the nimrods have been too busy killing doves.

Fishing for bass maintains the status quo. Slow in upper San Pablo account of wind and rough water. Salmon continues fair, but some of the boats continue limiting out on bass on the way back to the harbor. Trolling off Yellow Bluff and Alcatraz is still fast and fancy and rock fishing off Rocky Point is something to write home about. The Privateer boated 150 assorted rockfish and landed 20 lings to 20 pounds. Bill Shaw aboard his private cruiser took a 33-pound salmon and a quick limit of bass.

CARL BENNETT, of the Rodeo Marina, reported three men in a skiff, fishing with bullheads on the flats downstream from Rodeo, came in with nine stripers—two 18-pounders, five 14s and two 8s. The Bluefish made the long trip from Rodeo to Alcatraz and netted 10 limits of bass to 14 pounds.

A POST CARD received yesterday asks: "Are the pheasants as plentiful in South Dakota this year as in several years ago? And if so, when does the season open, and how long will it run? What is the limit?" the card is signed R. A. Johnson, with an address on Laguna Ave., Oakland. A P.S. reads: "Please include in your column."

Sorry. I have no dope on So. Dakota. But I do have on a nearby state, Nebraska. It might interest some of you who would go far afield for ringnecks. The lowdown, briefly, is as follows: Best bet seems to be in Custer County where one-half million acres of ranch and farm land is said to be overstocked with pheasants. Season opens Oct. 27 and runs for 86 days through Jan. 20.

Farm and rach owners have agreed to direct hunters to participating lands. Some owners will provide guide service and also sleeping and eating accommodations. There will be a $1 charge per hunter for each farm or ranch. Limits are 4 roosters daily and 16 in possession. Hunting permits (licenses) will cost you $15 and, of course, $1 for an upland bird stamp.

Application for the permit and the stamp, along with the full details of all hunting are available by writing to Nebraskaland, State House, Lincoln 9, Nebraska.

REMEMBER—If you hunt or fish in another state, you are required to make declaration of entry when bring such game back into California. That is, UNLESS your game or fish is shipped to your home by common carrier. I suggest you pick up a declaration of entry form before you leave, to save time and trouble. Get 'em at Department of Fish and Game, 722 Capitol Avenue, Sacramento 14, Calif.

Pro Football—Hard Knocks, Heartbreaks

SIDELINES

By ED RANDOL

Quiet voices. Slow, deliberate motions. Miles and miles of tape carefully wound around hands, wrists, knees and ankles. The walls of the tiny dressing room seem to bulge as the 49ers suit up for the night's game. So many muscles in such a little room!

Confident faces, serious faces. And young rookie faces now showing the strain of weeks of sweating effort on practice fields and football stadia up and down the coast. Tonight comes the examination for a course tougher than any they had in college. Trial by fire. Four will flunk, four MUST flunk to meet cutdown requirements.

Sitting shoulder to shoulder on the dressing room benches, dressed only in underwear and tape, bereft of the awe-inspiring pads and armor of the playing field, you suddenly realize that most of these young gladiators look strangely like the kid next door. Only a heck of a lot bigger.

And you can't help but wonder why these young men choose the hard knocks of professional football as a stepping stone to integration with the spectators who pay to see them play, and whose ranks they will join in so few years.

Barring a few outstanding exceptions, six or seven years is a lifetime in the ranks of the pro. Most players are college graduates. Is it worth the effort? All you have to do is ask and you get the answers.

"The reasons aren't too complicated," a veteran lineman told me. "First of all, you have to like football. I mean REALLY like it. I think that applies to any professional sport where you are up against the best in the business week after week. Just going through the motions is not enough.

"Sometimes, by the middle of a season, you get so tired and sore that you can hardly get up on a Monday morning. But by the next Sunday you're eager to go again unless you're really hurting. And it's a lot easier if you are winning.

"Every man here has the physical equipment to make good or he wouldn't have been drafted. At first, when you are a rookie, there is a personal challenge to meet that is as old as history. If you make the team, somebody else has to go, and you've won your first the guy being challenged until the guy being chalelnged until you reach the end of the line."

Dressed but for the hard hat of his trade, the veteran stood up and looked down at me from 'way up there. "Sure, money is a factor. If you're lucky, you get a good salary, some endorsements, and a shot at some darn good off-season jobs or investments. Whether you go into coaching or business it helps to have made a name for yourself.

"Looking ahead, I think my big problem will be to know when to quit. It won't help my future in this area if you writers are running me down and the fans are booing me. Just two more years for me." The team started moving out of the dressing room toward the field. The big lineman looked back over his shoulder and grinned. "Or maybe three years!"

Tomorrow night in the Los Angeles Coliseum the 49ers will meet the Rams in the final exhibition game of the year. But there will be a battle within a battle, as Coach Red Hickey must make three more cuts from his squad to get down to his roster limit.

Challenger or challenged? The crowd roars, three men pack up their heartbreak and leave, and the show goes on.

Sanford Named N.L. Player Of The Month

CINCINNATI, (UPI)—Twenty-game winner Jack Sanford of the San Francisco Giants has been named the National League's "player of the month" for August in a poll of baseball writers and broadcasters.

Sanford, who won six and lost none during August, edged Frank Robinson of the Cincinnati Reds in the balloting.

Homeowners Vote 75-Cent Tax For Roads

Homeowners in a special assessment district in Bolinas have voted unanimously to tax themselves 75 cents per $100 assessed valuation in order to get paved roads in their area.

The Bolinas Highlands Permanent Road Division was created by resolution of the board of supervisors July 3 as requested by petition from the 19 homeowners on Cliff Road and Crescente, Mabel and Altura avenues in Bolinas.

The tax will allow paving of the four roads by the county public works department. All 19 residents voted for the tax in a special election held Tuesday in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Ford on Altura Avenue.

3 High School Diploma Courses Offered Adults

Three courses carrying credit for a high school diploma will be offered during the fall quarter of the Tamalpais Adult Evening School, Principal Harry G. Russell announced today.

A class in English grammar is scheduled for Mondays and Wednesdays, 7:30 to 9:30 p.m., at Drake High. Mrs. Yuriko Moriwaki is the instructor.

U.S. history is offered on Tuesdays and Thursdays, 7:30 to 10 p.m. at Tamalpais High. Gerald M. Lucey is the instructor.

General science will be given at Tam by Leon Bennett on Mondays and Wednesdays, 7:30 to 9:30 p.m.

The courses combine fundamentals of several subjects to complete requirements for graduation. Evaluation of school records and work experience is available by appointment at the adult evening office on the Drake campus in San Anselmo.

Registration for all classes opens Tuesday at Drake and Wednesday at Tam.

'FEATHERBEDDING' FIGHTING WORD

Rail Dispute Showdown Nearing

By WILLIAM P. GRUBER

CHICAGO (UPI)—To a railroad man, there is nothing soft about the word "featherbedding." It's a fighting word and the showdown may be at hand.

To railroad management, "featherbedding" means unnecessary paychecks for jobs which have been made obsolete through modernization and automation.

The railroads maintain they can no longer afford to pay for jobs and practices—"work rules"—which have become as outmoded as the steam engine.

But to the rail unions, the "featherbedding" charge is a device to eliminate tens of thousands of jobs which, the railroad brotherhoods claim, are still essential to the safe and efficient running of the trains.

The two sides have been arguing for decades. This year, a major strike and the threat of a far greater walkout have been substituted for words.

One of the nation's largest railways, the Chicago and North Western, was shut down last week by telegraphers demanding a "job freeze." The AFL-CIO Order of Railroad Telegraphers (ORT) insisted that the railroad get agreement from them before it lopped off any telegraphers' jobs. When the railroad refused, the ORT called out its men along the North Western's nine-state Midwest network.

On a still larger front, five operating unions representing 210,000 on-train employees said they would strike against all the nation's railroads if a series of "anti-featherbedding" work rules changes go into effect.

The railroads, equally determined, say the old work rules systems are costing them 590 million dollars a year. Among other things, they propose to eliminate the jobs of 40,000 firemen on freight diesel locomotives. Other changes would eventually wipe out a total of 65,000 jobs, according to railroad figuring. The unions say the probable figure is closer to 80,000.

The battle is currently mired in the Chicago federal courts and both sides expect President John F. Kenndey to step in with appointment of an emergency board if the issue comes down to the strike stage. That would sidetrack a nationwide rail tieup for at least 60 days and might, some railroad men think, result in federal legislation.

Since the turn of the century, the railroads say they have watched virtually every phase of their operations deteriorate on the profit and loss sheet.

Other modes of transport decreased the railroads' share of the nation's hauling even though railroads spent nearly 17 billion dollars for new equipment since 1945.

Class I railroads, which do 98 per cent of all rail hauling, last year reported a total net income of $382,446,334 against $693,175,998 in 1951. One road went bankrupt in 1961 and several others said they were near that point.

Due to technological changes and efforts to slash expenses, rail employment by 1961 was down to 717,543 from 1,663,896 during the peak years of the 1920s.

H. E. Gilbert, president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, says unions have not fought technological change. The unions agreed to the elimination of more than 55,000 jobs resulting from dieselization since the war, he said.

Gilbert adds that the claim of railroad poverty is a myth. Rail stocks today, he said, are worth as much as 53 times more than in 1942 in terms of market value and dividends. Railroads had a capital surplus and retained income of 11.4 billion dollars in 1960 compared with 4.4 billion dollars 10 years earlier, Gilbert said.

The jobs under dispute, he said, are essential to safety and efficiency. Unions have often accused railroads of allowing their facilities to deteriorate and cite train accidents as proof.

On the other side is James E. Wolfe, chief railroad negotiator. He concedes that most railroads have had to defer improvements. He denied, however, that any danger resulted and said the railroads could sharply update their facilities and hire needed workers with money they could save from "featherbedding."

The work rules issue dates back to the days when firemen stoked the boilers of steam locomotives, brakemen scampered over the tops of moving trains to set hand brakes, and trains were slower than they are today, Wolfe said.

"The rules evolved through the ages like the common law," he said. "Most of them were all right at the time. During World War I, we had to change locomotives at every division point. The average trip was 100 miles every eight hours. Freight trains had an average speed of 10 mph.

"Modern diesel locomotives, however, are much faster. There are no more fires to feed, yet firemen still ride in the cab without serving a useful purpose. Federal laws now require air brakes, so we have a brakeman in the freight cab, too."

Unions say firemen are needed for maintenance, safety and as an emergency engineer even though their title may be out of date. The fireman also watched the left, or blind side, of the engine. Railroads say the brakeman could do this.

Wolfe replies that some countries have eliminated firemen on the railroads. In Canada, he said, trains without firemen have "a little better safety record" than those with them. "There's less chance for distraction," he said.

The railroads also seek changes in rules covering "obsolete" mileage basic pay stanwards, separation of road and yard service jobs and duplicate time payments for road crews which might handle some other assignment as switching an engine.

They propose to raise a basic day's pay from 100 to 160 miles for crews operating passenger locomotives and through freight trains. Corresponding adjustments are proposed for other crew pay rates.

Rules banning crews from operating through present division points would also be revised. Eight engine crews now are needed to run a passenger train over the 961-mile, 16-hour course from New York to Chicago, according to the Assn. of American Railroads.

Unions, on the other hand, want increased overtime pay, a 10 per cent differential for night work, monthly earning guarantees, expenses for time away from home and holiday pay with shorter work hours.

A nationwide rail strike in 1946 partly reflected an effort to revise work rules, he said. Scattered walkouts hit several roads in 1951 and 1952 for the same reason, but the Army ordered the men back to work under emergency war powers. Minor changes were made at that time.

Since then, both sides have accused the other of negotiating in bad faith. In 1959, the carriers submitted a list of demands which unions countered with proposals of their own. The resulting deadlock led to the formation of a presidential railroad commission which came up with recommendations less drastic than the industry's last February.

The union opposed the proposed new rules on the grounds they were "illegal" since they were not served under collective bargaining procedures of the National Railway Act. Railroads then reverted to their original demands, and the matter plunged into the courts when unions sought to enjoin the carriers from puttitng the rules into effect. There the matter stands today.

Theft Of Truck Is Cleared Up In Corte Madera

The theft of a truck from a Corte Madera industrial firm, and burglaries and malicious mischief at the firm and three others were cleared up with the apprehension of two boys aged 9 and 12, Police Chief Frank Nelson reported yesterday.

Damage was estimated at several hundred dollars.

The yards of Brown-Ely Co. and Ceccotti and Son of Marin, Inc., were broken into several weeks ago and several trucks banged up. Later the North Bay Lumber Co. and Denny's House of Plumbing were entered by burglars.

A truck, stolen from the plumbing firm, was recovered several blocks away.

Bolinas Highlands Residents Vote Road District

Nineteen of the 22 Bolinas Highlands residents eligible to vote cast ballots Tuesday in favor of imposing a special tax of 75 cents per $100 assessed valuation on all within the newly formed Bolinas Highlands Permanent Road District in the next fiscal year.

Nobody voted against the levy.

Mrs. Norman Ford, who spearheaded the movement to set up the district earlier this year, revealed the good news Wednesday when she took results of the election to County Clerk George Gnoss.

The district was formed last July 3 by action of the Marin County Board of Supervisors after the filing of a legally required petition. It was necessary that a majority vote in favor of the proposed tax be cast and notified to Sacramento before next Feb. 1 in order that the tax be levied for the 1963-64 fiscal year.

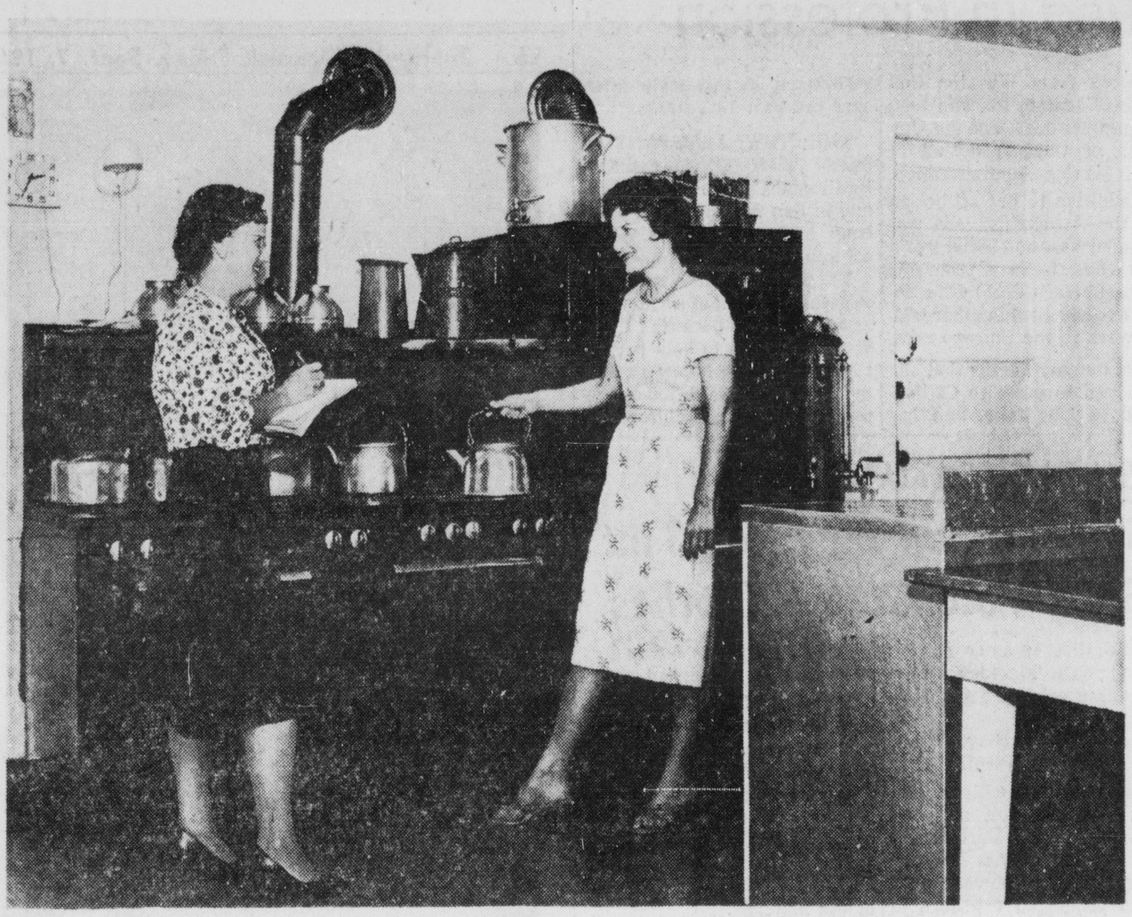
Outdoor Art Club's 60th Year



MANY LUNCHEONS AND dinners and refreshments for teas are prepared in this well equipped though old fashioned kitchen of Mill Valley's Outdoor Art Club, which celebrates its 60th anniversary this year. Checking equipment in preparation for the club year are two of the board members. From left are Mrs. Lowell F. Jett, first vice president, and Mrs. Gerhard Becker, community services chairman. (Independent-Journal photos)

THIS IS THE MAIN ROOM of Mill Valley's Outdoor Art Clubhouse in Mill Valley, designed 58 years ago by famed architect Bernard Maybeck. Through the years it has been a community center used for cultural and civic events, headquarters for disaster relief, and place where the Mill Valley Library and churches were founded. Checking over facilities prior to the opening of the 60th year of the club on Thursday are, from left, 50th president Mrs. Joseph Brewster seated at the piano, Mrs. John Lennon, cultural arts chairman and Mrs. Eugene McGeorge, advisory committee chairman.

'Ladies To The Rescue' Led To Mill Valley Organization

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

"Just what is the Outdoor Art Club?" newcomers to Mill Valley often ask, judging from its name that it is some kind of art organization. And even old timers frequently are unable to answer the question correctly.

Since the club will start its 60th year Thursday with its first meeting of the season devoted to honoring founders and past presidents, now is a good time to tell its story.

The club has had 50 presidents — with Mrs. Joseph Brewster the current one — and there is only one living founder, Mrs. Harvey A. Klyce, who still lives in the old family home she has occupied for more than 60 years.

The town of Mill Valley, called affectionately by its residents then "The Little Switzerland of America," was incorporated in 1900, and the club was founded in 1902 under the slogan "Ladies to the Rescue!"

PROUD OF THEIR giant redwoods, hills, cascades and fern bordered streams at the foot of Tamalpais, 34 women became alarmed when better transportation began to bring hundreds of picnickers, and with them litter and destruction of native plants.

Unnecessary cutting of redwoods they considered even more disastrous—so on Aug. 2, 1902, at the old Summit School these 34 women as charter members founded the Outdoor Art Club, pledging themselves "to preserve the natural scenery of Mill Valley and the surrounding country, to encourage the development of outdoor art and engage in civic, social and literary work."

Today the club has 350 members, is the oldest women's club in Marin and one of the oldest and largest in the state.

The charter members were soon joined by other eager women, and projects were started, such as cleanup drives, restoring the old mill from which Mill Valley gets its name, and landscaping the grounds of one school.

In this story no mention is made of individuals, for the true impact of the club on the community has been through all of its members working as a unit.

AS INTEREST GREW, a clubhouse became necessary. Today members are proud of the foresight and judgment of their founders, for their choice of location in the center of Mill Valley and style of architecture. Famed architect Bernard Maybeck designed the gracious building —now 58 years old—which is considered a fine example of his work.

Throughout the 60 years this building has been used for many purposes.

During the earthquake and fire in San Francisco in 1906 the club cancelled all activities to assist the Red Cross. The building was used to cook and serve meals and as a supply depot. Quantities of food, clothing and bedding were distributed to refugees.

In the fall of 1906 the first dramatic presentation, after the earthquake given in the Bay Area was written by MRS. LOVELL WHITE, whose idea it was to found the Outdoor Art Club in Mill Valley. Mrs. White was the mother of Ralston White, builder of the famed "Garden of Allah" and, wife of one of the builders of the old Mt. Tamalpais Railroad.

Urged Abatement Of Nuisances

Kathleen Thompson (novelist Kathleen Norris) and presented on the club's stage.

Again in 1913 and 1929 when disastrous fires threatened Mill Valley, all facilities were open for use by the city and staffed by members. Food was served in the club and on the fire lines.

Similar activities were carried on during the three wars in the life of the club.

The Mill Valley library was started by the club in the clubhouse and staffed by members. As the town grew and a library was built in 1909, it donated 750 books to the new library.

Members raised shrubs and not only planted the club grounds but gave them to any home owner interested in beautifying his property.

ONE OF THE club's most worth while services is the well baby clinic started in 1924. The second generation of babies is now coming in for checkups.

From the beginning the club has been a cultural center as the scene of plays, recitals, lectures and concerts. The Mill Valley forum and the Mill Valley Concert series ran for many years. Classes in foreign languages, book reviews and garden talks have been given—all open to the public.

In 1920 the club established a scholarship fund. Just one example is that for the past three years a brilliant young Tamalpais High School graduate, Marisa Saetti, has been the recipient of an art scholarship to help pay for her study in Italy under the world famous sculptor Manzu.

The building has also been used by many church groups while they were building their own facilities. Two large churches, the Community and the Lutheran, had their beginnings in the clubhouse.

Without becoming involved in partisan politics, the membership has sponsored candidate nights and informative

NEW ASSISTANT DIRECTOR at the Sunny Hills Home in San Anselmo, Margaret E. Butcher, looks over a copy of the recently published book "Drop-outs" for which she served as supervisor and psychiatric social worker with the Scholarship and Guidance Assn. of Chicago who assembled data for the publication. Sunny Hills Assistant Director Highly Qualified In Profession

By PATRICIA ZINN

Margaret E. Butcher, who assumed her duties as new assistant director of Sunny Hills on Tuesday, brings to the home in San Anselmo and to Marin a professional background of 29 years of social work in the Chicago area.

In the Sunny Hills treatment program for disturbed adolescents which she terms a "challenging opportunity," Miss Butcher brings high qualifications, having been supervisor and psychiatric social worker with the Scholarship and Guidance Assn. in Chicago which assembled the data for the newest book in the field of work with adolescents entitled "Drop-Outs."

THIS BOOK, published in May, is a report of the work of the Scholarship and Guidance Assn. in assisting high school youth of good mental capacity who are in danger of dropping out of school because of failure. The three-year project was based on the assumption that such youngsters can best be helped by helping them to resolve the family and personal problems which are preventing them from using their intellectual capacities.

In discussing the book, the new assistant director pointed up that 40 per cent of all students in high school today will drop out. She went on to say that "Project Drop-Out" was more successful where you could involve the parents. One hundred and five students from 25 high schools were involved in the three year clinical study.

MARGARET BUTCHER was graduated with a degree in social work from Wheaton College in Wheaton, Ill., and took her master's degree at the University of Chicago School of Social Service Administration.

In addition to her affiliation with the Association, she was also supervisor and social worker in child welfare programs for the Chicago Child Care Society and involved in other welfare work in the Chicago area.

Miss Butcher admits that she has hoped to come to California for a long time, and has vacationed in this state often over the past 16 years.

THE NEW ASSISTANT to Sunny Hills Director Perry Hall resides on Oak Knoll Avenue in San Anselmo and, aside from her work, enjoys classical music, weaving and sewing.

Margaret Butcher says she selected the field of social work as a profession because "I like people and like to help people. I know I will be happy at Sunny Hills because I have concern especially for children."

Summer Sun May Rob Tint From Your Cotton Clothes

While that summer sun is turning you to a golden brown and adding color to your skin, it may very well be robbing both color and strength from your summer wardrobe.

Your prettiest cottons and beach togs as well as your husband's sport shirts, and children's playclothes may be fading right before your eyes due to prolonged exposure to the sun. Also, the exposure may gradually weaken some fabrics.

While certain dyes are color fast to sunlight, others are highly susceptible to the sun's rays. Vat dyes, as a classification, were pointed out as the best obtainable and a garment of cotton, which is vat dyed is most likely to retain its original color.

Lengthy exposure will cause almost any fabric to show gradual loss of strength. Most easily effected by the sun, however, is silk as far as loss of strength is concerned.

When purchasing a garment, look for the certified washable seal. It is the best insurance against sun fading. Garments bearing the seal have been put through rigorous testing not only for sun fading, but for color fastness to washing, shrinkage and tensile strength of the material.

Rotating your wardrobe is another way of insuring your clothes against too much sun fading. Although every fabric will lighten due to the effects of sun exposure, you can reduce this problem by interchanging summer outfits, and by allowing yourself at least two or three different outfits for those days spent out in the sun.

In addition to protecting clothing and household accessories from unnecessary overexposure to the sun, clothes also require extra care during hot weather. To avoid fabric damage or staining caused by perspiration, clothing should be laundered frequently and soon after wearing.

Clothing is accessible to stains during the summer months. Stains resulting from catsup, mustard, berries, and grass are difficult to remove once they have been allowed to set in the material. Such stains should be rinsed in cold water.

MOLLY MERRILL

Molly Merrill To Be Bride Of William Wallace Sterling

An early November wedding is being planned by Molly Merrill and William Wallace Sterling, whose engagement has been announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Holbrook Merrill Jr. of Sausalito.

Molly is the sister of Jenefer and Alice Merrill and the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Merrill of Menlo Park and the late Mr. and Mrs. Carl Lane Clemans. She attended Dominican Convent and Stanford University and studied at the Sorbonne.

The future bridegroom is the son of Dr. and Mrs. J. E. Wallace Sterling of Stanford University and the brother of Susan and Judith Sterling. He is the grandson of Albert Morley Shaver of Ontario, Canada and the late Mrs. Shaver and the late Rev. and Mrs. William Sterling.

William was graduated from Phillips Academy at Andover, Mass. and Stanford University and studied at Oxford University as a Rhodes Scholar.

Reed P-TC Plans Films Tomorrow

Two films, one a full length feature and the other a cartoon will be shown tomorrow in the Reed School auditorium. There will be two showings, one at 10 a.m., the other at noon.

Sponsored by the Reed Unit of the Parent-Teacher Club, proceeds will be used to purchase books for the school library according to Mrs. Everett Girtler, unit president.

Club Keys Its Projects To Wider Conservation Fields

speeches on topics of current interest as a public service.

SINCE THE INCEPTION of the Grape Festival, the club has participated in raising of funds for Sunny Hills and at the present time plays fairy godmother to one of the cottages, a group of boys calling themselves "The Jaguars." And Marin County Hospital and Farm at Lucas Valley has been visited many times to bring cheer with gifts, books and entertainment.

The original purpose of the club was conservation of natural resources. From defending trees and shrubs from vandalism members went on to the planting of trees along streets as new tracts were opened. In many cases the streets were planted before houses were built, which accounts for street names such as Sycamore, Walnut, Catalpa, Elm and Locust.

Alice Eastland, noted early day resident, gave the club women quantities of forget-me-not seeds, which they scattered far and wide, and to this day they bloom every spring on the hills and in gardens.

THE JUNIOR CIVIC League was formed by the club's forestry and botany section, now called civics and conservation. By working with this group boys and girls became interested and active in civic and forest work. This young group waged the battle against a plague of caterpillars one year, helping to preserve the trees.

In these early days members watered the trees they planted, cleaned out debris from the creeks and urged town trustees to do something about the abatement of nuisances.

Constantly aware of the need to preserve outdoor beauty through the acquiring and upkeep of the redwood groves, the club purchased and gave the city a section adjoining Old Mill Park to complete the area and for many years kept the Old Mill in repair.

It donated the original benches and trash cans to Old Mill Park. The first flag and flagpole in Lytton Square was presented to the town by the club, and in later years it presented the city with the bus station's outdoor drinking fountain and led the campaign to purchase the redwood grove which adjoins Miller grove on West Blithedale.

Today members keep a watchful eye on all plans for the development of Mill Valley and surrounding areas and at the present are represented by two members on the Mill Valley Parks and Recreation Commission.

FROM COMMUNITY conservation projects the club went on to help in wider fields of conservation. In the last three years it has financed the planting of seedling pines in 30 acres of El Dorado National Forest.

This year it has joined with other groups in the purchase of the Audubon Canyon Ranch Wildlife Preserve on Bolinas lagoon by pledging the money to buy one acre. This is one of the last nesting places of the great blue herons and American egrets and will be open to the public for observation and recreation.

Yes, Outdoor Art Club members can be counted on as "Ladies to the Rescue" whenever anything is threatened that makes Mill Valley, Marin County and the State of California a beautiful place to live.

'Bridge To Silver' Planned Sept. 13

The Sausalito Woman's Club will be host on Thursday at the first of two special events held in memory of Miss Fanny Shoobert.

Miss Shoobert, who died in April, was the last surviving founder of the Sausalito Woman's Club, which celebrates its 50th anniversary this year. Over the years she gave the club many of its finest treasures. In honoring her, members hope that sufficient funds will be raised to complete the silver tea service, the fund for which was started with a bequest left by Miss Shoobert.

Her main interests were to bring culture to the picturesque community and to conserve its beauty — objectives which the club continues to carry out.

Card games for members and guests will take place at the clubhouse from 1:30 to 4 p.m. Each hostess is requested to bring table covers and cards.

Following the card games "Champagne Poolside" will be held at the residence of Mrs. William U. Remensperger, 1 San Carlos Ave.

Mrs. Remensperger, general chairman for this special event, is being assisted by Mesdames Richard F. Phillips, decorating; Wint F. Saint, refreshments; Frank Kelly, beverage; S. C. Stapp, awards; and L. S. M. Beckett, tickets.

Club president Mrs. Stanley Cowen and Mrs. Stapp will greet members and guests at the door.

Lutheran Women Plan Luncheon

A salad luncheon will be served Thursday at noon by the Lutheran women in San Rafael who have completed transcription and printing of 500 copies of the Book of St. Matthew into sight saving print for persons with failing sight. The luncheon will be held at the home of Mrs. W. R. Normington of San Rafael. The books will be assembled at the luncheon meeting.

House Of Spring Theme For Thursday View Show

Mary Cheshire, a distinctive name in San Francisco circles, fashion and social, keeps an "Autumn Appointment" on Thursday at "Fashions With a View" from the Ondine in Sausalito introducing a new collection of town and country classics and casuals perfect to wear while touring the new "House of Spring."

"House of Spring" in Tiburon is a contemporary adobe built by Lyn Wesley Jaeger to benefit Spring Opera of San Francisco.

Thursday's show will give a warm welcome to the builder Jaeger, who also has arranged for proceeds from the sale of the "House of Spring" to go to Spring Opera. He will be joined at the guest table by Mrs. Leon Guenin, herself a decorator of note and chairman of the Spring Opera "House of Spring."

Mary Cheshire has invited Mrs. William Brantman, Mrs. Richard Woods, Mrs. Charles Bullock, and Mrs. Hal Wagner to model her designs for the Thursday 12:30 p.m. "Fashions With a View."

MARIN'S SOCIAL WHIRL

Kathleen Wilsey Being Honored At Dinner Dance Tomorrow

By FLORENCE DONNELLY

The little season for debutantes, who will make their bows to society in December, is being brought to a gala close with supper and dinner dances. The Jack Wilseys of San Rafael are giving a dinner dance tomorrow night honoring their daughter, Kathleen, who will be presented at the Marin ball Dec. 20 at Peacock Gap Golf and Country Club.

KATHLEEN WILSEY

Kathy, who is a recent graduate of Marin Catholic High School, is enrolled at College of Marin. About 90 guests, the debs, dates and Kathy's other friends have been invited. The party will be in the garden of the Wilseys' Fairhills home and the guests will dance in the large patio. Kathy, who will have Jack Sovereign of San Rafael as her escort, will wear a white silk brocade sheath and coral slippers matched by the flowers in her nosegay.

Kathy was honored at a tea Wednesday given by her aunt, Mrs. Alfred Wilsey of Kent Woodlands, at the St. Francis Yacht Club.

Margaret Tinning (Taffy) Evans and Caroline Clifton Drewes are sharing the spotlight at the tea dance in the Room of the Dons at Mark Hopkins Hotel this evening. Giving the party are Taffy's grandmother, Mrs. Harry L. Evans of San Francisco, for many years a Marin resident and her sister, Mrs. Nicholas Kittle Boyd of San Rafael, and Mr. Boyd. Taffy, daughter of Mrs. Noble Hamilton Jr. of Ross and the late Lt. Harry L. Evans, will make her curtsy at the Marin Ball. Caroline, daughter of Judge and Mrs. Robert J. Drewes, will be present at the San Francisco Cotillion Dec. 27. Mrs. Drewes and Mrs. Nicholas Kittle Boyd Jr. are sisters.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard M. Duff of Kent Woodlands presented their daughter, Susan, who will bow at the Cotillion, at a tea dance Tuesday evening at the Burlingame Country Club. In the receiving line with Sue and her parents was her grandfather, Leo V. Merle. The receiving line formed before the fireplace in the Red Room of the club which was decorated with rubrum lilies, cockscomb and pink snapdragons. In the family group were Sue's older sister, Diana and her fiance, Victor Carter, and Sue's brother, Dennis. Among those in the Marin contingent were the Sanford Lowengarts, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Roche, Mr. and Mrs. Val Seale and the Joseph Hickingbothams. The 400 guests were seated at tables around the dance floor for the buffet supper served at 9 o'clock.

PETER AND HELEN DAVIDSON will be moving to San Francisco for the winter months but their many friends will be glad to learn that the Davidsons will return to their home on Bolinas Road in Fairfax after young Peter finishes the term at St. Luke's Nursery School in June.

NEW RESIDENTS of San Rafael are Mr. and Mrs. Italo Adamis and their daughter, Janice, who is enrolled at College of Marin. Their home at 49 Bellevue Avenue has just been completed. It is a three bedroom house of contemporary design. Mr. Adamis is vice president of Atlas Metal Spinning Co. The Adamis family moved here from Santa Rosa. They are former residents of Hillsborough.

MR. AND MRS. RICHARD J. MacLAURY, who rented a house at Lake Tahoe Meadows for a month, have returned to their home on Corinthian Island. With the MacLaurys were their children, Richard, Margerie and Joyce and their young cousin, Celia MacLaury, who came from her home in New York City for a two weeks' visit. Several friends visited the MacLaurys and enjoyed fishing, sailing, and water skiing. The MacLaurys took two boats up to the lake, one with an outboard motor for water skiing and fishing and the other, El Toro, for sailing.

MARIN DATEBOOK

Tonight:

BUZZIN' BOOTS Square Dance Club, 8:30 p.m., Star Hall, San Anselmo.

TAMALPAIS YW-WIVES Club, 10 a.m., Church of Our Saviour, Mill Valley.

LADIES AUXILIARY to Canton San Rafael No. 39, 8 p.m., Odd Fellows Temple, San Rafael.

El Marinero To Hear Reading

El Marinero Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution will hold its first meeting of the season Sept. 17 at the home of Mrs. John Nelson Jr. in Mill Valley.

The regent, Mrs. Bruno L. Ercolini of Fairfax, will preside. Constitution Week will be highlighted with a reading by Mrs. Cecil E. Miller of Mill Valley.

Mrs. Edwin Thomas, vice regent and permanent hostess of the chapter, will be assisted in serving luncheon by Mesdames Vera H. Harlan of Sausalito, Leslie Stanley of Mill Valley, Herbert Pratt of San Rafael and Robert E. Munter of San Anselmo.

St. Sebastian's Club To Open Season At Tea

St. Sebastian's Women's Club will open the fall season on Sept. 26 with a membership tea to be held from 1 to 3 o'clock in the Greenbrae parish hall.

The event will afford newcomers to the community an opportunity to get acquainted with the group. The Rev. Harry Leonard is pastor of the church.

Mrs. Mel Riccardi is chairman for the tea. Committee members include the Mesdames Monty Ambinder, William Fleckles, David Sullivan, James Dreier and Victor Donati.

Lusey-Masters Rite Held In San Anselmo

The Rev. Paul Buckholtz was the officiating minister for the Saturday wedding of Beverly Masters of San Rafael and Michael K. Lusey of San Carlos at the First Presbyterian Church in San Anselmo.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert R. Masters of San Rafael.

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride wore a gown of white organza which extended into a chapel train.

Preceding the bride to the altar in orchid silk sheaths with nylon tulle overskirts were Barbara Buck Davis of Novato, as maid of honor, and bridesmaids, Cindy Lusey, the bridegroom's sister of San Carlos and Mrs. Raymond Caumet of San Mateo.

Morris Feibusch of San Francisco acted as best man and ushers were Raymond Caumet of San Mateo and William Harwood of San Francisco.

The bride was graduated from Sir Francis Drake High School and San Francisco State College.

The bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Lusey of San Carlos, was graduated from Carlmont High School and San Francisco State College. He is employed at the Federal Reserve Bank in San Francisco. Patrick Lusey of San Carlos is his brother.

The newlyweds will make their home in San Francisco.

Your Baby Needs Love And Security Create A Friendly World For Him

The world is strange, to a tiny baby. Shall we look at life through your new baby's eyes?

At first he was frightened. Through long months in the dark comfort of the womb he grew without awareness. There was no pain or discomfort. Then birth started. He didn't know what was happening. But he could feel pressure, and sense fear. The torture lasted for hours. His head was squeezed out of shape. His body was twisted. No wonder he greeted independent existence with wails of dismay and anger.

Now birth is over, and he is learning. He has to eat for himself. Sucking comes naturally, but the refinements of nursing don't. It takes time to learn. Breathing is new, although nature takes care of that. Feeling clothes upon his skin is new. Feeling temperature changes is new. Feeling hunger is new. Seeing light is new. Hearing sounds is new. Having bowel movements and urinating are new. Everything is strange and different.

Your tiny baby isn't rational. He can't reason things out. But he has his emotions. He knows fear. He senses his helplessness. He needs comfort, love and security. He needs to learn that after all the world is a fine, friendly place. He should not have to learn that it is hostile and dangerous. His lifelong personality is being patterned by what he learns.

Want to help your tiny baby? Then be his slave. Feed him when he's hungry. Let him sleep when he's sleepy. Hold and cuddle him when he wants companionship. Nurse him, if

Marin MAGAZINE
Bright reading for the whole week

Featured this Saturday:

As a boy in Montana George E. Holmboe fell in love with the forests. It was not surprising, then, that he chose a career with the federal and California forestry and parks services. And that he is happy today at his job as supervisor of Mt. Tamalpais State Park. Independent-Journal reporter Maybelle Speckman has written about George Holmboe for tomorrow's Marin Magazine.

It may seem strange that one of the most peaceful and scenic drives in all Marin is the one that takes you to the three coastal military installations—Forts Baker, Barry, and Cronkhite. But the Marin Magazine's popular "See Marvelous Marin" series so advises you tomorrow. And urges you to make that drive and enjoy the magnificent views and interesting sights along the way.

Terra Linda's Del Ganado Park, operated by the Terra Linda Recreation District, has attracted widespread interest as an example of how a well-organized program can make intensified use of a limited area. Marin Magazine editor Don Keown describes the facilities and programs for you in tomorrow's issue. And I-J photographer Robert Hax has provided pictures of the program in operation.

Marin's own magazine . . . picturing and reporting life in Marin today . . . personalities, recreation, coming events, book reviews, gardening, music, home improvement, weekly TV log. A week of good reading. Look for it, Saturdays.

When You Need Partner's Help, Remember To Do Work Yourself

When you need partner's help to defeat a contract, try to do as much of the work as possible.

You may have to cash your tricks in a precise order to make sure of getting them all.

When this hand came along in a rubber bridge game in Bayside, N. Y., Dick Hinkle thought the defense all the way through. Not being a mind reader, he started with a waiting trump lead.

SOUTH WON

South won in his hand, led another trump to dummy, and then finessed the queen of spades to West's king.

Hinkle now had to find the right defense.

Nothing could be done unless East had the ace of clubs or diamonds. The first problem was which to play East for.

Since only five diamonds were missing, Hinkle saw that getting three diamond tricks would be quite difficult.

His partner would need the ten of diamonds as well as the ace, and even that might not help if East had too many diamonds.

CLUB ACE

Hinkle saw that defeat was far more likely if East had the ace of clubs. There were all sorts of distributions which made it possible for the defenders to get two clubs and one diamond.

The important thing was to get the two club tricks before one of them disappeared.

Hinkle therefore led the king of clubs from his hand.

ANOTHER CLUB

When this won, he could lead another club to East's ace and wait for a diamond trick to come his way.

West could not defeat the contract by leading a lower club first. East would have to win with the ace of clubs. If East then returned a club to the king, West would be endplayed; any further lead from the West hand would cost a trick.

And if East switched to a diamond instead of returning a club, South would step up with the ace of diamonds and run the spades to discard a club from dummy.

Today is Friday, Sept. 7, the 250th day of 1962 with 115 to follow.

The moon is in its first quarter.

The morning stars are Mars and Jupiter.

The evening stars are Jupiter, Saturn and Venus.

On this day in history:

In 1813, the nickname Uncle Sam was coined by a writer for the Troy, (N.Y.) Post.

In 1822, Spain granted Brazil independence.

In 1940, the Nazis started the London blitz to terrorize the British public.

A thought for the day: W. Somerset Maugham said: "People ask you for criticism, but they only want praise."

TODAY'S EDITORIAL

T. J. DeLasaux Should Have Lived To See Rapid Transit

Thorpe J. DeLasaux should have lived to see rapid transit become a reality, even though it would not at first have reached Marin County.

For more than a quarter of a century he had worked and dreamed of improved transportation for the county. No man for inaction, he had led a fight more than 20 years ago which resulted in Mill Valley passing a bond issue which could have resulted in its going into direct competion with Greyhound Lines for the area's commuter business. Greyhound service improved.

One of the saddest days of his life was when he was forced to lead Marin County out of the Bay Area Rapid Tranit District because of inability of the trains to cross the Golden Gate Bridge.

He had been a tireless worker for the transit district. When he was appointed a director in 1957, as the district was being organized, he promised "barring sickness, I will not miss a meeting."

Barring sickness, he didn't. But in the Fall of 1960 he had his first heart seizure and missed a number of meetings.

But even before his friends thought he should, he was back at work representing both the idea of rapid transit and the needs of the transit district in blunt, outspoken English that all could understand.

So we are particularly dispirited that he did not live to see rapid transit a reality.

But there is much more than that. Coming to Marin County as a boy at the time of the earthquake in 1906, he in reality grew up with the county. And he was an active participant in its growth.

Besides his transportation interests, he operated a downtown grocery store, which he eventually converted into a liquor store, and was a friend to literally thousands of Mill Valleyans and Marinites. He was elected to the City Council and served meritoriously there until he resigned to accept the transit district appointment.

His friendly attitude, his crisp, chopped speech and his broad smile were welcome in hundreds of homes and businesses around Marin. He'll be missed by us all.

FORTUNE WILLED TO STRAY CATS

A man with a soft spot in his heart for alley cats left $103,600 in his will for the building and maintenance of a home in England for strays.

For years before he died, the unusual benefactor had made it a hobby to cruise through London's alleys in a chauffeur-driven limousine looking for homeless cats.

He always kept one of them on the seat beside him and occasionally boarded others in luxury hotel rooms.

In his will, the 71-year-old man left a life pension of $1.40 a week for the last stray cat he befriended, a ragged alley fighter named "Smoky."

In a wide variety of ways, man reveals his inner compulsion to go beyond self-interest and show a practical solicitude for those who are in trouble.

God wishes us to show a reasonable concern for all His creatures, including stray cats. But He desires that we show an even greater solicitude for human beings in need.

"Now that your obedience to charity has purified your souls for a brotherly love that is sincere, love one another heartily and intensely." (1 Peter 1:22)

Deepen in me, O divine Redeemer, a love for those who are neglected or unjustly persecuted.

Hello Pencils! Hello Books! But Average Teacher Glum, Not Sassy

NEW YORK (AP) — "Hello pencils, hello books! Hello teacher's sassy looks!"

But as millions of American kids throng back to overcrowded schoolrooms this month, the average teacher feels glum rather than sassy.

Her problem seems to get more monumental every year, and at times seems hopeless.

Teachers are, by any test, as dedicated a class as any in the nation. It is widely recognized they are underpaid for the work they do and the hours they spend at their duties.

But even if by some budgetary magic their pay were doubled it would by no means solve one of their major woes, which is that the community more and more depends on them to exercise the functions of parent as well as those of teacher.

"It wouldn't be so bad if we could concentrate simply on teaching them their ABC's," said one teacher I know. "But much of our time is taken up teaching them things they should learn at home."

The modern generation of parents is acutely aware of its responsibilities to its children. It enthrones the child in the family hierarchy, and makes due obeisance to his importance.

In fact some critics hold—and probably rightly so—that we tend to make the child too important in the wrong way. The little monsters have taken over authority in the family and rule it with an iron whimsy.

Many parents frankly don't know how to face up to the responsibilities of dealing with their children. For fear of eternally scarring their little ids and egos, they have let them get entirely out of hand. They are helpless before the tyrannical wills of their progeny.

So what happens? They tend more and more to abdicate their own responsibilities as parents and turn the problem over to the schools.

Ideally, home is where a child should get his discipline, school where he should get his learning.

But, as every teacher knows, home is merely where many children get their sleep and two meals a day. The school has the job not only of teaching them reading, writing and arithmetic.

IT HAS TO teach them morality, good behavior, neatness, courtesy, respect for their elders, cleanliness—and even how to brush their teeth.

Too often the teacher is no longer merely a teacher. She has to become a foster mother and foster father to many of her charges—roles she is not paid to perform, and hasn't the time to perform fully, no matter how wide and affectionate her heart.

"SOMETIMES I think the wrong persons come to school," said one teacher.

"It might help if for the first month the parents came to class instead of the children. If we could instruct the parents what their job is, then perhaps we could get back to our job—teaching."

No Property Right To Discriminate

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

The Indepedent-Journal is to be commended for Richard Lyttle's article in the issue of Sept. 1, telling of the frustrations of a Negro couple in their search for an apartment in San Rafael.

Realtors and apartment owners seem slow to realize that property rights simply do not include the "right" of racial discrimination.

Calling attention to these examples of social injustice should have the two-fold effect of stimulating the consciences of real estate owners and agents, and also reminding the rest of us, including our legislators, that fair housing practices must be ensured in our democracy.

Sure, Library Needs Money

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

One Loren MacArthur recently wrote about Marin County Libraries.

Al Smith said "Let's look at the record." I say, let's check the facts, at least so far as the Fairfax Library is concerned. I have been using it for some eight or nine years.

(Miss) MacArthur was correct in one statement, namely the lighting is abominable.

For the 9 to 5 workers, this library is open from 7 to 9 on Tuesdays and Thursdays. It is also open until 6 on Thursday evenings. When I commuted to San Francisco, I was unable to get books as it was very inconvenient for me to go downtown for the evening hours. I discussed this with Mrs. Keating by phone and she arranged to have this branch stay open until 6 one night a week.

As for mysteries, shades of Edgar Allen Poe and Wilkie Collins! There are about two selves of these books, old and new.

There are three sets of shelves of current books, novels among which I have been delighted to find Wibberly's wonderful fantasies. There is a section of new biographies anad another of travel; also of politics, geography (Harold Gilliam) not read by all, but of interest to the reader of a wide range of subjects. Of course, the new books do not cover the range of Paul Elder's bookshop.

Giggling students! Should we envy their few light-hearted years so much we object to their giggling in a library! Let's be proud our Fairfax librarians have so interested the young fry that they eagerly gather in the library, for surely the boy or girl who discovers the fascination of books, and finds a place to look at them, take them home and read them, does not often become delinquent.

I am grateful to our Fairfax librarians for their interest in mentioning books I should like to read, they believe; for their checking the main and branch libraries to procure a book I have asked for; for their help in getting new books the reviews of which have interested me. They borrow books from the State Library for one, or if it is something very technical they know where it might be found. Their service is helpful and cheerful.

Our Fairfax Library should be open full time, undoubtedly. It deserves more space and good lighting. The librarian should have a decent modern desk and not have to work with the handicap of a beat-up old drop center typewriter desk.

For the small cost per year, any reader should be glad to pay a use fee of $5, or per family per year, to secure more books and have less congested space, and better service. This is a little less than one cent a day, less than the cost of a few after-work drinks. Could one cent buy more?

Come on, (Miss) MacArthur, it is easy to tear down, particularly with half accurate statements. If browsing and books truly mean much to you, put up or—well you finish the remark.

A delegation of citizens appeared before Marin County supervisors "to show there is widespread interest" in the idea of constructing a county civic center.

TRY AND STOP ME

BENNETT CERF

John Wheeler tells of a harmless, and funny practical joke sportswriter Bill Phelon play once on a fellow scribe. The scribe was sauntering up Broadway one day when he met Phelon walking down. They exchanged cordial greeting, and then Phelon, after walking down another block, boarded a trolley bound north. After several blocks he dismounted and started back again.

Of course, he met his pal again and called out a cheery, "Hi, how are ya?" as though he hadn't seen him in months. The friend stared as though he was seeing a ghost. Not satisfied yet, Phelon staged a repeat performance of his act. The third time the scribe saw Phelon strolling toward him, he called a cab and had himself driven to Bellevue Hospital, where he vowed he would never touch another drop.

Brooks Atkinson, headed for Florida by rail, fretted when his train stood stock still in the Washington station, finally asked the dining car steward if he knew the cause of the delay. Turned out the steward had a rough idea. "It seems sir," he explained, "that we are missing an engine."

Some Day We'll Clear All Natural Poisons In Favor Of Man-Made

Oysters are back in good health at Drakes Bay, and for this we should all be glad.

But, when the oysters got sick (and in due time made a family of oyster-eating humans sick) it was, in an odd way, rather reassuring.

Not that poisoned oysters are cause for celebration. But the fact that the oysters were poisoned from natural, rather than artificial, circumstances is nowadays a remarkable event.

ACCORDING TO people at the State Health Department and the University of California, the poison came from plankton, which has a right to be in the ocean just as much as an oyster, according to the ways of nature's world anyway.

This is a refreshing departure from the poisoning that is regularly distributed by hydrogen bombs and agricultural chemicals. It's amazing that the oysters got their dose of poison from a comparatively innocent phenomena like plankton rather than from DDT.

THERE'S EXTRA comfort also in knowing the oysters got straight, unadulterated plankton poison only because of the clean, unpolluted waters of Drakes Bay and Tomales Bay.

If the bays has been spoiled by sewage, the poisonous protozoans swimming in the plankton wouldn't have survived. Biologists and planktologists says the poison in the so-called seasonal "red tide" plankton is thwarted by the poisonous refuse which usually ends up in bays.

This offers an interesting choice. Either we can pollute the bay, repel the plankton and harvest edible oysters. Or we can have a clean bay and take the chance of swallowing a poisoned appetizer.

There's no doubt, it seems to me, as to which is preferable. It's not often we get the chance to combat nature on its own terms. If poisoned oysters mean unpolluted waters, it's a chance worth taking.

We're more likely in danger of being smothered to death by the alleged comforts of life than being poisoned by some tiny organism wandering the ocean.

WHEN OUR game is finished, it seems more fitting to lose organically to some mollusk from the sea than choke on a nuclear by-product. We should welcome the opportunity.

Before long the chemical combines will probably find a way, in their ceaseless endeavor to replace natural poisons with artificial ones, to deny us poisonous plankton. If calculated pollution doesn't do the trick, no doubt an anti-algae fluid will be spread upon the ocean.

THEN WE CAN get sick on good, clean man-made compounds rather than some microscopic sea animal. Soon the bee will have no sting, the snake no venom and the oysters no poison. With these hazards out of the way, we'll all be better subjects for radiation.

Even now, I wonder whether the red tide could have rolled in from an atomic explosion on some Pacific island. Maybe we've already been cheated.

Schools Need More Money; From Where?

By ROBERT FAIRBANKS

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — California's two candidates for superintendent of public instruction, Ralph Richardson and Max Rafferty, stand far apart on the question of federal aid to education.

But they agree that the burden of school support must be lightened for local property taxpayers.

Following are their answers to questions submitted by United Press International.

1. Do you believe that the schools need more money? If so, what changes would you make in school financing?

RAFFERTY — Yes. As long as California's pupil population continues to mushroom, more schools and more teachers will be needed. We need to persuade the state legislators to contribute at least 50 per cent of the money needed to operate public education. They were contributing this in 1950.

Today, the percentage of state support is something like 38 per cent. This erosion in state support has had to be made good by the local district, specifically by the real property taxpayer. The only alternative to this is for the state to make available to the local districts sources of revenue other than the real property tax.

RICHARDSON—The major difficulty in public school financing today is the dependence a district must place upon local property taxation. This source of revenue is rapidly reaching its limit. Over the past several years, there has been a gradual yet constant diminution of state monies in ratio to local funds for the support of schools.

This trend must be reversed and it is the responsibility of the state superintendent of public instruction to work effectively with the legislature and the administration to seek to win increased financing from the revenue sources available to the state.

I will support legislation or a necessary constitutional amendment to permit approval of local bond issues by a 60 per cent affirmative vote. (The current requirements is two-thirds.)

2. Do you support federal aid to education, either for teachers' salaries or construction?

RAFFERTY—I am opposed to the generalized type of federal aid legislation presented to the last several sessions of Congress on the grounds it would bring with it federal controls. It would also take out of California approximately $2 for every $1 returned in federal aid.

RICHARDSON — My own position is in agreement with that expressed by both of our United States senators and by a majority of the California members of the House of Representatives: That increased federal participation in the costs of public education is both inevitable and necessary.

I recognize that there is, and should be, concern that federal aid not lead to federal domination or distortion of the curriculum. Granted this, it is still my belief that further federal monies must be made available to supplement local effort.

And in my judgment, federal funds, if made available, should be used as local discretion indicates, whether for the general operating budget or for new construction.

I would like to bring your attention to a suggestion I have consistently made. I am hopeful that Congress may approve legislation which will permit local school districts to retain a portion of the income tax those districts have withheld from payrolls, acting as collecting agents for the Internal Revenue Service.

In practice, this suggestion would allow a stretching of local property tax funds.

In the proposal, to be sure, Congress would need to consider factors of equality of effort among the states and factors of additional need.

(Tomorrow — Teachers' salaries, school district unification and the superintendent's job.)

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Bone Infections Not As Bad As Before Penicillin Found

VAN DELLEN

Bone infections (osteomyelitis) are not as serious as they were prior to the discovery of penicillin. Nowadays, most victims are spared long periods of hospitalization and fewer are left with disfiguring scars resulting from mutilating operations. Improvements in technique also have helped prevent recurrences.

Infection in the center of a bone is a painful condition because the causative micro-organisms form pus that creates considerable tension. The hard bone cannot bulge out like the elastic skin and the purulent material spreads, leading to an extensive infection.

THE ANTIBIOTICS help temporarily but more permanent results follow opening the cavity to permit drainage and allow broken off pieces of infected bone (sequestrum) to escape. In addition, the surgeon cleans out the infected parts in the same way a dentist treats a cavity. The devitalized and infected fragments of bone must be taken out.

Now and then infection returns for various reasons. In some instances, infection subsides but the dead space in the bone fails to fill up. The body does not tolerate these cavities and a second operation must be done to fill these spaces with fat, muscle, or a bone graft.

IN OTHERS, the scar tissue that remains after the infection subsides is so extensive, it is a hazard rather than a blessing. The blood supply to this type of tissue is limited and a slight injury might be just enough to start a recurrence. The scarred area must be removed and covered with a skin graft.

Second and third attacks also occur because of a residual infection in the skin or the bone where the germs smolder for months or years. Small bits of bone may continue to break off because of poor circulation. They may absorb but recurrence is likely when they fester like a sliver.

THESE POSSIBILITIES are mentioned to demonstrate that it takes more than an antibiotic to heal an established osteomyelitis. Some of the best antibiotics are too toxic to be used for any length of time.

According to a recent report, some physicians blocked up the exit veins going from the infected bone. They then injected large amounts of antibiotics into the isolated area. This concentrated attack helped a few but was not entirely satisfactory.

Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self - addressed envelope accompanies request.

DISEASES AND DISORDERS

J. Z. writes: Is there any difference between a disease and a disorder?

REPLY

Diseases are called disorders but not all disorders are called diseases. For example, a business or household disorder is not a disease.

SEDATIVE OVERDOSE

Mrs. D. writes: Is there any permanent harm done to a child of 5 who was given an overdose of sedative?

REPLY

No, not if the child regains consciousness.

MONGOLOIDS

2 Exchange Students Going To Tam High

Tamalpais High School has two American Field Service exchange students this fall — Christiane Stepp, 16, from Bochum, Germany, and Carlos Barletta, 17, from Buenos Aires, Argentina.

Miss Stepp, nicknamed Kitty, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hans Stepp. Her father is a lawyer, her mother an opera singer.

She resides with her adopted family, Mr. and Mrs. Mathew P. Dillingham of 3 Rose Avenue, Mill Valley. Her adopted sister is Judy Dillingham, 17, who also attends Tamalpais. Both girls are seniors. The Dillinghams' son, Reed, a student at the University of California, was an exchange student under the Experiment in International Living program to Mexico two years ago.

Miss Stepp has studied English six years and has a knowledge of German, Latin and French. She is studying U.S. history, public speaking and trigonometry besides taking choir at Tamalpais.

Her father is conductor of the Rhineland Psalz Orchestra at Ludwigshafen and was once conductor of the chamber orchestra of Munich.

She plans to become an interpreter. Flying to California from New York, she said her impression of America was "It's awfully big."

Barletta, 17, is staying with Lt. Col. and Mrs. Mark E. Cory of 7 Robertson Terrace, Mill Valley. His adopted brother is Gregory Cory, 17. Both are seniors. Another Cory son, Mark Jr., is studying in Germany.

The Argentine youth is son of Mr. and Mrs. Armando Barletta. His father is a pilot with Aerolineas Argentinas and often flies to the U.S. Young Barletta has twice before visited the United States but to the eastern seaboard only. He is studying U.S. history, American democracy, English, bacteriology and typewriting. Barletta has plans to go into medicine.

Cosmetic Firm Sued: $15,000

Janice de La Fontaine, 1301 Kaehler Street, Novato, field the suit in Marin Superior Court against Avon Products, Inc.

She complains that her face and neck became infected after she applied several lotions and creams manufactured by the Avon firm. She states in the suit that the company alleged its products would be harmless to skin and complexion.

Janitor's Trial Set For Sept. 17

A jury trial in U.S. District Court was set Wednesday for Sept. 17 for a San Francisco janitor accused of stealing $12 from the Wells Fargo Bank in Mill Valley.

Samuel George Thompson appeared in federal court in San Francisco, pleaded not guilty and demanded a jury trial. His bail was reduced from $1,000 to $500, but he was still in custody of the U.S. marshal until be can post it.

Thompson was arrested Aug. 27 by Mill Valley police after it was discovered that $12 was missing from the cash drawer at the bank where Thompson had been cleaning up.

"It's the best program of the summer, but that's about all you can say for it."

Nurse Class Continuing At Hospital

San Rafael General Hospital is continuing its re-orientation program for registered nurses who have been out of the field and wish to return, an administration spokesman said today.

Designed to help relieve the critical shortage of nurses in the county, the program consists of two or three weeks of supervised work in the hospital. Nurses taking the course are assigned to general patient care, emergency duty and the central supply department. They learn about new medications, treatments and equipment.

Mrs. Patricia Leonard, director of nursing, who is in charge of the program, said that the course has been given for several years and has prepared numerous nurses to return to their field. They are now doing general hospital duty, private duty, and working in doctors' offices.

Applicants for the program may contact Mrs. Leonard at San Rafael General. It is the only hospital in the county giving the course, and there is no charge.

On Television Show

Mrs. John Wolfe, a director of the Marin Symphony Guild, will be a guest on the KRON-TV show "Community Circle" Saturday at 2:30 p.m. on Channel 4. Lee Noble, program host for the show, will discuss plans for the symphony with Mrs. Wolfe.

Language Courses For Adults Told

Courses in Russian, Spanish and French will be given during the fall semester of the Tamalpais adult evening school, Principal Harry G. Russell announced today.

The courses stress the conversational approach and make use of language laboratories.

Spanish, taught by Michael A. Lopez, will be given on Tuesdays, 7:30 to 9:30, at Drake. The Russian class, at the same time on Thursdays at Drake, will be taught by Mrs. Tatiana V. Davidoff. French is scheduled for Mondays, 7:30 to 9:30, at Tam with Paul A. Schwarzbart instructing.

The term "Whirling Dervish" refers to a worldwide Moslem religious order devoted to religious music and song.

MARIN FILM FARE

Powerful Drama Opening Sunday

By LESLIE DARD

Here's a quick look at the weekend's film fare on Marin County screens:

RAFAEL THEATER

A penetrating lesson in international morality comes dramatically to the screen in "Judgment at Nuremburg," opening Sunday. Powerful, provacative and yet highly entertaining, it is the bitter story of top Nazi judges on trial for assisting the criminal government of Germany.

Stanley Kramer, director and producer, asks audiences to sit in judgment of all Germans, and especially those who passively allowed horrors to mount in the name of their rising nation.

Kramer selected a cast of great talent, headed by Spencer Tracy as the Yankee judge. Maxmillian Schell appears in his Academy Award role as the defense attorney, Richard Widmark as Army prosecutor.

Burt Lancaster turns in what is surely one of his finest performances as the leading Nazi judge who acknowledges his guilt. Judy Garland is superb as a frightened Nazi victim. Montgomery Clift and Marlene Dietrich are excellent in major roles.

The legal summations are landmarks in flim-making. A stirring picture every American should see.

SEQUOIA THEATER

"Hatari," opening Sunday, is a happy blend of adventure and comedy starring John Wayne, Red Buttons and Elsa Martinelli.

Hartari is the Swahili word for danger — and danger you get in the exciting life of the men who hunt animals in Tanganyika for the world's zoos.

The picture involves one exciting animal hunt after another strung together by a thin but amusing plot in which—naturally—Wayne gets the girl.

Even before the film's titles go on screen, we're off on a breathtaking pursuit of a rhino—flirting with death in jeep and truck. Next come giraffes, ostriches, leopards, monkeys, buffalo and elephants.

An excellent film with thrills for all ages.

TAMALPAIS AND 101 DRIVE-IN

The real-life story of Brig. Gen. Frank Merrill and his World War II exploits behind Japanese lines in Burma is told with a no-nonsense approach in "Merrill's Marauders," opening Sunday.

The late Jeff Chandler is seen in his last role as the fighting general, and he does an unforgettable job of it.

The picture tells how Merrill with 3,000 volunteers crossed Japanese lines in 1944 and spent five months clearing the enemy out of 5,000 square miles of territory.

The picture is a steady stream of small victories and long marches, and in between the equally deadly battle against tropical diseases which decimated Merrill's forces.

TIBURON PLAYHOUSE

"Experiment in Terror," now showing, stars Lee Remick in this movie filmed in Marin and San Francisco.

Miss Remick plays a teller at a downtown bank who lives atop Twin Peaks with her pretty younger sister, Stephanie Power. The girl's terror begins when she is seized in her garage by a maniac who demands she take $100,000 from the bank and bring it to him.

Despite his psychopatic warning, the girl goes to the FBI. Glenn Ford takes up a chase.

Startling sequences and thrills throughout. Recommended.

Co-feature is "Picnic," starring William Holden.

NOVATO THEATER

Cary Grant and Doris Day turn the battle of the sexes into a tug-of-war in "That Touch of Mink," which opens Sunday.

Cary plays a multi-millionaire bachelor. His Rolls Royce splashes mud on working girl Doris. Cary tries to make amends, winds up chasing the comely blonde. The chase moves out of the Automat and unemployment bureau, into Cary's private jet plane and finally to a plush hotel suite in Bermuda. Still the chase goes on, getting steadily wackier.

Gig Young and Audrey Meadows share the frivolity.

MOTOR MOVIES

Lillian Hellman's play "The Children's Hour"—a shocker in its day—comes to the screen with power and honesty under direction of William Wyler. It opens Sunday.

The play was Miss Hellman's indictment of the big lie. Specifically it is the story of how a little girl's psychopathic scheming destroys the lives of two teachers.

The women are ostracized, lose friends and careers. One loses her fiance, the other commits suicide.

Shirley MacLaine and Audrey Hepburn are outstanding as the teachers. Fay Bainter and James Garner have important roles, as does Miriam Hopkins.

Co-featured is "Walk on the Wild Side," a lurid look at New Orleans starring Laurence Harvey, Capuchine, Anne Baxter and Jane Fonda.

An adult bill.

FAIRFAX THEATER

"One Summer of Happiness" is an exceedingly frank film. It tells of a young couple, Goran (Fold Sundquist) and Kerstin (Ulla Jacobsson), in the woods near the edge of a lake.

For adults only.

LARK THEATER

"The Bridge," an outstanding West German picture which drives home the horror and cruel waste of war, stays with us another week.

Set in the crumbling last days of the Third Reich, it relates how seven 16-year-old boys are drafted and with one day's training left to face an American onslaught. They foolishly but valiantly fight to hold a useless bridge, and in the process bring destruction to their village and themselves.

Hot Corte Madera Sanitary Race

Only Two Openings On Board

A former planning commission chairman, a neighborhood leader and an incumbent are competing for two posts on the board of the dispute-ridden Corte Madera Sanitary District in next Tuesday's election.

The former planner is John R. Adlard, 51, quality control specialist for a San Francisco milk company.

The neighborhood leader is John P. Seymour, 29, president of the Marin Estates Homeowners Assn. and journeyman electrican for a San Francisco contracting firm.

The incumbent is 63-year-old Herbert Ira Vernet, now winding up a four-year term on the board. Vernet, former chairman, is a retired Coast Guard lieutenant commander, an ordinance expert, who now is the rangemaster of the Marin County Sheriff's and San Rafael Police pistol range.

The post of chairman Ralph Giovanniello also is open but he is not running. He said pressure of his job as San Jose School District superintendent is forcing him to step down.

JOHN R. ADLARD

Adlard served the planning commission nine years and is a former chairman widely known for his painstaking decisions.

Adlard says he is seeking the post because of pleas by residents "who have been disturbed over publicity about the district, particularly the fuss over the land purchase."

Adlard refers to the $30,000 parcel on Paradise Drive that the district board hoped to use for a pumping station only to be balked by the town planners and council.

For a time last spring the district "disallowed" new sewer connections in retaliation for the commission and council action. Sewer hookups were "reallowed" after citizens jammed the tiny district office at 500 Tamalpais Drive, Corte Madera.

Backers of Adlard have printed 1,600 brochures to be distributed door to door by volunteers giving his platform:

"If elected I pledge maturity in conduct of the affairs of the district including public relations; cooperation and coordination with the town in public works projects affecting both governing bodies; and observance of both the spirit and the letter of the state planning law."

Adlard has lived in the county since 1947.

JOHN P. SEYMOUR

Seymour has lived east of Highway 101 for about three years and he successfully ran for president of the homeowners association last spring after a dispute over a sign at the entrance of Marin Estates.

Some residents did not like a sign picked by the association's directors.

After his election Seymour had nine suggested signs displayed in the tract and conducted an all-day election with free beer for voters. The sign receiving the most votes was chosen and the dispute was happily ended.

Seymour is also active in the Corte Madera Lions Club.

Seymour says:

"I think instead of yes men, they need men of solid judgment on the board. I have heard the directors discuss things after the public meetings. I think all matters should be discussed at the public meetings."

(A poll of the three out of five incumbent directors who were available drew denials that there had been non-public meetings.)

HERBERT IRA VERNET

Vernet has lived in the county since 1945 when he and his wife moved west from Boston. He retired from the Coast Guard in 1949 after 35 years' service.

Vernet denies complaints by some citizens that the board lacks unity. "The unity of the board is all right," he says. He gives Giovanniello credit for this.

But Vernet agrees with Adlard on one thing. He grumbles: "There's been too much publicity about the district."

Vernet says that while he is not making any special campaign for re-election he is still interested in continuing his services to the board.

Vernet indicates he has had disputes with Adlard over the years but insists he bears him no animosity.

"If I go back on the board, there might be some changes," says Vernet. He gave no details.

Trial Decision Due In Murder Of Army Wife

Whether Sgt. Ruben Ernest Rudolph, accused of the May murder of his wife, should be tried by a military or civilian court will be decided at a court hearing in San Francisco at 10 a.m. Sept. 14.

Rudolph has been held in the San Francisco County Jail since June after being charged with the murder. The body of German-born Liesolotte Rudolph was discovered May 20 dumped beside a lonely road in the Fort Barry military reservation in South Marin.

Rudolph's attorney, George T. Davis, has filed a habeas corpus petition with the San Francisco Federal District Court arguing that Rudolph should be tried by a military court martial instead of in a civilian court. The Army investigated the murder, appointed military counsel for Rudolph and therefore should have exclusive jurisdiction over him, Davis maintained.

The hearing will be heard in Room 244 of the district court before Judge Alfonso Zirpoli.

Marin Appraisers Will Host Meeting

Golden Gate Chapter 66, Society of Residential Appraisers, will hold its annual Marin County dinner meeting Wednesday, Sept. 12, at Sabella's Restaurant, Mill Valley.

Edward P. Morphy, San Rafael appraiser and chairman of the program, said the group is hosted each year in September by some 15 to 20 Marin County members. He said the Golden Gate Chapter comprises 180 independent appraisers, government agency and lending institution appraisers from San Jose to Eureka. He anticipates 80 to 100 members will attend the meeting.

Guest speaker of the evening will be Dan Coleman of Dan Coleman Associates, San Francisco whose topic will be "Land Uses as Recognized and Employed by Prudent Purchasers and Developers." Coleman has been associated with such Marin projects as Marin Bay, the new San Marin community in North Marin, San Geronimo Valley and the master road plan for the City of San Rafael.

Morphy will be assisted by appraisers David Cohn, David Callahan, L. Puccinelli and James McConnell in conducting the program.

2 Marin Youths Enlist In Navy

Robert J. Droesch, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles G. Droesch of 8 Jefferson Avenue, San Rafael, and Ronald D. Hamm, son of Mr. and Mrs. David W. Hamm of 63 Magnolia Avenue, San Anselmo, enlisted in the Navy Monday.

Both were sent from the San Rafael recruiting office to 10 weeks of recruit training at the Naval Training Center, San Diego.

Marin Parks, Rec Commission Revises Plans

Members of the Marin County Parks and Recreation Commission revised plans for the coming fiscal year at a meeting Wednesday which was their first since county supervisors enlarged their budget during recent final consideration.

Mrs. Helen Newman, commission chairman, said later that work has started on preparation of a "job description" for the new full-time director of parks and recreation finally allowed by the supervisors after last-minute appeal from the refusal given during preliminary budget consideration.

Main project for the year, the commission agreed, will be the improvement of the new Paradise Park, formerly part of the net depot on the Tiburon Peninsula. A caretaker is to be employed sometime soon, it is hoped.

Tiburon Firemen

Tiburon volunteer firemen decided Wednesday to purchase a large cylinder of oxygen to serve as a spare when the resusctator is in use on calls. Firemen also discussed plans for the annual dance to be held at the Corinthian Yacht Club on Oct. 20 and a picnic on Sept. 23, with the location undetermined as yet.
